

McDonald, Brown Speak Wedding Vows

The wedding of Miss Kathleen Channel Brown and Mr. Robert Wayne McDonald was solemnized on Saturday, November the twenty-third, at five o'clock in the afternoon at the Youngsville Baptist Church.

Officiating at the ceremony was church minister Rev. L. Jervais Phillips; and the grandfather of the bride, Rev. Adrian E. Brown, Sr. of Greenville, N. C.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Wiley Brown, Sr. and the late Clellie Croom Brown of Youngsville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. McDonald of Seaford, Delaware.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by organist Mrs. Al DePorter and soloists Mr. Neal Archie Brown and Mrs. A. N. Corpening. Selections rendered by Mrs. Corpening were "The Greatest of These is Love", and "The Lord's Prayer." Mr. Brown sang "All My Love."

Vows were spoken before an altar decorated with palms, fern, massive white flowers and tiered candelabra bearing lighted tapers.

As a Symbolization of the Union, at the conclusion of the wedding service, the bride and groom lifted lighted candles from either side of the satin covered prayer bench to light a single candle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory silk satin and re-embroidered alencon lace, designed on the A-line silhouette, featuring long satin sleeves and high scoop neckline. Appliques of re-embroidered alencon lace defined the empire bodice and highlighted the A-line skirt.

Her detachable chapel length train as bordered with matching alencon lace. She wore a full length mantilla of imported illusion bordered and applied with matching lace.

Miss Mary Lou Brown was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Lynn Burgess, sister of the bridegroom from Harrisonburg, Virginia; Miss Linda Brown, cousin of the bride from Greenville, N. C.; Mrs. Terry Smith, cousin of the bride from Parkton, N. C.; and Miss Debbie Brown of Youngsville. They wore formal gowns of willow green velveteen and moss green chiffon. The sheath chiffon skirt was topped by a velveteen empire bodice with scoop neck and short sleeves which was trimmed at the waist with velvet flowers and chiffon leaves. Their veils were attached to a circle of matching velvet flowers and chiffon leaves. Miss Terry Faye Brown, cousin of the bride of Norfolk, Va., was flower girl. She wore a gown identical to that of the bridesmaids and carried a white satin trimmed basket bearing yellow mums.

Honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. W. K. Wilkinson of Raleigh, N. C., Mrs. Tom Parrish of Havelock, N. C., Mrs. Mike Chesson of Virginia Beach, Mrs. Eugene Clarke of Garner, Mrs. Johnny Grubbs of Greenville and Mrs. Bill Sermons of Ayden. They wore formal length gowns in complimentary tones and carried white carnation nosegays tied with satin ribbons.

The bride's bouquet was a fifteen point star created with white carnations and mums, highlighted with a white orchid in the center. Lace and satin streamers enhanced the bouquet.

Bridesmaids carried bouquets of yellow mums complimented with wheat sprays and autumn leaves.

Mrs. Kathleen Croom and Mrs. Adrain Brown, Sr., grandmothers of the bride, wore white carnation corsages. Mrs. Brown was dressed in aqua blue lace with matching accessories and Mrs. Croom wore a grey suit with matching hat and harmonizing accessories.

Mr. Bill Sermons of Ayden, N. C. was best man. Ushers were Russell Foster of Kinston; Lynn Burgess of Harrisonburg, Va.; Edfred Gaskill of Washington, N. C.; Wiley Brown, Jr. of Greenville, N. C.

Ring bearer was Jeff Burgess, nephew of the groom of Harrisonburg, Va.

The bride and bridegroom both attended college at East Carolina University in Greenville.

Following a wedding trip to the mountains the couple will reside in Washington, N. C. where the groom is employed by Combine Insurance Company of America.

For her wedding trip the Meeting in conjunction with the optometrists were the wives, headed by Mrs. W. C. Adams of Benson, President of the Women's Auxiliary.

The explanation of many automobile accidents is in the fact that the driver of the car did not believe in signs.

The purpose of most organizations is to get, for he members, something which they cannot earn on their merits as individuals.
