daughter, Jane, enters the second grade this year. Randy is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Barbee Parsons of Ingleside, who were waiting their turn. (2) Two fifth grade cronies, Woody Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Warren, and Larry Fuller, son of Times Editor and Mrs. Clint Fuller, are busy (?) putting away fishing poles and footballs to make room for their books; (3) first bus of year unloads under watchful eye of Louisburg Principal Howard Stallings and (4) two unidentified pretty young misses eagerly head toward classrooms, while some mothers accompany their offspring in background. (5) Welcome sign is out for new college students, and (6) a couple of pretty new coeds arrive with wagon load of things to brighten their year at Louisburg College. Coeds are: left, Phyllis Barrell and Nancy Payne, both of Virginia Beach, Va., who arrived here Sunday.

College Expects 660 Students; County Schools Open Today With Attendance Off

Louisburg College begins its 177th year this week as new students arrived on campus over the weekend and returning students are expected tomorrow. Four hundred freshmen are on campus to start classes tomorrow morning and 260 sophomores will attend their first classes Thursday morning.

As in the past, students come from all parts of the country and far away places. Probably the furthest away student this year is an unidentified young coed from Anchorage, Alaska. Numbered among the students is one set of twins.

New faculty and staff for the 1964-1965 academic year at Louisburg College are announced by President Cecil W. Robbins.

Rev. Wade Goldston, director of Town and Country Work and professor of religion from 1954-1962, has returned to the campus as chaplain and director of religious life.

Earl Martin, Louisburg, will teach part-time in the Math Department. He holds the A. B. from Wake Forest and the M. A. from UNC Chapel Hill.

James P. Henson, Forest City, who taught part-time last year, will teach full time in the Business Department.

W. R. Rose, Henderson, an alumnus, will teach biology. He holds the B. S. from Wake Forest and the M. S. from UNC--Chapel Hill. For the past two years he has been employed by the Florida State Board of Health.

John Wilbur Smith of Princeton will direct the program of recreation and teach in the Physical Education Department. He holds the B. S. degree in recreation and physical education from N. C. State.

Miss Gertrud Wenzel of Durham will teach French and German. A native of Ludwigshafen, Germany, she holds the B. A. degree from Elon College and the M. A. from Duke University. In addition, she has had additional study at Heidelberg and Munich. For the past two years she has been teaching at Elon College.

Umphrey Lee has returned after a leave of absence for work on the Ph. D. degree and is head of the English Department.

Staff changes and additions include David E. Daniel, who began his work on June 1 as Director of College Relations, and his secretary, Mrs. Frank McFarland, Louisburg. Thomas A. Patterson has been named Dean of Students with Mrs. Gladys Bailey of Louisburg appointed as advisor to girls and house counselor and Mrs. Agnes Rose of Henderson, house counselor in Wright Dorm. Mrs. Alma Ellis of Henderson will serve as house counselor for Main and Davis Dorms. Mrs. Sally Versteeg, Louisburg, has been appointed assistant to the Director of Dramatics.

Producers Urged To Vote

Eligible producers in Franklin County who have not voted in the annual ASC Committee Elections should do so by returning their ballots to the Franklin County ASCS Office in Louisburg, not later than September 11, 1964.

Each producer who casts a vote in the election should keep in mind the importance of electing a committee from his community who will best represent the farmer during the coming year.

Woodlief Sworn; DePorter Named

Leelan Woodlief, Youngsville businessman, was sworn in as a member of the Franklin County Board of Education, by Clerk of Superior Court Ralph Knott, Monday morning as the Board met in its regular monthly session.

Woodlief, who replaces County Commissioner nominee Richard H. Cash, placed the name of Al DePorter, popular Wake Forest College alumnus and seed and gin operator in Youngsville, as replacement for Woodlief on the Youngsville District School Committee.

DePorter, a native of Patterson, N. J., received unanimous

Moore Here Thursday

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Dan Moore will visit the Louisburg tobacco market Thursday morning, according to an announcement made this week by Wallace Tippett, Moore's local manager.

The candidate will appear at Ford's Warehouse Thursday at 8:30 a.m. for a short speech before opening sales begin on the Middle Belt market. This is the first visit here by Judge Moore since winning the Democratic primary in June.

The nominee, in effect will be opening his campaign against Republican opponent Robert Gavin, with the early morning appearance here. Following his speech at the local warehouse, Moore will visit Henderson, Oxford, and Durham.

Sales on the local market are expected to get underway around 9 a.m. with the Ford Warehouse having first sale. Moore's campaign headquarters in Raleigh have mapped an itinerary for the candidate that will have him appear in Durham after lunch on Thursday.

The following teachers were approved, having been added to the list previously receiving approval: Gethsemane, Rubye F. Deas; Youngsville High School, Caroline G. Lee; Epsom, Louise W. Shinn; Gold Sand, Ann Woodall and Joan Cohen; Louisburg, Elizabeth Crawford; Bunn, Mrs. Robert Burton, Stanley Ford; Sybil Jolly, Betty Griffin; Perry's, Lula H. Liles; Edward Best High School, Margaret Hobgood.

The board approved a plan presented by the Louisburg school whereby local funds would pay the salary of Mary Lee Rose, a second grade teacher, hired Douglas Denton as a full time maintenance employee and agreed to purchase a stoker for Gold Sand school at a cost of $889.00.

