

Indications for the South Atlantic States are fair weather, northeasterly winds, stationary or lower temperature and higher pressure.

New Arrivals.—Shoes, trunks, etc. Stronach & Belo—Auction.

Walter B. Gwynn & Co.—Suburban residence for sale.

Observations.

Cold weather.

Look out for thieves.

There were no cases before the Mayor yesterday.

Another ship on its way to the world to last is under way.

There was no news in any of the departments at the capital yesterday.

One hundred men are employed on water works now being constructed at Charlotte.

Regular meeting of W. G. Hill Lodge to-morrow evening. A full attendance is requested.

The receipts of cotton in wagon yesterday were smaller than in five years past, at this season.

A german complimentary to several "sinners" will be given at Henry Hall to-morrow evening.

Andrews & Ferral expect to receive on Tuesday another large supply of fine pecans direct from Louisiana.

There was considerable talk on the streets yesterday about the supposed murder of Watson, the railway agent at Selma.

Hon. W. G. Turner, member of Congress from the second Georgia district, is in the city, the guest of Dr. V. E. Turner, his brother.

A fashionable marriage is to be one of the events of this week, and will be celebrated at Christ church early Wednesday morning.

The ladies of the congregation of the First Presbyterian church will have dime parties at the session room next Thursday and Friday evenings.

The Newbern papers state that the schooner James M. Watson of Philadelphia, is daily looked for with coal for Mr. R. J. Harris in Raleigh.

Commissions have been issued to the officers of the Pasquotank Rifles, of Elizabeth City, North Carolina. It is Company K, of the Third Regiment.

Yesterday's cotton receipts were 312 bales; last week were 2,780, and the total this season is 37,014 bales. Last year up to this time our receipts were 49,431.

Remember the sale of the Traxic land at the court house to-morrow at 12 o'clock, by W. H. Pate, commissioner. The land is near B. H. Pate, and is a good one to make a good investment.

There will be a meeting of the Academy of Medicine to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock for the election of officers for the ensuing year. Every member is requested to be present.

We learn that large quantities of wine are being shipped this season from the vineyards near this city. It is to be regretted that this vineyard made no display at Atlanta.

The Monogram Club will give another of their pleasant Monday evening entertainments to Misses Guernsey and Tannahill, of New York, and Miss Alice Plummer, of Petersburg, Va.

Rev. J. M. Atkinson will preach at the Second Presbyterian church this morning, at 11 o'clock, and at the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 p. m. The services will be held as usual, at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., by the regular pastors.

And now Mr. Heller tells our readers that he has also a fine present in his elegant shoe store. There are shoes and slippers of young and old, for dancing and for the ride country. Heller's stock is this season larger and better than ever.

The board of commissioners of Durham county has appointed Messrs. John M. Moring, Dunson Cameron, G. A. Barbee and J. P. Nichols commissioners to confer with the commissioners of Wake county in regard to the sale of Wake's debt which Durham county is to assume. They will meet our commissioners here at the January meeting.

We regret to learn that the venerable and recently blind Mrs. Ellen L. Taylor of this city, was taken suddenly ill on Friday morning and was worse last evening, and her condition regarded as critical. This announcement is regrettable, as she had many friends in this city and throughout the State.

The entertainments to be given by Boston Ladies Lodge, I. O. O. F., at Metropolitan Hall on the evenings of Wednesday and Friday bids fair to be especially enjoyable. The attendance will be large, and there will be music, etc. There will be a drawing of $100, etc., among other attractions.

The Newbern Commercial News says: Judge Gilmer adjourned court and left for home Thursday morning. He has ended his fall circuit and now has a rest until the first Monday in January, when the quarterly term of Wake Superior Court begins. It is the expression of some of our members of the bar that Judge Gilmer is one of the best judicial officers in the State.

The grocery store of Moore & Pagan is certain well stocked with Christmas goods, and is another of our favorites. There are Nunn's choice canned fruits and vegetables; raisins, figs, jellies, all kinds of fruit butters, sauces, cat-ups, etc., in great variety, carefully selected. The store is at the corner of Salisbury and Hillboro streets.

