

Rain, Tourney, Lack Of Players Slow League Play

By J. H. Duke

There were no games played at Lousburg Park Tuesday night. The regularly scheduled game between the Franklin Teens and the Lousburg Police was postponed so that the Teens could play in the N. C. Amateur Softball Playoffs at Wilson. The game between the Lousburg Jaycees and the Franklin Independents was also postponed. At Franklin Park, the Franklin Fabrics met the Lousburg Teens in the first game. Neither team had enough regular players present, so players from the other teams were picked, and the game was played with Franklin Fabrics winning by a 7 to 4 score. The second game was between Gold Sand and the Franklin Town team. Goldsand took the game by a 13 to 5 score. Raynor made several fine defensive plays in centerfield and the team looked real good at bat, hitting line drives that nobody could come up with and several long balls that hit the fence.

The Lousburg Police played Gold Sand in a make-up game that was rained out earlier in the season. This was a very close game, with Lousburg winning 5 to 4. Gold Sand scored 4 runs on 9 hits in 29 times at bat, with Garner Dement leading the hitting with 3 for 3. The Police scored 5 runs on 11 hits in 33 times at bat. The leading hitters for the Lousburg Police were Bullock, with 3 for 4, Beck, with 2 for 3, and Leonard, with 2 for 4.

PLAY BALL!

THE LITTLE LEAGUE WAS FOUNDED IN 1939. IN 1963, ALMOST A MILLION AND A QUARTER KIDS FROM AGES 10 TO 12 COMPETE TO ACCOMMODATE THE NEXT AGE-GROUP, BABE RUTH LEAGUES WERE CREATED FOR BOYS OVER THIRTEEN.

THE MOST FAMOUS MAJOR LEAGUE PLAYER TO COME OUT OF THE LITTLE LEAGUES IS JOEY JAY, WHO PITCHED FOR THE MILWAUKEE BRAVES, WAS RECENTLY TRADED TO THE CINCINNATI REDS.

LITTLE LEAGUE RULES HAVE ALWAYS BEEN SAFETY CONSCIOUS! THIS YEAR, METAL SPIKED SHOES HAVE BEEN BANNED. A NEW SHOE—THE BASE-RUNNER—DESIGNED BY U.S. RUBBER—HAS A ONE-PIECE SOLE WITH FOURTEEN RUBBER CLEATS FOR SPEEDIER FOOTWORK, FASTER GETAWAYS AND BETTER STOPPING POWER. NAMED THE LEAGUE'S OFFICIAL SHOE, THE BASE-RUNNER'S THE CHOICE FROM LITTLE LEAGUES TO THE MAJORS!

are now paying $1065.00. Average faculty salaries are now $6,655.00 as opposed to the $3,000.00 a decade ago.

The physical plant of the College is valued at $2,299,029.40 today, more than double its value in 1955, which was $1,283,007.48. Twenty-six additional staff members have been added since 1955 at the local Methodist institution. Among these are Academic Dean, Director of Admissions, Director of College Relations, Chaplain, Director of Testing and Guidance, Director of Dramatics and an assistant director, Business Manager, Assistant Librarian, Assistant Treasurer, Superintendent of Building and Grounds, plus a number of secretaries, house counselors and other personnel.

The College, a charter member of the Lousburg Business Association, through the outstanding personnel it attracts to this community, has made giant contributions to further development of Lousburg through individual interest and participation in civic affairs by these College connected men and women.

Aside from the leadership these people supply in local church work, many are making great contributions in the field of Industrial Development, Red Cross and other such work, recreation, and work with young people. College personnel have held top positions in many local clubs and organizations. All these things, unmeasurable to be sure, nevertheless are most necessary to the continued growth and development of the community. They undoubtedly were a major part in the past growth. It is not just coincidence that the period of Lousburg's greatest growth parallels the same tremendous growth of Lousburg College. The two-year Junior College contributes much in the field of Art, Drama, Music and Sports. Every business benefits from Lousburg College either directly or indirectly. Last year the faculty donated $5,805.28 in support of local drives and charitable organizations.

Library services to the people of the community, the use of College facilities, great artists brought to the community and outstanding speakers, added to the national recognition of this community as a result of having Lousburg College in our midst and you have one of the major reasons why Lousburg is today, truly on the grow.

Most people get a terrific shock when they see what the camera does to their "beauty."

Local Golf Pro Wins

A foursome headed by professional Ronnie Reitz of Lousburg has captured the Rockfish County Club Pro-Am Tournament.

