The New York sun asks: "Shall the government be stolen?" We should not be surprised if it were. Everything else has been.

Judging from the newspaper reports that come under our observation, Mr. Tilden is going to start a royal scraggle in the white house. They have got him engaged to at least half a hundred girls and young widows in twenty different states and territories. The last victim of his presidential polygamous intentions is Mrs. Hella Morse, daughter of the famous lightning-tamer.

Good! The Supreme court of South Carolina yesterday decided, as every sane man knew it must unless it were altogether knave or fool, that the infamous canvassing board has no judicial powers, and can only count the returns as they are sent in. This settles the result down for Tilden and Hampton. Now let us see what the next pretext of the radical conspirators, headed by Grant and Chandler, will be.

Too Thin.

John Sherman said the other arch-villains, whom Grant and Chandler sent to New Orleans to aid a scape-gallows returning board in counting Tilden out and Hayes in, decline the conference proposed by the democrats on the ground that they are "without power or legal influence over the result of the means by which it is to be determined." Then what are they there for? Why did they steam half the length of the continent? Why have fifteen companies of troops been ordered there to give pomp and circumstance to their presence? Why have the brutal ruffian, Phil Sheridan, been sent there to lend them the support of his countenance and co-operation? If they are not liars, they are fools and on a fools' errand.

Six Dollars a Year.

In conformity with a determination long since arrived at, the price of the Daily Sentinel has been reduced to six dollars for a year.

The Sentinel was established in 1865 as a ten dollar paper, postage not paid, and reduced under a subsequent management to eight dollars. We believe that justice to the public now demands that we still further reduce its rates to six dollars. Products of all kinds have fallen in price, and why should not the newspaper? Indeed nearly all the leading papers of the country have brought down their subscription prices, and we are but in keeping with a good example in bringing down ours.

The Sentinel will continue to do duty in behalf of the rights and liberties of the people as it has done for the past twelve years. With a record not to be ashamed of, in the full vigor of its prime, not old enough to be impaired, yet having sufficient years for ripe experience, the Sentinel, at the beginning of the democratic era it has for twelve years labored to assist in, tends itself and its services to its friends, the people of North Carolina.

To the Business Men of Raleigh.

The Sentinel is an institution among you. As such it should commend itself to your patronage and encouragement.

The cash receipts of the Sentinel for the past year of its existence have been more than three hundred and fifty thousand ($350,000) dollars, quite three-fourths of which came to your city from a distance. Nearly all of this vast sum of money has been expended in your midst, fully seventy-five per cent. thereof having been paid across your counters. You have then, as merchants of the city, derived from the Sentinel office within less than a dozen years a trade amounting to more than two hundred and fifty thousand ($250,000) dollars, two-thirds of which the printers alone have paid you.

To one of the manufacturing interests of your county alone the Sentinel has paid thirty thousand ($30,000) dollars.

For these considerations, together with the other merits of the paper, the least of which is based on its substantial and growing circulation, the Sentinel, now that the political campaign are over, solicits your advertising patronage.

The Long Waiting.

There is actual agony and alarm throughout the Union at the long delay in arriving at the result in the presidential canvass. The people begin to feel that there is mischief brewing. They see Grant's armies moving from Georgia and other states where their interference was vain, into Florida, South Carolina and Louisiana. The armies go ostensibly in the interest of an honest count. But they have been in Louisiana before; they drove out with their bayonets a legislature honestly elected, and put in power a rump legislature. It was one of the vilest usurpations ever committed upon this continent. And it is being repeated. Grant and his satellites seem determined to steal the three states needed for the election of Hayes. These states were carried by the democrats, and so admitted until it was discovered that they were needed for the uses of the republican party. Then, remembering how they had been manipulated before, the monstrous idea was conceived of carrying them by the bayonet again—this time after election. Whether they will succeed in securing a declaration of the votes in their favor remains to be seen. We do not believe it possible, even with all the machinery of the government at Washington working for its accomplishment. If they do, it will be the first time that a popular majority of half a million voters was ever subjected to its right to the presidency, and the last. The republican party stands convicted of fraud, usurpation, robbery. Now it is perpetrating its last and greatest crime—the stealing of the government from the people of the United States.

