

Busy Bees

A new family took up residence across Market Street from the Courthouse here last Friday. The picture above, taken around 1 p.m., shows the bees working feverishly beneath the sidewalk on the east side of the street. Complaints by passersby and inability to move the bees away by at least one local bee fancier resulted in Street Supt. Roy Holmes being called on Friday night to burn them out.

Grave And Hats

Military hats and emblems have been removed from the new grave of President Kennedy. Some visitors said the hats and emblems detracted from the beauty and simplicity of the grave.

On SEATO Meeting

Ministers of the eight-nation Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting held recently are reportedly optimistic concerning the military trend of the Vietnam war. However, they see little chance of an early cease-fire.

Meat Loaf With A New Twist

Stuffed peppers have been popular family dinner fare for years. So have stuffed tomatoes and stuffed onions. But have you ever tried stuffed meat loaf?

Stuffed Corned Beef Loaf is a savory main dish that may sound difficult to prepare, but it couldn't be easier to do. It starts with two truly convenience foods -- canned corned beef and ready-to-use stuffing mix.

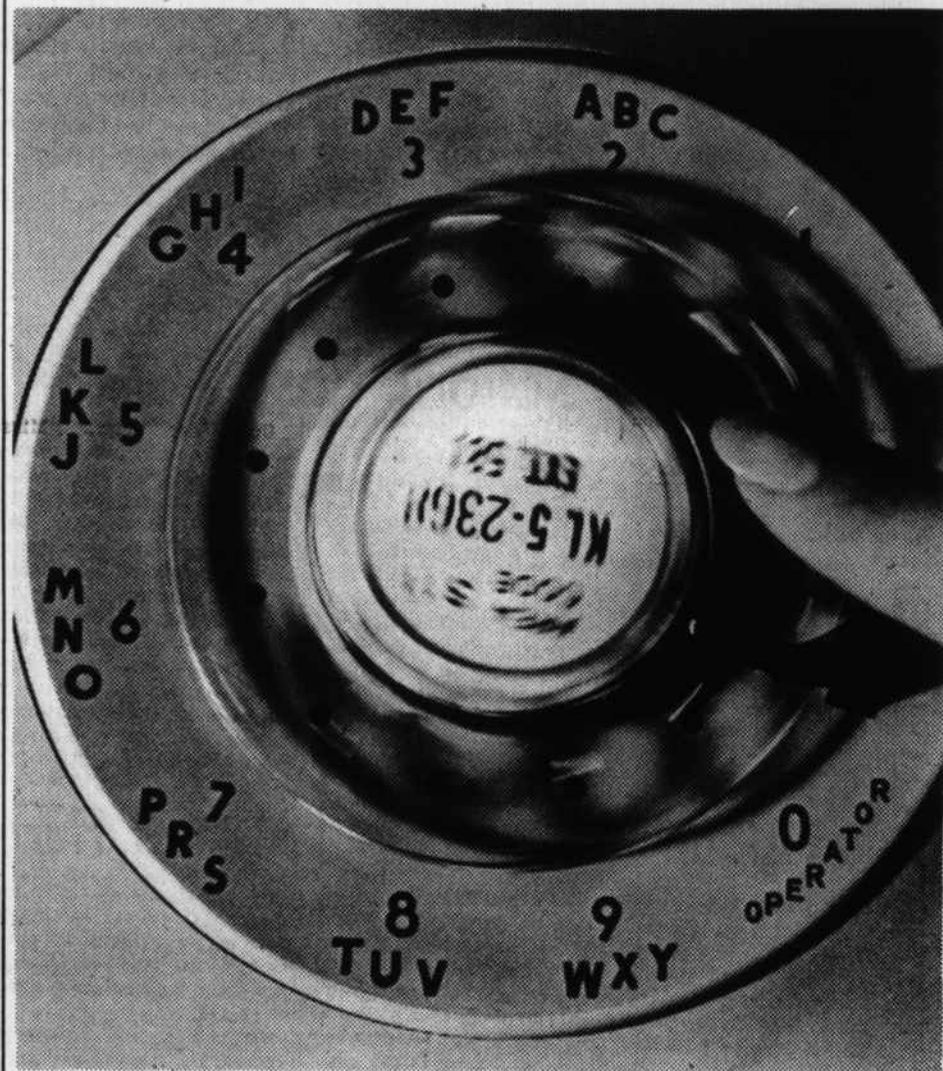

The all-beef meat is flaked and blended with bread crumbs and eggs. Then, it is patted out to a thickness of one-half inch on a sheet of wax paper. Next, the stuffing mix is prepared according to package directions, flavored with chopped fresh apple, and spread over the meat. Rolling of the loaf is simple -- just lift one edge of the wax paper and the loaf almost rolls itself. A topping of sliced bacon for good flavor AND garnish and a short stay in the oven turns the loaf into a delightful repast.

Corned Beef Loaf Menu Additions: Vegetable Platter of green beans, corn niblets, broiled tomato halves; hard rolls; and lemon chiffon tarts.

STUFFED CORNED BEEF LOAF

2 cans (12 ozs. each) corned beef, unchilled
2 slices white bread
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/2 package 8 oz. herb stuffing mix
1 medium apple, chopped
1 Bacon slices
Flake corned beef with a fork. Separate bread into soft crumbs; add to meat with eggs. Mix well. Pat out to 1/2 inch thickness on wax paper. Combine stuffing mix according to package directions; stir in apples. Spread on meat mixture and roll by lifting up edge of paper. Place seam side down on rack in baking pan. Cover with slices of bacon. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 - 40 minutes. Makes 8 servings.
