has not been convicted in fact". He said the case against cigarette smoking "is based on statistical associations rather than on scientific evidence."

However, Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., claimed that statistics indicate 4,000 children daily "are newly hooked on smoking." He then added: "If I had my druthers, I would put a skull and crossbones on that pack of cigarettes."

Koch appeared in support of a proposal advanced by the Federal Communications Commission for a complete ban on radio-TV advertising of cigarettes if Congress lets it do so.

Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., a committee member who would like to see the law expire, told reporters after the initial session he doesn't think the tobacco interests can be blocked.

Speaking for the North Carolina House delegation, Rep. L. H. Fountain, Democrat, argued that cigarettes are a legal product and said the right to advertise is clear. "Do we want the FCC to be able to prohibit the advertising of milk, eggs, butter and ice cream on TV?" Fountain asked.

Fountain and Perkins said conflicting regulations by federal agencies and states could result if Congress fails to take positive action and lets the law expire.

Adams, in questioning Fountain, said this seemed to be taking a position that federal regulation is better than state regulation.

Fountain, however, said the tobacco industry could be destroyed by the resulting confusion from different regulations and said: "For this reason I support the doctrine of preemption in this case."

Rep. John L. McMillan, D-S.C., born and reared on a tobacco farm, said "hundreds of thousands" of people would be unemployed in his state if tobacco couldn't be grown. He also suggested that "some undesirable people" would wind up in the urban areas but didn't elaborate.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., a committee member, said he feels perhaps the broadcasting industry should come up with a "more effective" program of self-regulation.

NCEA

No she sent it to her teacher. And if you say you're not living in Beulahland, I'll say you are wrong."

He cited a note from a second-grader to her teacher in which the child had written: "Last year I did everything my teacher told me. This year, I'm going to do everything you tell me." He said this, too, showed the teacher's importance. "It's a great feeling to know that you're doing something to change the world", he added. "You teachers hold the future in your hands".

Dr. Abrams was introduced by Mrs. Jewel Bartholomew of Louisburg. Superintendent of School Warren Smith introduced members of the Board of Education and school office personnel and praised the teachers and principals for an "excellent job this year". He told of being disheartened last fall as schools opened with a degree of uncertainty but he said when he visited the classrooms and found "teaching and learning" going on, he got a "big lift".

Winston Kerley of Bunn High School, President of the Classroom Teachers Association, presented his officers and committee members to the group praising them for their work this year. Ayscue did the same with officers and committee members on the NCEA.

Miss Robin Kerley, a Louisburg tenth-grader, sang several folk songs for the group to the delight of Dr. Abrams, whose hobby is the collection of folk music.

The old man had never ridden on an airplane before. After they had been in the air for some time, he noticed that one of the aircraft's engines wasn't operating. He immediately told the stewardess.

"Oh, that's nothing to be alarmed about," she said soothingly. "We're merely conserving fuel."

"Look, lady," blurted the old man, "charge the gas to my credit card but get that engine going."

Vacancies

David Cyrus, Sr., Monnie D. Hoyle, W. Tommy Moss and James T. Allen. The Youngsville council race is the only one to bring out opponents to those already serving so far in the municipal campaigning. The Youngsville filing deadline is noon Saturday, April 19.

CENTERVILLE - Mayor John W. Neal has filed for reelection and is unopposed. Two of the three incumbent council members have also filed. L. S. Ward and John W. Pleasants are seeking another term. Mrs. Robert (Agnes) Leonard, the third incumbent has not filed. There are no other filers thus far at Centerville. The deadline for filing there is Saturday, April 26.

BUNN - There have been no filers at Bunn probably due to the fact that Bunn has just today announced its election for May 27. W. A. (Bill) Andrews is serving as Mayor and council members are: Macon Z. Morris, T. W. Bailey, Wayne Winstead and Louis Debnam. Registration books at Bunn will be open from May 9 through May 16 and the filing deadline has been set for 6 p.m. May 20.

Farmers Organization Plans Meets

T. D. (Doc) Woodard, District Field Representative of the National Farmers Organization, has announced organizational meetings will be held in Franklin County next week.

The first meeting in the county will be held at the Justice Fire House Wednesday, April 23, at 8 P.M. On Friday, a meeting will be held at the Centerville Fire House, also at 8 P.M.

Woodard said that both farmers and their wives are invited to the sessions. The organization is active in 41 states and recently came to Johnston County in North Carolina.

Dumps Bunn

Undefeated Vance County belted out 16 hits to pummel Bunn, 16-1, Tuesday for its fifth straight victory.

Wayne Franklin drove in four runs with a double and two singles while Buddy Stainback, Jackie Spencer and Wayne Ellington drove in a pair apiece.

Ellington, who had a triple among his hits, fanned 12 in going the route on the mound for the win.

Canes Host Ferrum Saturday

Louisburg Colleges Hurricanes, on top of the Cavalier-Tar Heel Conference but pushed hard by Chowan and rapidly improving Ferrum, play the Ferrum Panthers at Louisburg Saturday in a doubleheader that could go a long ways toward determining the conference champions.

Ferrum plays Mt. Olive Friday in a doubleheader and will be highly favored to win. If so, they will go into Saturday's games with the Canes with a 4-2 record. A split will assure the Canes of a tie with Chowan, while a sweep would keep them on top.

The Canes will start their ace righthanders E. V. Spell and Dave Flowers. The playing status of third baseman Mike Farris is doubtful. He pulled a muscle in his leg against Chowan, and it is slow in responding to treatment. Freshman Jack Stanley will start if Farris cannot play.

The Canes played Duke to a 7-7 tie on Tuesday before rain stopped the game at the end of the top of the 8th. The Canes scored the winning run in the 8th, but Duke was unable to get in their half of the inning and the score did not count.

Louisburg Loses To Ed. Best

The Louisburg Bulldogs held their losing streak in tact here Tuesday afternoon as they fell to Edward Best, 8-5. The game, played on the College diamond, saw the locals gather 12 hits off Stephen Medlin while the Eagles collected 11 off three Louisburg hurlers.

Louisburg sent Robbie McDonald, Mike Wynne and William Ihrle against the Eagles. Medlin completed the game for Edward Best. Johnny Pernel did the catching for Louisburg and Johnny King worked behind the plate for the Eagles.

Pernel led the Bulldog batters with a double and a triple in three times at bat. Johnson had a single, double and triple in four trips for Edward Best.

Orphanage Tops Y'ville

Oxford Orphanage defeated Youngville 6-3 Tuesday afternoon in a rain-shortened Franklin County Conference baseball game.

James Earp and Billy Faircloth led the Red Devils with two RBIs apiece. Earp had a triple for the winners. Nelson Broyal went the distance for the Red Devils, striking out five and walking three.

Rodney Roberts homered and Morris Catlett doubled for Youngville to spark the Phantoms' attack. Worth Keith absorbed the loss for the Phantoms.