Any parcel of third class matter (books, magazines, newspapers, etc.) or of fourth class matter (letters or family parcels) deposited in a post office for transmission in the mail, which is sealed, sealed, sealed, or fastened in any manner, so that it cannot be easily examined, is subject to postage at the rate of three cents per half ounce or fraction thereof. The parcel may be used in such a manner as to be capable of any examination, in which it will pass at the lower rates of postage. As the ruling of the department will be strictly enforced hereafter, it will be advisable for the sender of any parcel to have his or her name and address printed or written on the wrapper, so that it may be returned if "held for postage."

United States Circuit Court.

This court, which has been in session here for the past two weeks, after the adjournment of all the business on the several calendars in which the government was directly interested, on Thursday last, on account of the continued indisposition of its Hon. W. Brooks, took a recess until the second of January, 1882, at which time his Honor Hugh L. Bond will probably be present and take up the civil calendar, upon which there are several cases of any account. It is reported that the clerk and marshal ordered to draw and summon a special venire of fifteen men to serve as jurors for the adjourned session.

A Possible Murder.

Mr. H. L. Watson, the agent of the North Carolina Railroad at Selma, left for New York a couple of weeks ago. A few days since his wife, a sister of Mr. J. T. Moore, of Raleigh, received a letter postmarked at Wilmington, Delaware, with an endorsement by the postmaster there that it was sent there under cover from Charleston, South Carolina. The letter stated that Mr. Watson, while on his way back from New York, in the Norfolk coast steamer Baltimore, was offered to show him the way up into the city, and when the three reached a dark alley, Mr. Watson was stabbed and robbed. There is much mystery about the entire affair. It is reported that Mr. Watson has died of his injuries.

Religious News.

Rev. T. A. Coon a well known Methodist minister, died at the parsonage, in Mocksville, Tuesday morning, November 22.

Bishop Wightman, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is lying in a very critical condition, and is not expected to recover.

The Lutheran Almanac for 1882 reports for the United States and Canada 56,597, 3,307 ministers, 6,851 churches, and 739,430 communicants.

The 18th of December will be a great day in the Vatican. Ceremonies of canonization will be performed in the cases of persons who have been decided worthy of it.

Rev. R. B. McAlpine, of the Presbyterian church at Goddardsboro, N. C., has received an invitation to visit the church at Brand N. M. A., with a view to call for the congregation, but has felt constrained to decline the acceptance.

St. Andrew's Methodist Church. The next conference goes to Raleigh. It was Mr. Coon's choice, for Raleigh was the only place that asked for it. It is, however, a difficult choice. There is no place for a conference in North Carolina. It is difficult for any place could have beaten Raleigh in the race.

Rev. H. M. Jordan, Rev. J. W. Randle, and Rev. H. F. Wiley were superannuated at our last North Carolina Conference.

Rev. Mr. Jordan, retired after a long career in the conference of 4 years ago. Randle and Wiley are yet young but broken down in health.

Arrangements are being made in Ellerbe, N. C., for an annual meeting of the ladies under the direction of Mrs. M. Moody and Sankey. It is stated that a number of ministers in Glasgow refused to sign a call for the ladies' services. N. C. has that no permanent goal had attended his previous visit. Mr. Moody is also invited to other places in Scotland.

There was a hearty and complete meeting at Rev. Dr. Burkhead, the new pastor of their new Methodist church. A paper of that place says: Dr. Burkhead returned to his home in 1882, but together with many of his flock were persecuted by one General Burnside to depart for other fields of labor and scenes more inviting. No member of his conference has ever had more distinguished honors bestowed upon him than he, and none more worthily. The Methodist congregation here may congratulate themselves that they have such a man to serve them. They may confidently promise themselves being ably served in the pulpit and in the work of the pastorate.

California Salmon in North Carolina.

Mr. Stephen G. Worth, superintendent of fisheries, has written a letter from Morganton to Forest and Stream, in which he says in regard to that fine fish, the California Salmon.

