At Edward Best Fertilizer-Lime Course Offered

On Thursday, January 7, at 7:30 p.m. a course entitled "Fertilizers and Limes" will begin in the Agriculture Building at the school. There will be a series of five meetings for the course. Those attending a minimum of four sessions will receive an attendance certificate given by the N. C. Dept. of Public Instruction.

This course is designed to help farmers, gardeners, and fertilizer handlers to understand more fully the functions of fertilizers and limes in crop production. Fertilizers represent one of the larger items of cost in crop production and they also affect greatly the production of crops. As agricultural research progresses, new knowledge on plant nutrition will emerge. This course should help the farmers, gardeners, and fertilizer handlers understand and apply more efficiently the findings of research. It should provide a foundation upon which he may continue to learn and acquire new understandings as additional knowledge becomes available.

James T. Moss of Youngsville has been employed by the local committee to serve as the instructor. Mr. Moss, who holds a degree from N. C. State College in Agronomy, has ten years of experience in teaching agriculture. This course is made possible through the cooperation of the Edward Best Agricultural Dept. Advisory Committee, Franklin County Board of Education, and the N. C. Dept. of Public Instruction in Raleigh. Those interested in enrolling for the course are asked to contact R. J. Sutton, Teacher of Agriculture, or be present at the first meeting on Thursday night, January 7.

Short Marriage

Indianapolis -- When Mrs. Mary R. Warren obtained a divorce, she ended a marriage that may hold the record as being the shortest. She testified that her marriage to Richard Warren lasted through only part of the reception. He became jealous of her, hit her, left the reception and she had not seen him in four years.

Nature is grand to those who understand her rules and obey her laws.

Health And Beauty

Perfume has been important to women for hundreds of years. The composition of a perfume is a complex affair. It would take a scientist to explain the ingredients and "why" to you. The best thing to do is to put your trust in the name of a good manufacturer and a reputable shop. The seal should be unbroken.

It is a good idea to buy a small amount of a new scent and give it a try before investing in a large bottle. Your body chemistry can change the scent of a perfume. Keep trying until you find one that can really become a part of you. Lastingness is not necessarily the test of a good perfume. Here again your body chemistry comes into play. In general, the heavy, spicy scents last longer than the light floral ones. Perfume will out-cling and out-last cologne. This is why it is more expensive. Most perfumes will not live longer than four hours on the skin. For this reason, it is a good idea to carry a small flacon in your purse.

American women often do not wear enough perfume. The best way to apply perfume is to apply it on the pulse spots--temples, throats, inner wrists and the crook of the arms.

It is wise not to apply perfume directly to fabric or fur. Never put perfume on white or pale colored furs or fabrics. Once you have opened a bottle of perfume, use it. Perfume evaporates and its scent will change if left to age.
