

Mrs. Weathers Is District President About Your Home

Youngsville-- Mrs. J. W. Weathers, Jr., past President of the Youngsville Woman's Club, was in Greensboro this week to attend the annual N. C. Federation of Women's Clubs State Convention held at the King Cotton Hotel. She has held offices and chairmanships in the district and state as well as the local Woman's Club organization.

Mrs. Weathers now has the honor of serving as President of District 14 for a two-year term.

At the banquet, which was the final state convention feature, Mrs. Weathers sat at the District President's table, was recognized and officially confirmed as the President of District Fourteen. Mrs. L. R. Evans, mother of Mrs. Weathers, attended the convention with her daughter.

Other Club women of the Youngsville Woman's Club who went to Greensboro on Thursday and attended the banquet were Mesdames H. H. Reddick, J. A. Green, B. H. Patterson, N. A. Brown and A. N. Corpening. Greetings to President Weathers, from other local clubwomen were extended by means of a telegram sent to her on Thursday.

Often you hear young women say they hate housework. This is usually the result of poor planning more than anything else.

In the first place, running a home is not complete satisfaction to most of us, but there are times when we think we simply don't have time for any outside interests. This is always a mistake and is perhaps the most common reason, whether the person concerned realizes it or not, for house-keeping boredom.

If it is not possible for you to be away from home for an hour or so each day, don't become discouraged. You can do any number of interesting things right in the home that will help you to express yourself and do away with boredom. Try writing, painting or gardening. I have a friend who has a map of Europe, the United States and China thumbtacked over the sink. She enjoys studying this as she pares potatoes or washes dishes.

If necessary, rearrange the house for greater working ease. Uncluttered organization and convenient arrangement make keeping house much easier and more pleasant. Plan meals that do away with time-consuming dishes. Use more quick dishes made with prepared mixes and canned and frozen food.

Why not chart the following day's activities the night before? Plan the meals, the housework and family activities. Encourage the children and husband to lay out their clothes for the next day to cut down on the morning scramble. Enough organic matter in soil is an important part of gardening. To keep the organic matter of the soil at a high level is one of the main reasons farmers rotate their crops.

Employer--Young man, I will hire no drinkers. Are you a total abstainer?
Youth--Oh, yes, sir. Frequently.

Although adding organic matter to soil is no cure-all, it does open up heavy soils and increases the water holding capacity of sandy soil. It also contains a small amount of plant food and helps release plant nutrients into available forms.

Small gardeners cannot practice crop rotation. Usually they do not have access to the main source of organic matter on farms--the manure pile. However, it is fairly easy to keep soil in good condition with a couple of compost heaps. Composting materials may be kept in a pile in an out-of-the-way corner of the garden. Into them place all kinds of grass clippings, leaves and weeds that have not formed seeds. This material should be placed in layers about six inches thick and covered with a thin layer of top soil. It is a good idea to sprinkle each layer of top soil. It is a good idea to sprinkle each layer of plant material with complete plant food. Alternate layers of vegetables material and soil can be built up to a height of three to four feet. Each layer should be soaked with water and the top of the heap should be divided to catch the rain. The composted material of one season will be ready to spade into the soil the next spring. For this reason it is best to keep two compost heaps.

Bus-Driver Honored

Fairhaven, Mass. --A new school under construction will be named the Leroy T. Wood School. It will honor a 69-year-old retired school bus driver who drove youngsters to school for 20 years without having an accident. He never had so much as a scraped fender, and was never late.

Whenever an individual disagrees with you, he is either smarter than you are, or he is dumber.

People who extend liberal support to the churches seldom worry about what they get in return.