It would appear that a California salmon, arrived at maturity, has been taken in this State. Major J. W. Wilson, former president of the Fish Commission of the Western North Carolina Railroad, informs me in a letter of November 25 that he enjoyed one on Thanksgiving day, which was over a year and a half old, and weighed about five pounds. The fish was taken near Marshall, west of the Blue Ridge, from the French Broad River, on a trap. Other smaller specimens have been taken. The fish contained a row, so nearly ripe that it was not eaten. A few land-locked salmon and California trout were sent to tributaries of this stream in the spring of 1880, but they could not have grown so large in so short a time, and we are obliged to credit the specimen to a plant of twenty-seven thousand California salmon made there in December, 1877. I have other evidence of the presence of salmon in that stream, as they were taken and eaten last year. Major Wilson, however, is better acquainted with the salmon in a fresh state than most of our citizens, and his statement is more conclusive. Whether this specimen had ever left the headwaters to seek the Gulf of Mexico is a question.

Death of a North Carolinian in Mobile.

We find in Tuesday's Mobile Register an extended notice of the death of Dr. John W. Sandford, of this State, who died in a struggle with disease. The Register says of the deceased: Dr. Sandford was born in Fayetteville, North Carolina, November 3, 1834, and was therefore 47 years old at the time of his death. His education was at the Old North State continued undiminished through his life. He graduated at Chapel Hill University, North Carolina, in 1854; graduated at Jefferson Medical College in 1857; then passed an examination before the United States Naval Board, and then entered the navy as assistant surgeon in 1858. He served in the Mexican war, and was United States Navy Medical Officer in the United States Navy. He then served in the Confederate States Navy. His first service in the Confederate States was under Capt. J. D. Johnston, Savannah, and was afterwards at Smithville and Wilmington in charge of hospitals. At the close of the war Doctor Sandford graduated in Fayetteville for a short time. Upon the death of his father in 1870, he came to Mobile and took the position of book-keeper and cashier in the Western Union Telegraph Company. This position he retained up to his last illness. Doctor Sandford was a man of kindly and generous impulses. He had a pleasant word for all, and his politeness was that of the Old North State gentleman.

Supreme Court.

Court opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. All the Justices were present. The consideration of appeals from the ninth judicial district was resumed and cases were disposed of as follows:

State vs. J. P. Kymon, from Henderson; continued by consent.

State vs. John Ingram, from Henderson; motion to dismiss appeal for want of case assigning error; argued by Attorney-General Kagan for the State; no counsel for the defendant.

State vs. Chastain vs. Susan P. Chastain et al., from Clay; continued for absence of counsel.

State vs. Ephraim Woodfin, from Buncombe; argued by Attorney-General Kagan for the State; no counsel for the defendant.

James R. Trull et al. vs. Polly Rice et al., from Buncombe; argued by Reade, B. Abee & Butcher for the plaintiffs; no counsel for the defendant.

Miller & Green vs. W. T. Justice, from Buncombe; continued for want of counsel.

W. W. Rollins et al. vs. R. M. Henry et al., from Buncombe; petition to rehear filed and cause continued.

The foregoing concluded arguments for the present term, and court adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow (Monday) morning, when motions will be heard.

As Aggressive Equities. This position is a last year's pet squirrel escaped from its cage Friday morning and sought refuge in a neighbor's box, where it was seen sometime afterward, but it evaded capture and it was thought had left the premises. But not so, as the sequel will show. In the house to-day a genial old tacheur, well-known around the court house, and who had just returned from his home in White Mt. G., was enjoying the profound rest that only comes to those of his acquaintance, he was suddenly aroused by something pulling his hair, and he awoke to find the squirrel in his bosom. He did not look it, but insisted that he was not frightened. It is suggested that the squirrel would have found his granum a hard nut to crack.

The Cotton Market.

The market was quite active last week and the receipts exceeded those of the corresponding week last year by 375 bales, being 2,780 against 2,405. The total receipts this season to date are 37,014 bales, against 49,431 to same date last season; showing a decrease of 12,417 bales. The receipts to the same date in 1879 were 32,858 bales.

During nineteen centuries of visits old Santa Claus says his "sisters and his cousins" and his "aunts" tell of the fine old clock and lamps which loaded down the "Christmas tables. Santa says nobody ever gave dry goods, B. & B. Baking Powders, or any other articles. The next week he will send every one to Law's Silver and China House.
