Snowflake Waffle Cookies

Go catch a falling star... or a snowflake — for your table or your cookie jar. These starlike "snowflakes" are cookies, baked like little waffles from a buttery batter.

The filigree shape and versatility of Snowflake Waffle Cookies will delight any child as well as please the palate of his parent. They're easy cookies — fun to bake, to serve, to eat — even to use as Christmas tree ornaments. But sprinkled with confectioners sugar, or topped with a favorite jelly, Snowflake Waffle Cookies know no season. They win fans any time of the day, or year, at any occasion.

These cookies are nutritious, too, because you use enriched flour in the batter. Three essential B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, and the mineral, iron, have been added for extra nutrition through the enrichment process.

SNOWFLAKE WAFFLE COOKIES

- 1 cup enriched flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 3/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 cup butter

- Confectioners sugar

Stir together flour, baking powder and baking soda. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition; stir in lemon rind and juice. Blend flour mixture gradually into creamed mixture, beating well. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto preheated waffle baker; bake on low heat 1 1/2 to 2 minutes. Remove and cool. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar.
