By Telegraph.

WASHINGTON, April 11 .- SENATE .-Mr. Grover, from the military committee, reported an original bill (as a substitute for the pending measures) authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to examine and report to Congress the amount of all claims of the States of Texas, Oregon and Nevada and Washington and Idaho Territories, for money expended and indebt-edness assumed by said States and Territories because of Indian hostilities.

SENATE.-The Senate took up the cal endar and passed a number of private The Indian Territory Railroad bill, granting right of way to the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad, coming up as unfinished business, Mr. Hawley denounced it in the amended form in which it came from the railroad committee, as an attempt to violate the treaty rights of the Indians. Upon the pretext of ratifying an act of the Choctaw council, he said the bill proposed to seize their lands without providing any system for adjusting any rate of compensation therefor. He could conceive of emergencies in which the United States would have the right, in the proper legal sense of that term, to pass legislation in contravention of the treaty, but that duty required it to exhaust all other remedies before going to that extremity. He denied that the remedies had been exhausted in this instance, and asserted that in setting apart à strip of Indian country for railroad purpores the government was overriding ts uniform practice heretofore. My chief concern, he added, is not because I see Indians wronged, but that my government, under treaty with twenty or thirty thousand Indians, will do that which it would not dare to do under a treaty with Great Britain. I want Uncle Sam to be a gentleman, and that is all. The discussion then turned upon the pending amendment of Mr. Ingalls, requiring the consent of the Choctaws and Chickasaws to the act to be obtained before the act shall take effect. Mr. Jonas, of Louisiana, opposed the amendment as virtually the defeat of the bill, as the Chickasaws had announced that they would never grant the right of leged to have been already given by the hoctaws, and that tribe had declared in favor of the proposed road by electing public officers friendly to the grant. The rights of the Chickasaws were not effected, as the road would not reach their lands. House.-The morning hour having been dispensed with, Mr. Ryan, of Kansas, from the committee on appropriations, reported back Senate bill appropriating $50,000 to provide for the deficiency in the appropriation for the subsistence and care of the Indians in charge of the Chey enne and Arrapahoe agencies in the Indian

Mr. Randall, of Pennsylvania, held that this was a bill in line of the general appro riation for the support of the government, and as such could not be originated by the Senate.

House.-The Senate bill was accordingly withdrawn and an original bill to the same effect introduced in the House and passed.

The House went into committee of the whole on the postoffice appropriation bill with the Senate amendments.

The following Senate amendments were concurred in: Appropriating $35,000 for furnishing fourth class postmasters with the necessary implements for cancelling stamps, etc.; increasing the appropropri ation for compensation to clerks in the postoffices by $150,000; increasing by $500,000 the appropriation for mail transportation by railroads, providing that if any person shall bereafter perform any service for any mail contractor, in carrying the mail, he shall have a lien on any money due by the Postoffice Department to the contrator. The amendment restoring the franking privilege was then reached, and a number of members opposed the amendment, among them Canon, of Illinois; Hill, of New Jersey; Townshead, of Ohio; Robeson and Cobb of Indiana; Upde-graff, of Ohio. Browne, of Indiana, was glad to see the paroxysmal economy which had come over the House. It was not often that a tidal wave of that kind came along, but when it did he wanted to get on the top wave and float with the balance. The franking privilege as it now existed covered everything that members of Congress could ask. Car loads of stuff were sent under it every day, and Congress was running a huge printing office. An allowance of $125 to each member for stationery was sufficient to pay every penny of his postage and per-haps give him an opera glass or two. If the House desired to put money into the Treasury it should abolish the printing of 95 per cent. of matter which was now printed. There were innumerable bills which died in committee which had to be printed. Memorials were printed and specches were printed. If the man who invented the Congressional Record still lived, he ought to arraigned before a military tribunal, condemned and shot. It had killed more members of Congress than Kidwell bottoms (the Potomac flats.)

After a long discussion, almost entirely in disproval of it, the Senate amendment was non-concurred in, as were also a large number of less important amendments and the committee having risen, the House then went into committee of the whole on the tariff commission bill, and Cox, of North Carolina, opposed the measure as one which would only delay the revision of the tariff and prevent the removal of incongruities which existed in it. He contended that the House, through its committee on ways and means, should immediately proceed to legislate intelligently on the subject. The committee then rose.

Mr. Henderson, of Illinois, from committee on railways and canals, reported the bill for the construction of the Illinois and Mississippi Canal. Referred to committee of the whole. Adjourned.

The Virginia Legislature,

NEW YORK, April 11 .- The Times' special from Richmond says: "A joint resolution passed by the Virginia House of Delegates authorizing the superintendent of the State prison to furnish convicts to keep in order the graves of thousands of the Confederate dead of the Army of Northern Virginia, who are buried in Hollywood Cemetery, near this city, has caused much criticism here. The duty of keeping these graves green is considered a sacred and holy one by the people of Virginia. The lives of thousands of men who fell while following Lee and Jackson lie buried in Hollywood. For the past fifteen years they have been cared for by the people of Richmond and its Washington News.

WASHINGTON, April 10.-Representative White, of Kentucky, to-day submitted to the House the following preamble and resolution, which were referred to the committee on Ways and Means :

Whereas, on Monday, April 3d, the rules were suspended and House bill No. 5,237, to amend the laws relative to the entry of distilled spirits in distillery and specially bonded warehouses, and the withdrawal of the same therefrom, was passed; and whereas the following letter was subsequently printed at the request of a member in the Congressional Record, to-wit: TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, WASHINGTON, April 3, 1882.

SIR-I acknowledge the receipt of your valued favor of this instant, in regard to House bill No. 5,237, which provides for an extension of the bonded period upon distilled spirits. The bill was prepered with great care and in respect to its machinery I am satisfied it will work admirably. The principle of the bill I think, is correct. Upon all manufactured articles upon which an internal revenue tax is levied, except in the case of distilled spirits, the manufacturer or owner is not compelled to remove the same from the place of manufacture until he can find sale for the product. This is so in respect to beer, tobacco, cigars, matches, etc. The extension of the bonded period to three years gave quite a stimulus to the manufacture of fine whisky. On the first of March last there were 69,243,835 gallons in the different warehouses in Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Maryland. It seems to me unreason able to suppose that these spirits can all be removed, for consumption within the time now required by law. If manufacturers and owners are required to pay the taxes within three years, I would expect to see such a decline in prices as would seriously embarrass many firms, probably cause many suspensions, unfavorably affect other branches of business, without any beneficial result to the government. think upon this ground alone the extension of the bonded period is entirely justified.

Very respectfully, GREEN B. RAUM,

Commissioner. To Hon. Benj. Butler, House of Representatives.

"And, whereas it appears that the proposed law will divert millions of public money from its way into the United States Treasury and divert the same to large manufacturers and owners of distilled spirits; therefore,

"Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be and he is hereby requested to report to this House his views on the subject matter of the letter, and the conduct of the head of the Internal Revenue Bureau, as to what improper influences, if any, were brought to bias his judgment in writing the same."