We have no fears that Mr. Tilden will not be our next president. If the vote in either of the disturbed states is vitiated by fraud, congress will assuredly throw out the electoral votes of these states. This will carry the election to the present house of representatives, which will elect Mr. Tilden. Then the senate will make Mr. Wheeler vice-president, thus depriving Mr. Hendricks of his lawful right. And an idea still more horrible suggests itself. Mr. Tilden would be in danger of assassination during his entire term. The party that stimulated violence and murder in South Carolina to create an excuse for troops, would not scruple at the murder of a president.

We have unflinching trust in the justice of Almighty God, who will not permit the great crime against the American people, now being plotted by the republican party. But if worst comes to worst, the people who have elected Mr. Tilden will assert their rights. A majority of half a million honest and earnest voters is not to be put down, even by Grant's bayonets.

The Florida Hope.

The republican party now turns its eyes to Louisiana as its final hope. It claims to have gained South Carolina and Florida, but is not quite satisfied that the work of stealing Louisiana is successfully and safely accomplished. To make it sure, a number of republican lawyers have gathered at New Orleans from different northern states to examine the law governing the returning board of the state. They have decided that the law gives the board judicial functions—that it can throw out, at its discretion, the vote of every parish in which it is charged that intimidation was practiced upon the negroes. Under this ruling they propose to throw out a sufficient number of democratic parishes to give Hayes the needed majority.

This change from the doctrine and practice of 1872 shows the desperate straits of the republican party. In that year the electoral vote of Louisiana was not needed, and, on motion of Senator Carpenter of Wisconsin, was thrown out. In President Grant's message following his second inauguration, he pronounced that election a gigantic fraud. The vote that year was taken in charge and canvassed by this same returning board, the members then constituting it not having been changed, with a single exception. In 1873 the Wheeler compromise was arranged by the present republican candidate for the vice presidency—the whole arrangement being based on the admission that the election was a fraud, but it was better to concede a fair division of the government to each party than to have further contestations. Then the returning board was constituted exactly as it is now. Senator Carpenter, in a speech on the 30th of January, 1874, said of this board: "Thus it will be seen that the duty of the canvassers is simply ministerial." This was when such an opinion was necessary to the republican credit, and could be safely advanced without hazarding republican success.

We have no fears of the result. Too many eyes are upon the work being done in Louisiana, to permit indulgence in this last contemplated outrage and fraud. In neither Florida, South Carolina nor Louisiana have the republicans established their claim to a majority, and justice and fair play are sure to triumph at the counting of the electoral vote in congress.

if not before. As sure as the sun rises to-morrow, Tilden will be the next president of the United States. He has a majority of 300,000 earnest voters as his base, and even the republican party, with all its effrontery gained by success in crime, will dare to trifle with such a power as that.

The Rhinoceros.

In the Indian rhinoceros the posterior termination of the bony nostrils (the meosepirogoid fossa) is considerably narrower than in the Javan species, at the same time that the vomer terminates behind by becoming least, through fusion, in the pterygoid processes, instead of ending free, lamelliform and pointed. There is also an interesting difference between the skulls of the single and double-horned rhinoceroses, the external auditory meatus being embraced below by the fusion of the post-glenoid and the post-temporal processes of the squamosal portion of the temporal bone in the one group.

The above extract from the scientific magazine, Nature, will of course commend itself to every one, and, so far as it goes, coincides with our ideas exactly. But Nature seems to have forgotten to note the further distinction that in the Indian rhinoceros the cellular tissues of ossification are spheroidal in formation and impinge more directly upon the ganglionic than in any other species and that this materially affects the biological relations of the animal as well as the cosmogenous rudiments, which exist in a greater or less degree in each species and are traceable to the protoplasmic differentiation in the evolutionary processes.

The best living specimen of the animal now in this country, has just been re-elected to congress from the Essex district of Massachusetts, and he favors the permanent presidency of Ulysses the Besotted.

Will Contest.

The Fat Man from Hartford Won't Grace the Legislature.

(Mutineer's Enquirer.)

