

Teenage Chat Youngsville

By Jo Anne Frazier

As school gets into full swing everyone seems to settle down to the same, old boring routine of going to school, studying, getting up homework and preparing to go to school again. This is true for teens around the county as well as Youngsville High.

The '69 Phantom staff has already begun work on the annual. Plans for selling ads are being made and pictures will be taken on Friday, September 20. Check with any member of the annual staff if you are in doubt as to what you are to wear.

Joyce Mitchell is really on the ball this year. It seems that Joyce just can't get down the steps fast enough walking so she has taken to falling. Better watch your step Joyce!

From all we have seen and heard, P. E. classes at YHS are really going to be tough. Navy blue shorts, T-shirts, white low-cut socks and tennis shoes for girls. Navy blue boxer shorts, T-shirts, white low-cut socks and tennis shoes for boys. 3-minutes to dress and be in line for roll.

No ruining your mouth. Forget your clothes only one time and bring a note from home that time. Ready for class, MARCH! Orders issued by none other than LCL. (Bet you can't guess what the C stands for)

Elaine Holmes just can't go a day without getting into some strange predicament. This time it seems that Jimmy gave her a friendly pat on the head and what did she do? Hit the floor. . . . You'll be okay someday, Elaine.

Senior English has all the prospects of being a fun and very educational course. From palindromes to gaggles of geese, the seniors find excitement!

Donna Privette leaves Saturday for school in Florida. Donna is studying to be an airline stewardess.

Also entering school Saturday is C. L. Wrenn. C. L. is studying dentistry. Would like a box of Kleenex Pam?

Rommie Catlett and Debra Rogers just can't stand the thoughts of leaving YHS. They have been demoted instead of promoted. How did they manage this? Take 8th grade P. E., what other way?

Thought to remember: All competent men should have some ambition, for ambition is like the temper in steel. If there's too much the product is brittle, if there's too little the steel is soft; and without a certain amount of hardness a man cannot achieve what he sets out to do. Dwight D. Eisenhower

REV. CREECH

Rev. Ronald Creech from Durham, North Carolina, will be with the First Free Will Baptist Church Sept. 20-22 for special services.

Mr. Creech is the State Evangelist for the North Carolina Association of Free Will Baptists. He also serves the Association as manager of its Book Store and editor of its official voice, the FREE WILL BAPTIST WITNESS.

Before assuming his duties as State Evangelist, he was pastor of Liberty Church in Durham for nine years and was serving the N. C. Association as Moderator. He has been preaching for 20 years and former pastorates have been in Mississippi, Kentucky, Virginia, South Carolina, as well as North Carolina. Having been graduated from Free Will Baptist Bible College, Nashville, Tennessee, he came to Ashokle for his first North Carolina pastorate.

Rev. Creech has served his local Conference as Clerk and presently serves it as its historian. For a number of years, he was a member of the Theological Liberalism Commission of the National Association of Free Will Baptists and is now chairman of the National Association's Historical Commission.

Mr. Creech is married to the former Mary Belle Smith of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and is the father of five children— Ruth, 14; Eliza Beth, 13; Lois, 11; Becky, 8; and Paul, 5.

You will enjoy the services at First F. W. Baptist Church. There will be good lively singing and Brother Creech is an old fashioned hard-hitting preacher.

Rev. Earl Gilliam, pastor of the Church invites you to hear him. The church is located at 930 N. Main St., Louisburg. The time of the services is 7:30 P.M.

has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center here.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian life to Naval service, he received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers. He studied seamanship, as well as survival techniques, military drill and other subjects.

Louisburg Garden Club Meets

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Proctor of Rocky Mount visited Mrs. Emma Moore on Saturday.

Spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wheeler and Howard were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Orders and children.

Mrs. Lena Wilder has returned to Raleigh to stay some time with her two sons and their families.

You can never tell what some people mean by what they say; you can only suspect what they think.

Wrap Pears In Ginger Crust

Perfect for parties or between-meal pickups, these spicy "Ginger Pear Pockets" are a welcome snack on crisp fall days. Each pocket-full of goodness contains a juicy wedge of canned pear, wrapped in gingerbread crust. For easy preparation, a gingerbread mix is used for the dough and the pear can as a cutter. After thoroughly chilling the dough is rolled out, cut into rounds and shaped around the pear wedges.