Reitz and amateurs Jay Taylor of Lousburg, Paul Turner of Wallace Monday fired a best ball score of 18-under-par 52. Reitz shot a 67 to tie for third in the pro division with Avery Beck of Whispering Pines.

Jim Campbell of Fuquay won the pro division with a pair of 32s. He won $200. Leonard Thompson of Laurinburg was the low amateur with a 66.

Hunters in Europe have lured deer within shooting range by hiring violinists to play for them, the National Geographic says. In Sweden, one critical moose became so enraged at what he heard that he charged into the blind, and killed both the hunter and musician.

Automation, a 20th-century byword, goes back nearly two centuries. In 1784 an entirely automatic flour mill was set up outside Philadelphia. From the moment grain entered the continuous process plant until it emerged as flour, no human labor was required.

Sunfish are amazingly prolific. In three years, 127 bluegills introduced in an Illinois lake multiplied to 67,700, the National Geographic says.

Since the Washington Monument was completed in 1884, more than 43 million people have ridden or trudged to the top of the 555-foot obelisk, the National Geographic says.

Scientists estimate that over the entire earth there are about a hundred flashes of lightning every second.

Some 600 Tokyo restaurants serve nothing but tempura, the shrimp delicacy that is the best-loved of all Japanese dishes, the National Geographic says.

High-Speed Rails

Washington, D. C.—The Senate has passed the Administration's $90 million three-year program to develop and test a high-speed rail system. The money would be used over a three-year period to try a plan that would determine whether high-speed intercity transportation can take passengers and vehicles off the highways.

Too Many Calls

Decatur, Ill. -- Mrs. Glenda Pierson, 24, was fined $79.80 for making 4,280 anonymous phone calls to the home of a former boy friend, now married. The man's wife asked the phone company to trace the calls. According to authorities, Mrs. Pierson called twice a day for six years. She was charged with disorderly conduct.

Hobby Of Restoring Pianos And Organs

number of music rolls for the machines.

Mr. McFarland has rigged a small peanut venter steam engine, which he said he found in a barn near Pine Bluff,

N. C. It, too, looks new. It is like one he says exploded a number of years ago on a street corner here in Lousburg in the face of a local peanut venter.

There are a number of assorted record players, although they probably were not referred to as such in their day. Some date back to 1866 and use wooden and metal records with holes punched in them giving them the same appearance as the old paper music rolls. There are also Swiss music boxes and portable reed organs; some are forerunners of the monkey organs, made famous in cartoons.

Inside the McFarland home, the prize piece is obviously a restored organ in which has been added an electric motor to eliminate the foot pumping. It sits in the living room and came from the home of the late Haywood Harper, near Edward Best School in Franklin County.

"We brought that thing in here in our arms like a bunch of slabs," says Mr. Grady Harris, a neighbor, who admits that he sometimes helps McFarland in his hobbies. The organ plays beautifully and it, like the others, gives the appearance of being brand new. It was built in 1890. It seems to stand majestically over the nearby modern entertainment piece, the television set. Another organ sits in the bedroom, a gift from him to his wife.

Even though most of his time is spent working on pianos and organs, McFarland is best known in the area for the loud-tooting circus organ, which he says he has entered in hundreds of parades. More commonly called a calliope, it sits in the back yard, waiting for its next call. McFarland said he got the machine through the Franklin County Shrine Club, of which he is a member.

In 1936, McFarland bought a 1904 Reo, which he still owns and takes great pride in. He is a member of the state antique cars club and drives the old model to such places as Manteo, Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D. C., "without a speck of trouble."

McFarland came to Lousburg on August 29, 1920 to manage a shop for Mr. Al Hodges, a Lousburg resident; later he entered business with Mr. D. E. Hardwick in a machine shop, which Hardwick still operates. At the time of his retirement McFarland was associated with former Mayor Louis Wheelers in the oil business here.

McFarland and his wife, childhood sweethearts in Jonesboro, N. C., in what was Moore County then and is Lee County now, have two children. Both now reside in Cary, N. C., where the son Reginald operates a gift shop, florist shop and florist school. Ernestine, the daughter, is also associated with her brother in the business.

McFarland, for many years, was an active member of the Lousburg Fire Department where he still maintains membership, even though not on active duty status.

"I'm going to rework this as soon as I get time," he says about all the many old things lying around his shops. If he does get time to restore the many items he has, they will be something to see. Certainly, at the young age of seventy-five, whether he will admit it or not, E. H. McFarland is a long way from being retired.