Our readers will rejoice to know that old Hartford's gallant son will yet represent us in the legislature. The republicans at Winton, willfully and knowingly violated the laws of the state in regard to conducting elections. They unfortunately allowed their republican zeal to get the upper hand of their judgment, and now they stand exposed and convicted in their attempt. Mr. Maddyre has already served a notice upon his competitor, Mr. Horton, that his seat in the legislature, given him by republican rule, will be contested on the grounds that the election at Winton, which gave him his seat, was conducted in open violation of the laws of the state. It is stated that the votes of some were openly refused because they were not republicans, and it is not denied that the polls were kept open as late as 8:30 p. m. The law on the subject is plain, and was fully furnished to the supervisor. Although ignorance is no excuse in law, they have not even this shadow. The law is made by the republicans of the state, and in the language of the scripture, "Let him that fighteth with the sword perish by the sword," and let our gallant Maddyre have the seat to which he is entitled.

One democratic member more or less will make no difference to us; but if Mr. Maddyre is entitled to the seat, he shall have it.

HOW MANY APPLES DID ADAM AND EVE EAT?

Some say Eve 8 and Adam 2, a total of 10 only. Now we figure the thing out far differently, Eve 8 and Adam 8 also. Total 16.—Boston Journal.

We think the above figures are entirely wrong. If Eve 8 and Adam 8-2, certainly the total will be 90. Scientific men, however, on the strength of the theory that the antediluvians were a race of giants, and consequently great eaters, reason something like this: Eve 8-1, and Adam 8-2. Total 163.—Gloucester Advertiser.

Wrong again; what could be clearer than if Eve 8-1, and Adam 8-1-2, the total was 89?—Boston Journal.

I believe the following to be the true solution: Eve 8-1-4 Adam, Adam 8-1-2-4 Eve. Total 9,938.—Veritas.

Still another calculation is as follows: If Eve 8-1-4 Adam; Adam 8-1-2-4 2 oblige Eve, total 82,056. We think, however, this not to be a sufficient quantity, for though we admit that Eve 8-1-4 Adam; Adam if he 80 8-1-2-4 keep Eve company, total 8,082,056.—New York Mail.

Not right yet. Eve 8-1-4-2 try it; Adam if he 8-1-2, 8-1-2-4-2 keep it going, total 81,249,384. Next.—Sentinel.

Still 40,000,000 people lamely and breathlessly await the action of a few dozen soundreins in Washington and New Orleans to settle whether we have a country or not.

PERSON COUNTY.

(Durham Tobacco Plant.)

No county in the state has more reason to be proud of her representatives elect to the next legislature. No county in the state will present an abler or more accomplished senator than Colonel John W. Cunningham. We have known him well, and it always gives us pleasure to have an opportunity to support him.

Montford McGeehan has been elected to the house of representatives by a handsome majority which reflects much credit upon the good people of Person. His scholarly attainments and legal mind peculiarly fit him for a legislator.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, leads in the popular demand for low prices. It has reduced its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day. NOV 17

Phonon Copyer, N. C., Nov. 11, 1876.
Not the least gratifying result of the late great campaign is the evidence which it affords that North Carolina still abounds in able statesmen and brilliant orators. No state exhibited a brighter array of talent and devotion, and it is not my purpose to discriminate where there are so many who have deserved well of their country; but I do wish to express my satisfaction at the manner in which an old friend, whose name heads this article, maintained his high reputation in the recent struggle through in the field with some of the strongest men of the nation. We have tried Gen. Ransom in the senate of the United States and found him the peer of its ablest men—and lately we have seen him throw forward as a leader in the grandest popular contest of modern times, and equal to the occasion, and ranking with the first orators and most devoted patriots of the age. We have fully proved his ability, his zeal and his fidelity, and I desire to say, with a proper appreciation of the merits of all the noble sons of the state, that this one has shown himself worthy of the confidence reposed in him, and should, therefore, be allowed to retain his high position. His re-election will in no way, disparage the merits of any other, but a failure to return him to the federal senate will necessarily imply a comparative want in him. These considerations I respectfully and earnestly submit to the attention of our people, and I cannot but hope that they will be properly weighed and appreciated, and that North Carolina will honor herself by returning to the national council one of its brightest ornaments, and one of its most esteemed and influential members. The question is not, is he the most deserving of our great statesmen, but has he proved himself the equal of the foremost, and has he exhibited convincing evidence of his devotion to the best interests of our people, and of his readiness to spend and be spent for them; and to this, as it seems to me, there can be but one answer, and I hope to see the approaching legislature make it with a hearty good will.

