FAMILY FITNESS

By Herbert C. Johnson, Jr., President Family Fitness Council. Every day we hear and read recommendations and advice about the necessity to exercise. Just recently a medical research team reported that exercise circulates cholesterol in the body; this is beneficial to the heart. In other words, fitness through exercise is a simple, precautionary and urgent health measure.

Furthermore, a daily personal exercise plan produces a vitality, a joy and a more full participation in life. The feeling of "aliveness" that accompanies a supple, energetic and trim body has been called "a quality that enhances all other human qualities." It provides that extra "oomph" to partake fully of daily, 20th Century activities.

Exercising need not be a big production. A 10 to 15 minute daily program is all we're talking about for both women and men. And, do it in your own home, for convenience and ease. Scientific equipment once available only in health clubs and salons is now designed and scaled for home use. You can find it in full-line department stores, such as Sears.
