Rid Dogs Of Worms

Most dogs have worms at some time in their lives. The most common types are round worms, often referred to as puppy worms. They may also have whip worms, tape and hook worms.

If you suspect your pet's afflicted, it's important to get professional help from your veterinarian. He can determine through a microscopic examination of a stool specimen exactly what type of worms your pet has.

Each calls for a different medication. He'll also determine the exact dosage needed which will depend on the age and the weight of the dog. He will keep your pet if the problem is hook or whip worms as these are serious and call for professional care.

Round and tape worms may be treated at home with the medication your veterinarian gives you providing you carefully follow instructions.

Care should be taken in home treatment with patent drugs available in drug stores and pet stores. All worm drugs are toxic so dosage must be exact. Give too much to a puppy or an old dog and you may have a very sick dog on your hands. Give too little to a healthy adult dog, and you won't get rid of the worms.

Feeding tip: Dogs can become infected with tapeworm from eating uncooked rabbit meat, pork or fish. It is not necessary to add meat to a top quality prepared dog food such as Friskies, which already contains meat and bone meal.

Flying Stone Kills Lad

Hillsdale, N. J.--A 9-year-old received a fatal blow on his head while waiting for a ball game to begin.

The victim, Leslie D. Katz, was warming up for the game when he screamed and collapsed. None of the boys saw what happened. It was believed that a sharp stone was hurled by a nearby rotary lawn mower operating 100 feet away.

The lad died 2 1/2 hours later from the large swelling behind his right ear.

Can anybody explain why a citizen gives a politician a valuable gift?

Comment On Sports

Football
By Pete Fritchie

Washington, D. C.--The bowl games produced more interesting contests than usual this year. Most of the New Year's Day games were close enough to be exciting for the spectators.

The big flop, in this sense, was the Cotton Bowl game. Navy went to Dallas with blood in its eye. There was big talk from Coach Wayne Hardin about how Navy would be number one in the country if they knocked off Texas, etc. etc.

Such talk had the wring reactor with the Longhorns. They hadn't played their tough schedule, winning all their games only to be upset by Navy, even Navy with Roger Staubach.

The Longhorns proved they were the nation's number one team. Navy went back to Annapolis happy to be number two. In fact, there were many who wondered about that. The score doesn't tell the whole story.

The final was 28-7, which does not sound too bad. But it was 28-0 before Navy scored late in the game when it was all over anyhow, and at the gun Texas was on the Navy two about to make it 35-7.

The other games in the Major Bowls were good. Alabama was lucky to get by Mississippi 12-7, on four field goals, for Mississippi outgained them in the vital departments and was knocking on the door in the final moments of that Sugar Bowl.

Nebraska likewise humbled Auburn, but the Tigers were coming back in the second half and the Cornhuskers were happy to make off with the Orange Bowl triumph. Illinois put it on Washington's Huskies in a game that had so many fumbles in the first half it appeared neither team would ever score.

The Huskies carried a lead into the second half but couldn't make it stand up.

The pro title games were likewise thrilling this year. The NFL title game, won by the Chicago Bears over the New York Giants, was unusually close for a game including Y. A. Tittle, 14-10.

Wedding gowns for spring to be slender.

The fuel is regular. The performance is premium.

Premium performance doesn't cost a nickle extra in a '64 Dodge. Because under that handsome hood lurks the largest standard engine in the low-price field (318 cu. in. V8). It doesn't cost you extra at the gas pump, either! Regular grade fuel suits it just fine.

Dodge is as luxurious as it is lively. The Polara 2-door hardtop above, for instance, features a rich saddle-grain vinyl interior, a comfort-providing flip-down center armrest, foam seat padding, and thick wall-to-wall carpeting—all standard equipment. Yet it's priced right with comparable models of Ford and Chevrolet.

In all, there are twenty-two Dodge models to choose from. In three series. Each is a low-priced car. And each is backed by a long, strong 5-year/50,000-mile warranty.* You could easily pay more for such a fine automobile, but why should you? See your Dependable Dodge Dealer instead!

HERE'S HOW DODGE'S 5-YEAR, 50,000-MILE WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU: Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1964 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. Required Maintenance: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 2 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.
