

Teenage Chat

By Faye Rudd

What a week end this past one has been for many of the students in the county. The theme of the Junior-Senior Banquet at Louisburg High School was "Shangri-la". Mr. C. R. Pruitt from Franklinton who teaches at Louisburg College was the speaker for the banquet. We certainly enjoyed it, Mr. Pruitt. The Freshmen for Louisburg College played for the prom. The Seniors would all like to say "thank you" to all the Juniors and their sponsors for giving them such a night to remember.

The Junior-Senior for Gold Sand was also held Friday night. The theme was "Tender is the Night," and the Imperials provided the music. Heard you all had a grand time.

The May Dance at Louisburg College was Saturday night with Alicia Suarez from Chile as the May Queen. The gym was decorated as an underwater scene. The music was provided by the Duke Ambassadors from Duke.

Edward Best played Louisburg

Thursday afternoon and won 6 to 3. Louisburg's next game is Tuesday with Epsom at Louisburg.

Louisburg College plays Ferrum at Louisburg College Wednesday, May 5. Good luck, boys.

Monday, the students of Louisburg High School received their annuals. How do you like them? The Annual Staff hopes they meet your approval. They have put many long hours of hard work into it.

The thought for the day is: "Water may run in a thousand channels, but all returns to the sea."--May.

Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and gratitude for every expression of sympathy, for every word of comfort and consolation, and for every prayer and deed during the recent illness and death of our son and brother, David Rip Parrish.

Film Revue

The Best Man

Hollywood has concentrated several of her recent films, to politics and the favorite game of slinging political mud is the theme for this one.

It is timely, however, in that two leading candidates pitch quite a battle on the eve of the balloting at a Presidential nominating convention. Much of the behind the scenes activity is exposed showing the smear tactics, slandering and hypocracies that could take place at conventions.

The director has caught the tensions of the crowd and the howling activity on the convention floor. One hopes that Hollywood has over-done her imagination here but one may

Pecan Petal Tarts

There are two particular ways you can quickly establish a fine reputation as hostess. First, serve a really delicious potful of coffee because everyone notices your coffee right away. Then, serve a delectable dessert that shows you have culinary flair. Take, for instance, these pretty Pecan Petal Tarts. The luscious flavor of the filling blends coffee and pecans. And, because appearance is as important as flavor, the tiny tart shells are artistically formed of little "petals," easily assembled in muffin cups.

The tarts are the perfect size and sweetness to complement a fragrant cup of hot coffee. But be sure your coffee does you proud. Here's a tip to remember: if possible, always serve coffee immediately after brewing. If you can't, keep it warm over low heat, but never let coffee boil.

Pecan Petal Tarts

2 pkgs. pie crust mix 1 tablespoon melted butter on margarine
1 egg 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
3/4 cup brown sugar 2/3 cup coarsely broken pecan meats
2 teaspoons instant coffee
Few grains salt

Prepare pie crust as directed on package, and divide in half. Roll out each half 1/8-inch thick. Cut pastry into 72 2-inch circles. Place one circle in bottom of each of 12 muffin cups. Arrange 5 overlapping circles around inside of each muffin cup pressing securely. Beat egg just enough to blend yolk and white. Combine sugar, instant coffee and salt and add gradually to egg beating well after each addition. Add melted butter and vanilla. Sprinkle pecans evenly into muffin cups. Spoon filling over pecans, filling cups not quite to top. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 20 minutes or until set. Garnish with whipped cream. Makes 1 dozen.

Mrs. Cotten Speaks To Co. Democratic Women

The Franklin County Democratic Women's organization held its quarterly meeting Monday, May 4, at the City Lunch with a good representation of its membership present.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. R. A. Cotten of Fuquay Springs. Mrs. Cotten is the wife of the chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of Wake Co. and has spoken to many of the 88 Democratic Women's Clubs in our State.

Mrs. Cotten has just returned from the National Convention of Democratic Women held in Washington, D. C. this past week end. Some 3,000 women from all of the states attended this meeting with 111 from North Carolina. The outstanding factor throughout this conference was the enthusiasm of women for politics and the Democratic Party.

Mrs. Cotten introduced to the group the program "Projection 64," aimed at getting the vote out in the elections. All Democratic organizations will be urged to actively participate and the general layout for getting the county and each precinct organized was explained.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a social hour was held at which time all were given an opportunity to meet Mrs. Cotten.

be apt to wonder.

Henry Fonda and Cliff Robertson are excellent in these unreasonable roles. Lee Tracy, a former President and Ann Southern, a brassy work-er for the "women's vote" are among the cast which is composed of large numbers of well known actors.

The Measure Of Man

Not--"How did he die?"
But--"How did he live?"
Not--"What did he gain?"
But--"What did he give?"
But--"Had he a heart?"
And--"How did he play his God-given part?"

These are the units to measure the worth
Of a man as a man, regardless of birth.

rural electric co-ops: making an idea come true

Not very many years ago, a lot of rural people in our state were without electric power. That seems incredible now, but it's true. You may remember it.

These people had no electricity, not because it wasn't available, but because the utility monopolies refused to supply it to them. The monopolies said it wasn't profitable.

North Carolina's rural people decided they would do it without a profit, and the rural electric co-op was born. Today nearly everyone in our state has electricity available, regardless of where he lives. Rural electric co-ops have demonstrated the power of an idea--when people have the will and determination to make it come true.
