Distaff Deeds

By Janice R. Christensen

Tackles Piano First
 Most women learning to refinish furniture, would start with a less complicated project than a piano. But not Mrs. Julius Elliott of Oxford, Rt. 1.
 After removing the old finish, the Granville County homemaker called on Dorothy Wilkinson, home economics Extension agent, for tips on blending the stain and for suggestions on the final finishing and waxing.
 "While she was working on the piano, Mrs. Elliott vowed 'she would never attempt another piece.' But she's changed her mind. 'The bug bit me,' she confessed. 'It's amazing what a new finish did for our piano. And since it's been refinished, it's worth twice the price I paid for it."

Bake Shop at Home
 A new house with a bake shop built on was the dream of Mrs. James Groce, a Yadkin County homemaker. That dream is now a reality, notes Irene Brown, home economics Extension agent.
 Several years ago, Mrs. Groce started making decorated cakes, tarts, pies and mints in the small kitchen of her old house. As sales increased and her interest grew, she and her husband worked out plans for a new house and bake shop.

 After moving to the new location, the homemaker's sales continued to increase; she now has three or four persons helping her on weekends.
 Mrs. Groce learned her trade by attending Extension demonstrations on cake decorating, by reading and by practicing, the agent observes.

More Know-How, Less Feel
 Buying fabrics for home sewing calls for the knowledge of an expert.

A Wayne County homemaker was observed recently in a fabric shop trying to make the decision of what to buy - for back-to-school clothes. She spent a lot of time feeling, rubbing and pulling fabrics, but she was still not able to make her final choices.
 "I wish I had done my homework on what's new on the fabric market," she lamented. "It would have made this shopping trip a lot easier."
 She was right, Mrs. Betty Watson, home economics Extension agent, observes. For many women make poor fabric selections because their final choices are based on a lot of feeling and pulling and very little knowledge.

His and Hers
 Employed homemakers in the Vance Grove community, Cleveland County, find that time and energy management calls for family cooperation in getting jobs done.
 One family has worked out a "his and hers" schedule with house work responsibilities for both husband and wife. "My husband didn't like it at first," the young wife admitted, "but it's working out much better now. I get more rest and have a bit more time to spend with the family."

 Sharing responsibilities makes household jobs much easier and reduces tension on the part of family members, Thelma E. McVea, home economics Extension agent, agrees.
 Forty-one of the 50 United States are larger than Switzerland, a country in which linguists have listed more than 70 dialects, National Geographic says.
 There now are 1,500 castles in Spain, compared to a peak of 10,000. Most were destroyed in the past century.