Death Claims Former Resident

Raleigh attorney and Louisburg native, Thomas W. Ruffin died at Rex Hospital last Saturday following a period of declining health. Ruffin was 69 years old. He and another Louisburg native, Judge William T. Bickett began practicing law in 1925 in Raleigh, both on the same day and in adjoining offices.

Prior to opening an office in Raleigh, Ruffin practiced law with his father, William H. Ruffin in Louisburg between 1917 and 1925. Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. from St. Michaels Episcopal Church in Raleigh by the Rev. James Beckwith. Burial followed in Montlawn Cemetery there.

Labor Day Weekend Quiet Here

While 18 North Carolinians were killed on the state's highways and over five hundred lost their lives over the nation, Franklin County was enjoying one of the quietest Labor Day weekends in its history.

The 18 fatalities brought the state total to date to 1053 killed on the highways, a record number. Locally, there were four fire calls and two Rescue calls. Saturday night around 11:20 p.m. the Louisburg Fire Department was called to a car fire near Allen's gin and Monday afternoon around 3:45 p.m. the department answered a call to the farm of Miss Jessie Taylor Harris where a barn fire had been extinguished before firemen arrived.

The Justice department was called at 11:20 a.m. Sunday to a barn fire and the Bunn department received a call around 4:55 p.m. Sunday afternoon to a barn fire. Bunn fireman Joe Adams broke his leg as he attempted to jump on the back of the moving truck on the way to a fire Saturday morning and is in Franklin Memorial

The Louisburg Rescue Service received two calls, one Saturday noon to the home of Curtis G. Saunders on Justice St. and Monday to aid an unidentified Negro man on Main Street.

Chief William Dement said there had been no arrests during the holiday. There have been no reports of accidents in the area.

Bar Seeks Courthouse Plan At Board Meet

The Franklin County Bar Association asked the County Commissioners to employ some qualified person to give professional advice on the overall planning of the courthouse, in the Commissioner meeting here last Friday.

The request brought on speculation that a move might be made by the Association and others for the long awaited renovation of the courthouse. Rumors have been prevalent the past several months that something is to be done to the facilities here.

Some observers have said that the only means of financing the renovation would be through a county wide bond issue. No official statement has been released as to what, if anything, is planned at this time in the way of remodeling the courthouse.

Louisburg attorneys W. H. Taylor and W. M. Jolly represented the Bar Association at the meeting. Chairman W. P. Childers called the special meeting to discuss financing the water tank and foundation that is now under construction on the Gay Products plant site.

TV Debate Killed

Washington, D. C. -- Senate Democrats have relieved President Johnson of the burden of deciding whether to debate Senator Goldwater in a radio-television campaign confrontation. By a 44-41 vote, the Senate has killed legislation to suspend equal time provisions of the Communications Act.

Riots And Raids

Washington, D. C. -- In a recent speech, addressing members of the Citizens Committee for Community Relations that will help implement the new Civil Rights Act, President Johnson declared the nation's fate will not be decided "by street rioters and night raiders." He said that the nation has chosen to meet the problem "by the answer of law."

Franklin County schools opened today with 4990 students of an expected enrollment of 6,220. The largest absentees were among the Negro schools, with Riverside leading. The Louisburg Negro school has in attendance today 989 of an expected enrollment of 1492 students in elementary and high school.

Louisburg High School has an enrollment today of 466 in the W. R. Mills Elementary school and 199 in high school for a total of 665 of the expected total of 666 students for a near 100% attendance to lead the county in this department.

Epsom, who is struggling to gain a teacher in elementary school, and needs to average 134 in daily attendance for these first two weeks, expected and enrollment of 150, received 141 last Friday and had 134 in attendance today in the elementary school. Seventy five of the 85 enrolled are in attendance in the Epsom High School.

Gold Sand has 301 of an expected total of 344 answering the bell this morning and Edward Best Elementary has 214 of an expected 230. Edward Best High School has 131 of the 142 students expected.

Bunn, the largest white school in the system expected 479 in elementary and 250 in high school and received today 446 elementary children and 235 upper grade students. Youngsville received 307 of its anticipated enrollment of 343 this morning.

At Cedar Street and Mapleville schools, both elementary, in the Louisburg District, half the expected enrollees were absent. Cedar Street expected 116 and Mapleville listed 105 enrollments. In attendance today are 68 at Cedar Street and 41 at Mapleville.

Perry's, the second largest Negro school in the county had 665 of the anticipated enrollment of 896 present this morning. Gethsemane had 603 of the 609 students expected.

Youngsville Elementary counted 109 of their 223 for over 50% absent this first day.

Superintendent Warren Smith said, most of those absent were working in tobacco and he expected the attendance to improve greatly within the next few days.

On Price Control

Washington, D. C. -- Senator Goldwater, in his campaigning, has expressed to the farmer that he believes price support programs should be voluntary. He stated that the goal of the Republican party is "a free and prosperous American agriculture with a minimum of Federal controls and interference."

Everybody Drove A Car

Some of the many automobiles parked at Louisburg School last Friday afternoon, as registration took place for another school year. As one observer noted, "Seems everyone drove a car." Parking at the school, like parking elsewhere, poses a problem.