With convenient canned Bartlett pears no extra preparation is needed. Just drain, cut and use the pears. What's more, their sweet, natural flavor is a refreshing contrast to the spiciness of the ginger.

Ginger Pear Pockets
1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can Bartlett pear halves
1/2 cup butter
1 (14 1/2 oz.) package gingerbread mix
1 egg

Drain pear halves, reserving syrup for hot punch. Cut each pear half in two. Cut butter into dry gingerbread mix. Stir in egg. Chill several hours. Roll dough on floured board to 1/8-inch thickness. Using pear can as cutter, cut into rounds. Place a pear wedge on each round. Lap dough over pear and seal with fork. Prick tops. Bake at 350 degrees for 12-15 minutes. Cool. Store in open container. Makes 12-15 pockets.

To store in freezer, shape and freeze before baking. Bake, unthawed, at 350 degrees for 18-20 minutes.

With Ginger Pear Pockets serve Hot Lemonade Punch made with leftover pear syrup: Combine 1 cup pear syrup, 2 cups water, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup lemon juice and 1 tablespoon butter in saucepan. Bring to boil. Serve in mugs, garnished with lemon slice. Makes 5 servings.

Health And Beauty

Your body contains an amazing assortment of different minerals. Two of them are well known to most of us. Iron for rich, healthy blood and calcium for strong bones and teeth are quoted so much that they have become tired, old phrases.

We hear so often about the need for these minerals that we are likely to think our needs begin and end with them. However, they are only two of the more than 20 different minerals that are bound up in the complex chemistry of our bodies. At least 15 of these minerals perform essential functions. The rest are found in such small amounts that they probably serve no purpose at all. Scientists tell us that these rarer elements may function in ways that are as yet unknown. For example, no reason has been found for the speck of aluminum found in the brain. With radioactive tracers it may be possible to track down this substance and determine if it is one of the things that spark our mental processes.

The amazing thing about the minerals found in our bodies is that even though there is barely a handful of them, many of them are necessary for life. A good example of this is that a minute quantity of calcium keeps the heart beating regularly and steadily.

The vital role of iodine has long been understood. There is scarcely enough of it in the body to cover the head of a pin. Without this tiny amount a person would be a dwarfed, stupid creature known as a cretin.

Doctors and scientists believe that the minerals in our body have much to do with keeping us in tiptop physical condition. They tell us that unless we have some deficiency, the best way to be sure you are getting the proper amount of minerals is to eat a well-balanced diet.

Tell Of Scotland

Area No. 15 of the North Carolina Licensed Practical Nurses Association met Friday night, September 6, at the Staff House, Murdock Center, Butler, N. C.

Fifteen nurses and one guest were present. Local nurses attending were Miss Helen Bailey, Mrs. Betty Burnette, Margaret Driver, Ophelia West, Lona Brown, Virginia Williams. Mrs. T. E. Cameron, a retired Army nurse was guest speaker. Mrs. Cameron gave a most interesting program on her recent Tours of Scotland, her homeland.

Plans were discussed to increase membership for the coming year. Area No. 15 will hold its next meeting Friday night, October 4, in the community room of the First Citizens Bank in Louisburg. All local LPNs are urged to attend these association meetings.

Patio Party Honors Youngsters

Misses Lynne Patterson, Mary Leigh Best, Bonita Tippett, and Messers. Michael King Jolly and Tommy Wheelless were honored at a going away party Friday night by Misses Nancy Lohmueller, Nell Lee, and Mr. Paul Shuping at the Shuping home on Henderson Road.

The patio was beautifully decorated with potted plants and spot lights. A local combo, the Cheyennes furnished music for dancing. Fruit punch and cookies were served to over sixty friends and classmates of the five being honored.

Thanks

My sincere appreciation is extended to the many people who were so kind to the family of Richard B. Gill, Sr. during his illness and death. The cards, visits, flowers and gifts will long be remembered. May the Lord bless each of you.
