Fasten Your Belt

It seems this fellow was really brainwashed about using his seat belt - used it constantly. But one day he put his own auto in the shop for minor repairs, and was given a beltless loaner by the garage.

Everything was fine until he reached his destination, unbuckled, and got out. His pants fell down.

Mammoth Cave Described At Edwin Fuller Club

The Edwin Fuller Book Club met with Mrs. H. J. Lewis at her home on North Main Street Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Lewis, assisted by Mrs. Frank Pulley, served a dessert course and coffee to the members upon arrival.

Following the club's theme for the year, National Shrines and Tourist Centers in the United States, Mrs. Anne W. Davies presented a most interesting paper on Mammoth Cave, located in southern Kentucky. One of the world's largest and most majestic caverns, it attracts 1,200,000 visitors a year. Mammoth Cave has 225 known avenues, winding over five levels. Visitors need walk only a few feet beyond the entrance to begin appreciating this exotic natural phenomenon. Every step in the caves offer endless sights that seem incomparable.

Mammoth Cave's first recorded history dates from 1798 when Warren County Land certificate No. 2428 shows one Valentine Simons entered 200 acres of second-rate land. Pre-Columbian Indians, the first explorers of Mammoth Cave, ventured three miles into its top level to scrape from the walls gypsum crystals that were used as paint bases, fertilizer, and medicinal salt. Indians used the rotunda near the cave's entrance for tribal councils, storage of coffins and other artifacts which, radio-active, carbon dating techniques reveal, were placed there from 400 B.C. to 100 A.D.

Club members attending the meeting were the following: Mesdames Lewis, Davies, Wilbur Jolly, Norwood Jones, Gladys Bailey, G. M. Beam, Sr., G. M. Beam, Jr., James Clayton, Humphrey Lee, B. L. Patterson, Norman Chadwick, and Fred Lohmueller.

Youngsville - Mrs. Claude R. Edwards, an active member of the Youngsville Woman's Club, will head the annual Girl Scout Fund Raising Drive here this year. Volunteer workers selected by Mrs. Edwards will be conducting the drive during the week beginning October twentieth.

This fund raising event is planned in conjunction with goals of the Pines of Carolina Girl Scout Council which provides scouting benefits for the three local troops and their leaders.

Mrs. Edwards, and the Woman's Club which sponsors the local troops, urges that citizens support scouting with contributions during the week of the twentieth.

With special interest in Girl Scout activities, Mrs. Edwards is now serving for a second year as the Woman's Club Troop Organizer and Consultant. And she has assisted with drives in previous years.