THE APPROACHING SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE.
(Correspondence of the Sentinel.)
The next session of the legislature will be one of the most important in our history. Among other measures, an effort will be made to reinstate the defunct Building and Loan Associations, with their exorbitant interest and their crushing hold upon the hard working, poor men of the country. The stunning blow of the supreme court has laid them in the dust, where, under their present ruinous management, they ought to be kept by the strong hand of the law. Let our legislators make a mistake, by giving them the power to do further damage. With the exception of a few moneyed stockholders, and the mechanics whom they have furnished with work, they have done no good to the country. On the contrary, they have enticed the unwary into putting their means into an institution, which has flooded the country with heavy mortgages, and holds the hard earnings of the poor absolutely at the power of a financial despotism. Let the legislature relieve the disabilities of these institutions and give the opportunity, and they will sell out of house and home hundreds of poor families in every city and town in the state, increase our financial distress, and cripple the democratic party at the very outset of its noble career in North Carolina. Let our representatives watch the game of these money-grabbers.

PERSONAL VARIETIES.

But few Americans are now going to Europe. And now they say Edwin Adams is not dead. The people of Louisiana regard Gen. Augur as a bore. The strangers in Philadelphia are rapidly thinning out. Carl Schurz is going to St. Louis to reside, and never more will he talk about the crimsoned undergarment. The best temperance lecturer is a good salt mackerel. If the man that eats one don't take water then he is a hopeless case. Of all the heart-rending sights to be seen on the streets of a city the saddest is to gaze upon an old bachelor lodging in the windows of a corset manufactory. Dr. John Dove, of Richmond, the oldest masonic grand secretary in the world, died Thursday. He had been a mason 63 years, and grand secretary over 50. A petrified trombone has been found in the ruins of Troy. It is supposed to have belonged either to the Italian brass band, or to one of the Greek toiletary deliques. Some men are like cats. You may stroke the fur the right way for years and hear nothing but purring; but accidentally tread on the tail and all memory of former kindness is obliterated. A young lady refused to attend church because her new hat had not been sent home, "I hate the devil and all his works," she said, "but I hate an old-fashioned bonnet more."

The would-be funny man of a rural paper wrote a squib and the dignified compositor up stairs bellooded down the pipe: "Is this a joke or an advertisement?" Such a salute is calculated to make a funny man take an interest in the means of clean suicide.

We now have the fall of the autumn leaf; also the fall of the man who steps on it on the wet pavement. A leaf no longer than a ten-cent note will get under the heel of a man worth $213,000, and make him sit down so suddenly that the most practical eye can't tell whether his hat or his collar button flew the highest.

When you have a thing to do, do it; and when you have a cough to cure, cure it, by using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the safest and best made.

MASON & HAMLIN

CABINET ORGANS

Have been unanimously assigned the "FIRST RANK in the Several Requisites"

Of such instruments, at the U. S. CENTENNIAL 1876, and are the only organs assigned this rank. Their superiority is thus declared, not in one or two respects only, but in all the important qualities of an organ. A medal and diploma have also been awarded them; but medals of equal value were awarded all articles deemed worthy of recognition, so that many unfair advertisements "first medals" or "highest awards."

Comparative rank in excellence has been determined by the judges' reports alone, in which the MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS are unanimously assigned "THE FIRST RANK in the several requisites" of such instruments, and are the only ones assigned this rank. See judges' reports. This result was unexpected, for these organs have uniformly taken highest awards in such competitions, there being less than six exceptions in hundreds of comparisons. They were awarded first medals and highest honors at Paris, 1866; Vienna, 1873; Santiago, 1875; Philadelphia, 1876, having thus been awarded highest honors at EVERY WORLD'S EXHIBITION at which they have competed, and being the only American organs which ever obtained any award in Europe.

NEW STYLES, with improvements exhibited at the Centennial; elegant new cases in great variety. Prices very lowest consistent with best material and workmanship. Organs sold for cash or on installment or rented until rent paid. Every organ warranted to give entire satisfaction to every reasonable purchaser, or the money returned.
