Mrs. Jones Gives Club Program

The Edwin Fuller Book Club met at the home of Dr. Ann Blumenfeld on Ford Circle on Tuesday afternoon.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. M. Palmer and Mrs. B. L. Patterson, served a dessert course and coffee to eleven club members and three guests.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. H. J. Lewis, vice president, presided. She welcomed the guests and turned the program over to Mrs. Norwood Jones who spoke on Jack London and his novel: The Call of the Wild. Mrs. Jones introduced the author with some biographical information. She hinted that London's own life was even more thrilling than his work and gave him the background material for his writing.

The Call of the Wild, generally considered London's best novel, has a dog, Buck, as its hero. The dog is stolen from his comfortable home in California and sold as a sledge dog in the Klondike. Abused first by both men and dogs, he learns by observation to hold his own. He finds in John Thornton a master whom he can respect and love. When Thornton is murdered, he follows the call of the wild and becomes the leader of a pack of wolves.

Guests for the afternoon were: Mrs. J. A. Hodges, former club member, Miss Ruth Merritt and Mrs. Dorothy Sampson, both from the college faculty. Members present in addition to the hostess were Mesdames G. M. Beam, Sr., G. M. Beam, Jr., Norman Chadwick, James Clayton, Ann W. Davies, C. W. Howard, Norwood Jones, Fred Lohmeyer, H. J. Lewis, Michael Palmer and B. L. Patterson.

In Service

JAMES GREENE

(Xo384) NORFOLK, VA. (FHTNC) - Fireman Apprentice James Greene, USN, 19, son of Mr. James Greene of Route 4, Louisburg, N. C., participated in the recovery of the Apollo 7 while serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare aircraft carrier USS Essex, a unit of Task Force One Forty.

The veteran Essex, oldest aircraft carrier in active service, was selected as the Atlantic Fleet primary recovery ship. The carrier was positioned along the Apollo launch vehicle ground track, approximately 400 miles East of Cape Kennedy, Fla., to recover the astronauts had there been a launch vehicle malfunction.

The Apollo program is the major current national space effort. The ultimate goal of the program is to land men on the moon for limited observation and exploration and to assure safe recovery upon return to earth.

With the completion of the Apollo 7 mission, Essex, assigned to the Naval Air Force, Atlantic Fleet, and homeported at Quonset Point, R. I., returned to normal fleet operation.
