Franklin County ASCS Manager

SUMMER COMPLIANCE: The job of measuring allotted crops seemed to have been progressing satisfactorily until the rains came. Bad weather is delaying continued measurement and it is hoped that the weather will change so that summer compliance can continue. Approximately 1100 of the 2700 farms in the county have been measured. The county office personnel is busy computing measurements and preparing notices to be mailed to producers on June 21, 1965. Notices of Measured Acreage for 560 farms have been prepared and of this number, 24% of the farms show an excess on tobacco; 15% excess on cotton.

Producers receiving Notices of Measured Acreage which show excess acreage or deficiency in diverted acreage are encouraged to contact the ASCS Office within the prescribed period of time as shown on the notice.

ACREAGE-POUNDAGE PROGRAM: Since the Acreage-Poundage Program is in effect for this year, there are certain basic provisions which all producers should be familiar with. Any producer who should decide to keep his excess acreage of tobacco will receive no price support on any tobacco sold in 1965; however, those producers who stay within their allotment will be eligible for price support. Every farm has a total marketing quota in pounds and the quota may be exceeded by 10% and the producer will be eligible for price support. Any tobacco marketed in excess of 110% of the farm's quota will not be eligible for price support. Any tobacco sold in excess of the 110% of farm's quota will be subject to marketing quota penalties of 44¢ per pound. Any marketings about the 1965 marketing quota will be deducted from the farm's quota for 1966. If less than the poundage quota is marketed in any year, the difference will be added to the farm's quota for the following year. Tobacco that is produced but not marketed in 1965 may be carried over to the following year and sold; however, carry-over tobacco will be charged against the poundage for the farm the year it is marketed.

The question has been asked, "Can I sell my tobacco if I produce more than 110% of my farm's quota?" Yes, all tobacco produced on a farm may be marketed; however, as indicated above, all tobacco marketed in excess of the 110% of the farm's quota will be subject to the penalty of 44¢ per pound and no price support will be available for the tobacco. Also the total number of pounds sold in excess of the farm's quota will be deducted the following year.

Typical Flooded Field Crops May Come Through

By G. T. Dean, Jr.,
County Extension Chairman

We have observed some tobacco drowning in low places or poorly drained fields throughout the county. Many farmers have been in their fields for the past few days opening up tobacco rows and ditches to drain off excess water and permit air to get to the plants' roots. We believe that if the sun doesn't get too hot the next day or so that most of the crop will come through in pretty good shape.

Most fields will need from 15 to 30 pounds of actual nitrogen and 30 to 60 pounds of potash applied to their tobacco to make up for the leaching losses caused by the excess water. These adjustments should be made as soon as possible.

A folder, "Guides for Fertilizing Flue-Cured Tobacco," is available at the County Agricultural Agent's office for use in figuring individual farm fertilizer adjustments.

Plant diseases could become a serious problem for tobacco growers unless the weather turns warmer. Cool, wet weather encourages the development of such diseases as black shank and leaf spot. Rains have damaged the small grain crops somewhat. Farmers were just beginning the combining of wheat. It will take a few days of dry weather before this harvest can be resumed. Corn and cotton crops seem to be in pretty good condition; however, extra nitrogen will be needed for both these crops.

Los Angeles--Homesick for his home in London, Brian Robson, 20, had a friend nail him in a crate measuring 30 by 26 by 38 inches and billed it as a computer. After a 21-hour flight from Sidney, Robson decided he'd had enough and broke through the crate with a hammer so he'd be discovered.
