blacks, not only accompanied the blacks into the voting booth, but also pulled the levers".

He said other voting irregularities were reported from Franklin and Bertie counties.

In this year's new voter registration, 2,690 Negroes registered in Franklin County, constituting 25.6 percent of the total registration. There are no segregated precincts in Franklin and no method of determining how many Negroes vote in any given election except the time-consuming sheet by sheet count by the Board of Elections, which has never been done.

Schools

It was learned that the Commissioners plan a meeting next week and the School Board has a meeting slated for Thursday when the Board will appear in federal court in Raleigh for a hearing on its proposed plan of operation of the school system.

In other actions Wednesday night, the Board upgraded assistant Superintendent Mrs. Margaret Holmes to an Associate Superintendent. The move was made in order that Mrs. Holmes might benefit from a salary increase offered by the state. Resignations of three teachers were accepted and five new teachers were approved for the system.

On February 8, 1966, the first of several court appearances was staged in Clinton, N. C. and there has followed a multitude of evidence, testimony and arguments since. All these have led up to a hearing on a proposed plan submitted under order of the court by the School Board. The hearing is set for next week.

explained as being that if one provision of the approved plan could be broken, why not all provisions. A great deal of time and effort had gone into formulating the plan and due consideration had been given every aspect of it, according to Board members. The fact that the Office of Education had approved the plan was said to be sufficient to place the Board in the right. Several amendments had been made to the original plan including the agreement to desegregate all twelve grades the following year and the Board took the position that no further revisions were necessary or desirable in that school year.

The Negro parents, it was said, believed they had a right to send their children to any school and any grade and apparently did not understand the reasons behind the Board's denial. One Board member said at the time that the Board had to do for one child only what it could do for every child in the system and that if all 6,000 students requested lateral transfers it would disrupt the entire system.

The differences in 1965 have grown considerably since that time and in January, 1966, the U. S. Justice Department sought and was granted permission to intervene in the case on the side of the NAACP.

First Basketball School Starts Here

Louisburg's first official basketball school opens here Monday. Seventy-one boys from this section of the state will arrive at Louisburg College Sunday for registration, according to Coach Inid Drake, who is heading up the new venture.

The school is open to boys 9 years and older who have not graduated from high school and will last one week. There is to be a second week beginning on June 23 and Coach Drake said yesterday there are still openings for the second session.

Drake fostered the idea of a basketball school for young boys earlier this year. He said the aims of the school are to increase the youngster's knowledge of the "fundamentals and techniques of the game", to develop their skills and to provide "opportunity for wholesome fellowship" with other boys.

Drake will be assisted in the school by former Wake Forest College star "Twig" Wiggins, Bunn Coach Marvin Moss, Louisburg Coach Tommy Twitty and College Athletic Director Russ Frazier. Students attending Louisburg College or expected to attend this fall will act as counselors.

The boys will live in the College dormitories and eat in the College cafeteria. Sessions of drills and practice will be held in the college gym and area high school gyms.

Boys interested in attending the second class were urged to get in touch with Coach Drake immediately. The class starts on Monday, June 24 with registration being staged on Sunday, June 23.

Caught By A Parking Ticket

Jerry Thomas Cook of Oxford, N. C. probably wishes he'd never gotten a parking ticket.

Because of the parking ticket, Randolph Sheriff Lloyd Brown left today to go to Oxford and pick up Cook.

The charge? Larceny of an auto.

Sheriff Brown said that the car was stolen about a year ago from the Mendenhall Auction House near Trinity.

Last week the car was given a parking ticket in Oxford, and the policeman took down the license number.

When no one came to pay off the ticket, the police found out who the tag had been issued to. A call was placed to Hickory, and the man said that the car had been stolen.

The police checked the serial number, and found that the car was owned by Joseph L. Murchinson Auto Sales of Greensboro and that it had been stolen about one year ago.

Cook, Sheriff Brown said, had apparently been driving the car since it was stolen.

And probably would still be driving it if he had paid off the parking ticket.

To Communicate

Dunn-The letter was addressed to pharmacist J. I. Thomas at his drug store in Dunn.

It was from the Harnett County Welfare Department.

The letter requested Thomas to let the county department know his address so it could communicate with him.
