

College Play Has History Of Intrigue

ANTIGONE, to be presented by the Louisburg Players Jan. 30, 31, and Feb. 1, is a play with a cloak-and-dagger history. A re-working of an ancient Greek story, the play was first smuggled onto a stage in 1943 in Paris during the Nazi occupation. In real life drama as exciting as the play itself, the script's deeper meanings eluded the vigilant Nazi censor. Under its innocent disguise the players proclaimed the defiance in the hearts of the underground resistance movement. So great was their loyalty to it, that freedom-loving Frenchmen kept the play on the stage for two years after the war. It has since become a favorite of all free men.

Author, Jean Anouilh wrote the play as a modernized version of Sophocles' Greek classic. In his new version, Antigone, who resists the tyrant Creon, becomes the living symbol of human dignity and democratic freedom. Nevertheless, arguments on both sides are as strong as they can be made -- as they had to be to pass the Nazi censor. That may account for the play's integrity. It is no "straw man" Antigone fights.

The translator, Lewis Galantieri, has said that "only a citizen of a German-occupied country (or, by analogy, a Southern of 1863) would be able to come away from M. Anouilh's play with the feeling that Antigone's case was stronger than Creon's." But no one can doubt who has the stronger convictions.

Slim, Slick Lines

BEAU BRUMMEL ruffles dandy up a white crepe blouse that ripples from the neckline of a natural-cut dress in turquoise Zefkrome double knit fabric. And wondrous Zefkrome makes sure this dress keeps its slim, slick lines without creasing or wrinkling. Boutique touches are cufflinks that match delicate beading on the jabot. By Young Modes.

Postponed

Due to weather conditions, The Church of God mission on Kenmore Avenue, Louisburg, N. C. will begin its revival Saturday night, January 18, at 7:30 p.m. instead of January 15.

The jacket dress is still popular for day or theatre wear. Wool or silk for daytime and evening, silk or light weight wools for evening.

Hats tend to have a heavy look with fur and velour as favorite materials.

4-H Club Records Are Necessary

Many times 4-H Club boys and girls ask why they should keep records, and what is gained from this. In the complex society we live in today, records have become a very important part of business and living. These suggestions may help you see why they are helpful and important. They help you learn how to keep records of what you have accomplished and how much you have grown. You will see the many things you have learned in a short period of time and how to figure details. They will help your 4-H leaders to determine what you can do and what to expect from you. From these records your Extension Agents will know what members have learned during the year and can better plan the next steps in the program.

The 4-H leaders and members work together in accomplishing these things. The saying, "Well begun is half done," applies to records too. The value of records is discussed at meetings to help members better understand. Sample records are presented and discussed with the group. The progress in keeping records is checked periodically and projects are visited. The standards of records vary with the type of project and the individual club member. The time, work, and energy put in records are recognized by certificates and medals at County Achievement Day.

Louisburg Book Clubs Meet

Mrs. J. W. Mann entertained members of the Edwin Fuller Book Club on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. B. King.

Continuing their study of "Great Religions of the World," Mrs. R. G. Bailey gave an interesting talk using as her subject Zoroastrianism. She presented each member with a favor-- a highlight of Zoroastrianism enclosed in an English walnut shell tied with a ribbon. The current readings for the meeting were given by Mrs. Umphrey Lee, President Johnson and his religious affiliation and Pope Paul's visit to the Holy Land.

At the conclusion of the program, members were invited into the dining room where a delicious salad plate and dessert were served.

The William Robert Mills Book Club met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Tom Wilson with Mrs. Wayne Benton as co-hostess.

Mrs. W. G. Lancaster gave an interesting talk on "Medicine in Early America," after which Mrs. Doris M. Wilder gave a report on the Gemini Project. A delicious dessert course was served by the hostesses to fourteen members.

The O'Henry Book Club met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Arch Wilson with the following members present: Mesdames W. H. Allen, Jr., C. R. Sykes, F. L. O'Neal, George Davis, Charles Davis, Frank Read, Jr., Dick Yarborough, Gordon Zealand, R. W. Smithwick and Mrs. Smithwick's houseguest, Mrs. Miriam McGlohon.

Mrs. Smithwick presided over the meeting in the absence of the president. Mrs. O'Neal was in charge of the program and gave an interesting talk on the Samoa Islands and the

Deaths

MRS. MABEL SMITHWICK

Mrs. Mabel Elliott Smithwick of Fredricksburg, Va., died Tuesday night.

Graveside services will be conducted at Oakwood Cemetery here at 2 p.m. Friday by the Rev. Bob Turner of Wake Forest.

