

Changes In Hunting Regulations Announced

Raleigh - The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, in a meeting here today, proposed several changes in the 1969-70 hunting regulations for North Carolina. The proposals adopted at today's Commission meeting are tentative and subject to modification following a series of public hearings to be held in May.

Working toward a continuing, uniform opening date that would permit sportsmen to plan vacation leave in advance and dissipate excessive hunting pressure in any one locality on opening date, the Commission proposed a new opening date policy. If adopted, the policy will provide for opening of the bear, deer (in the East), boar, raccoon, squirrel, and grouse hunting seasons each year on the Monday nearest October 15. Thus, under the new policy, this year's opening date for these species would be October 13.

The Commission also agreed to establish a policy of opening all short term either sex deer seasons (two weeks or less) on the third Friday in December. This policy further specifies that during the first two days of such either sex seasons, deer hunting shall begin not earlier than 12:00 noon and that neither buck nor doe deer shall be taken prior to the designated starting time.

In other action today the Commission voted to extend additional protection to North Carolina's declining black bear population. The new bear hunting regulations propose to reduce the possession and season limits for bear to one each and to further reduce the area in which bear may be hunted.

In the western part of North Carolina, the proposed bear hunting regulations provide for an open season from October 13 through November 22 and from December 8 through January 1 in and west of Watauga, Caldwell, Burke, McDowell, Buncombe, and Henderson counties.

The Commission also proposed an October 13 through November 22 open season for bear in the following areas of eastern North Carolina: South of N. C. Highway 41 from the South Carolina line to N. C. Highway 58, thence with N. C. 58 to Trenton, thence with the Trent River to U. S. Highway 70, thence with U. S. 70 to Morehead City.

In the interest of improving hunter safety by spreading deer hunting pressure and reducing the heavy concentration of hunters in both the Camp Butner and Uwharrie sections, the Commission voted to schedule the seasons in both areas at the same time and to expand the area open to hunting. The proposed season would start on the same date as deer hunting in the western part of the state (November 24) and run through December 20.

The open portion of Wake County would be extended slightly southward; the Randolph County area would be expanded eastward to U. S. 220, the Davidson County area northward to I-85 (west of N. C. 109 and north of U. S. 64) and Rowan County would have its first deer season in modern times with hunting allowed south of I-85.

In an effort to stop the recently observed decline of deer populations in Avery, Burke, Caldwell, McDowell, and Mitchell counties and the adjoining part of Cleveland County, the Commission voted to propose a deer season to be the same as for the area further west, November 24 through December 6. For the same reason, they voted to close the season this year in Stokes County.

In other action, the Commission proposed to modify the wild boar season and area in the western part of the state to conform with the bear season and area, but to leave unchanged the boar season in Hyde County. The Commission also voted to close the pheasant hunting season in Hoke County and to open the squirrel hunting season on October 1 in Ashe and Alleghany counties.

In action on game lands hunting regulations for the 1969-70 season, the Commission agreed to require that cancellation of an awarded advance application hunt be received not less than ten days before the scheduled date of the hunt, instead of the seven days presently required and to retain a portion of the fee if an advanced application hunt is cancelled.

The Commission voted not to schedule any either sex deer hunts on wildlife management areas since biologist's examination of ovaries of female deer taken last fall indicated a low fawn crop this spring.

The Commission also proposed regulations to allow the taking of wild boar and wild hog on big game hunts, to omit bear hunts on Mt. Mitchell Wildlife Management Area and to resume small game hunts on Thurmond Chatham Wildlife Management Area.

The Commission also passed a proposal to extend the North Carolina quail and rabbit season this year for an extra week, establishing a season from November 15 through February 28.

All of the proposals tentatively approved by the Commission today are subject to modification after discussion at public hearings. The Commission will meet Tuesday, June 10, to adopt hunting and trapping regulations for the 1969-70 season.

Shearin opposed. Webb broke the tie with a "No" vote.

In August, the Council voted to modernize the Town owned plant. There was a controversy over the bids at the meeting on August 22 and there was ordered an hour-and-a-half delay while attorneys studied the bids. Since the restraining order had been removed, the Council voted again 3-2 to modernize.

By October, the county ABC store elections were taking hold of the people's interest and with December came a war which required attention and the Council agreed to repair the old engine and postpone all else for the duration. The heated elections of May were soon relegated to the mind's memory block.

As another election looms here, the 1941 scrap tries diligently to free itself. Could be it's trying to tell us something.
