Henderson Board To Seek Relief From HEW Ruling

Officials of the U. S. Office of Education will be contacted in an effort to have the "deferred" status of Henderson city schools removed, the Henderson City School Board decided at a meeting Tuesday night. It is hoped that the order can be eliminated without the necessity of a formal, legal hearing in Washington. Dr. Charles F. Carroll, State superintendent of public instruction, and Ralph Moody, of the State attorney general's office, will assist the board in its efforts, it was stated.

The board was notified several days ago that the city schools had been placed on the deferred list of the U. S. Office of Education because desegregation had not been carried out in a manner satisfactory to Federal authorities as to both integration of the races and desegregation of faculties. The board was given twenty days to request a hearing or to file a defense brief.

No definite decision was made, but Supt. Payne was instructed to study ways and means of carrying out some desegregation of faculties in Henderson city schools. This will not be done, however, without approval of the board. Payne said the present status is that of investigation of the possibility of some desegregation of school faculties.

If the local board should be finally adjudged as not in compliance, all Federal funds could be cut off from Henderson schools except for the school lunch program and the special milk assistance fund. However, the U. S. Department of Justice could at any time institute a suit in Federal court to compel the city board to desegregate the schools further, from the standpoint of both pupil integration and faculty desegregation.

Other North Carolina school units now on the U. S. Office of Education deferred list, besides Henderson and Vance county, are Franklinton, Elm City, Fremont, Maxton and Morven city systems, and those of Hyde, Lenoir, Wilson, Sampson, Nash, Jones and Martin counties.

Consideration of the Federal edict was the principal purpose of the board meeting Tuesday night. Chairman Joel T. Cheatham, Jr., presided. No action has been taken as yet by the Vance County Board of Education as to its being placed on the deferred list for Federal funds.

Louisburg Lions Hear Steelman

Hoke Steelman, scoutmaster of the local boy scout troop, addressed the Louisburg Lions Club last Tuesday evening at the Murphy House. He informed the club mostly of the local troop's future endeavors.

Bobby Fuller, the Senior Patrol Leader, is going to Idaho on August 1 to represent his troop. Also, from August 1-12 twelve of the scout members plan to go on a tour of the northern United States and Canada. Last, during the second week in July, the entire Troop 555 will journey to Camp Durant.

Then Mr. Steelman directed questions to the four visiting scouts: Bobby Fuller, Kirk House, John Kornegay, and Larry Romero. All questions were correctly answered. Mr. Steelman concluded with the comment that the prospects for more advanced scouting in Louisburg are outstanding as long as the citizens continue to support the organization. His desire is to produce some life scouts in the patrol in the next few months.

New Flame Kindled

Poor Father

The head of the house was reading a newspaper article very carefully. When he had come to the end he remarked to his wife: "Do you know, dear, I think there's something in what this article says -- that the cleverness of the father often proves a stumbling-block to the son." His wife heaved a sigh of relief. "Well, thank goodness," she said, "our Bobby won't have anything to fall over!"