Surviving are her husband, Daniel P. Smithwick, and two sisters, Mrs. Edna Wynkoop and Mrs. Helen Elliott, both of Philadelphia, Pa.

MRS. ANNIE C. HARRIS

Franklinton -- Mrs. Annie Champion Harris, 83, of Franklinton, died Tuesday morning. She was a native of Franklin County and was the widow of I. J. Harris and was a member of the Union View Baptist Church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Viola Woodlief of Franklinton, Mrs. Ethel Perry of Stony Point; four sons, Ernest Wiggins of Henderson, Wyatt Harris of Danville, Va., Wilton and Howard Harris, both of Franklinton, and 22 grandchildren.

Panama Canal situation. Mrs. Wilson served a delicious supper plate and dessert.

Mrs. George M. West was hostess to the Tuesday Afternoon Book Club at her home on Lumpkin Blvd. Mrs. Kenneth Isley presided over a short business meeting after which Mrs. Woodrow Warren gave an interesting talk on "Cooking of Today"--tracing food preservation from early days to the present time. In lieu of the current topic, members joined in a general discussion of the recent report on cigarette smoking.

Delicious refreshments of Russian tea, party sandwiches, pecan balls and cheese straws were served upon arrival to Mesdames M. S. Clifton, W. J. Cooper, Jr., V. E. Duncan, Kenneth Isley, Pattie Justice, Walter McDonald, C. J. Perry, Woodrow Warren, Helen Stephenson and Vivian Florence.

With The Scouts

Youngsville -- The Brownie Scout Troop met on Thursday, January 9. After the meeting was called to order, the scouts elected their new officers for the new year. Officers are as follows: President, Dawn Boyette, Vice President, Libby Brown, Secretary, Vilda Gayle Potts, Treasurer, Nancy Lindsey, and Reporter, Connie Woodlief.

SPORTIVE--Wide wale cotton corduroy is beautifully tailored into a softly belted town and country suit. In Crompton's, fleece, grey, or olive corduroy, it's an Evan Picone design.

In Fashion Now

Sweaters and matching skirts continue to be in the fashion picture. The shades of color are particularly lovely and varied this season. Some of the sweaters have sprays of embroidery or beading around the shoulders or down the front.

Belts are in the fashion news for coats this season. They may be slipped through side loops and buttoned or they may be casually tied. Coats may have a straight line or be rather full. They may be long or short.

Costume jewelry is being worn again in a big way. Some of the pieces are rather expensive and are hard to tell from the real thing.

Youngsville Church Honors Ministers

Youngsville--Members of the Youngsville Christian Church gave a tea Sunday afternoon, January 5, from three to five o'clock at the home of Mrs.

W. G. Scarborough honoring their former pastor, Rev. E. M. Carter, and to introduce their new pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Milton Wilder.

Mrs. Strother WMU Hostess

(Frk. B.W.) The Woman's Missionary Union of the Union View Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Ava Strother in Franklinton Tuesday evening.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. William Colbert, after which the minutes were read by Mrs. Strother.

The program, "Citizens of Two Worlds," was presented by Mrs. Evelyn McGhee, program chairman, Mrs. Gaynelle Harris, Mrs. Virginia McGhee, Mrs. Albert Weaver and Mrs. Colbert.

During the social hour, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Scarborough introduced the receiving line composed of Rev. Carter, Rev. and Mrs. Wilder, and Deacons M. E. Winston, W. S. Pearce, James Smith, and Archie Brown. Mrs. Hattie Mae Haywood directed guests to the dining room where punch, cookies, cheese straws, sandwiches, and nuts were served by Mrs. Willie Pearce and Mrs. G. E. Winston.

The home was beautifully decorated with mixed floral arrangements. Mrs. Mildred Kearney and Terry received in the den. The goodbyes were said by Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Reddick.

Others assisting in serving were Mesdames Willard Timberlake, Archie Brown, James Smith, James Young, Billy Pearce, E. J. Lloyd and Misses Aurelia Hagwood and Rachel Pearce.

Thanks

We would like to thank our friends and neighbors for the many deeds of kindness rendered to us during the death of our sister and aunt, Miss Beulah Woodlief. You will long be remembered.

Mrs. D. L. Ayscue, neices and nephews.

Thanks

We wish to thank Dr. Cole, the nurses and hospital staff at Franklin Memorial Hospital for their kind services to our father and grandfather, for the help our good neighbors rendered. May God bless each of you. Thank you so very much.
