The Weather To-Day.

Middle Atlantic States, partly cloudy weather and local rains, southwest to northwest winds; stationary temperature. South Atlantic States, partly cloudy weather and local rains, southwest to northwest winds, stationary temperature except in the extreme southern portions, slight rise in temperature.

Observations. The mayor yesterday tried no cases of any importance.

Some of the delayed mail, from the west arrived yesterday. The coming of the watermelon is an event awaited with eagerness Wild goose plums, very flue and large, have made their appearance.

The Republican State executive commit tee meets here on the 8th inst. People are all taking a rest after the political excitement of last week. A thorough sanitary inspection of the city should be made this week.

Yesterday morning's bright skies as a gleam of hope to the farmers. Another big iron bridge will be built, it is said, over the Roanoke at Weldon. The work on the new concert hall at Peace institute goes on quite rapidly. Mr. W. N. Brockwell will read the declaration of independence on the fourth. There have recently been some interesting additions to the geological museum.

The collections of internal revenue in this district during June were $27,393.78. Nothing has been heard recently about the street railway to the exposition grounds. There is considerable talk of holding the

A neat little private office is being pre-pared for the mayor. It adjoins the large trial room. The police made forty-eight arrests during June. These were no serious offences

Mr. A. S. Lee has gone to Hendersonof the mountain air.

As many as twenty marriage licenses were issued during June, the white people taking only six of these. Some dams in the country are reported broken by the floods. The damage to all bottom land is heavy. Mr. H. M. Cowan, of the treasury de p irtment, yesterday paid off the employees at the insane asylum. The fourth of July is once more a big day, and a dozen or more places will observe it in handsome style. The State fruit fair at Goldsboro next month promises to be the best ever held. It will be third in the series

Much of the small grain was vesterday spread so as to dry. A considerable pro-portion is injured, it is said.

Williamson & Upchurch have quite collection of specimens of small grain and grasses grown in this county. The drummers' licenses issued by the State treasury during June were twentythree in number, bringing in $2,300. The parade of the fire department will be a notable feature of the celebration of the fourth. It certainly was last year. Rev. J. P. Barrett says the Christian church will be ready for occupancy by the first of November; hardly before that time.

Mr. J. J. Jordan, of Panther Branch, yesterday brought in and sold the first watermelons from this county. They sold We have been asked to suggest that the fireworks could be displayed to more advantage on Saunders hill than at the foot of Fayetteville street. The pretty proportions of the new build ing at St. Mary's can now be readily seen. The design, both exterior and interior, is very attractive and novel here. This is the time of year when people use trunks. Brockwell, known as the trunk repairer, has his headquarters on South Salisbury street near the postoffice. It requires more time to complete the interior fittings of the jail than was thought probable, so it will hardly be ready to receive the prisoners before next week. To-day the Congressional convention of the third district will be held at Burgaw, Peuder county. Gov. Jarvis will be present, having left here yesterday for Burgaw. Hon. Edwin G. Reade has accepted an invitation to deliver the annual address before the bar association of western North Carolina, at Asheville the 9th of July.

Hook and Ladder company, No. 1, will meet promptly at their truck room Friday evening, July 4th, at 6 o'clock p. m., in full uniform. By order of foreman Wm. H.

The inspection of the Raleigh Light Infantry at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon will be an interesting sight. The company will parade in the new State uniform.

Otey, the barber, is temporarily in the room next door to the Yarboro office. His elegant new shop in the extension of the hotel will soon be ready for occupancy,

In many sections in the western part of the State typhoid fever is reported to be raging. At some points on Deep river there is said to be considerable fever of a fatal character.

It appears probable that all near-by points will be well represented here Friday at the fourth of July cerebration. The programmes are being carefully distributed on the railroads.

Mr. J. J Ryals, representing the widely known nurseryman, J. Van Lindley, Po mona Hill nurseries, Salem Junction, was here yesterday, and is taking orders for all kinds of fruit trees. He will be here some days Wake's exhibit of fruit at the exposition ought to be capitally displayed, in large jars, prepared in handsome style. Now is the time to secure specimens of wheat, rye and oats. These ought to be numerous, so that samples may be given visitors. It is indeed an amusing sight to witness a game of baseball between two juvenile clubs. The masters and misses take a most critical interest in the game and reproduce all the shouts, yells and other applause of their elders. The young ladies occupy positions of advantage on barn roofs, fences, etc., and applaud their champions, when a good hit is made, a ball neatly handled or a run scored.

Some farmers were specially unlucky ast week. On Tuesday their cotton was washed up, Wednesday it was "reset," so to speak, Thursday it was washed up again, Friday it was "reset," and once again, on Saturday, it was washed pretty nearly away. Some farmers gave it up after the second attempt.

Some of the most curious specimens of architecture in the city are to be found in the southwestern portion. The colored people have exercised all their ingenuity, it would appear, in constructing queer dwellings.

Weeds are growing rapidly. Pools of water stand everywhere. It is a time when the people should see that lime is liberally used in disinfecting their premises. There is need for caution now and it ought to be exercised. The attention of the city authorities as well as the public is called to

The oldest inhabitant was yesterday in terviewed about the weather, and declared that he had never seen such a summer, so far as rain and cool weather together were concerned. He said the cool nights were remarkable features. He inclined to the opinion that there would be very little hot weather and that the autumn will be a long

One of the most beautiful places, and a the same time one of the least known, in all this section is Spring Hill, the property of Mr. William Grimes. From it can be had the best view of Raleigh. It is well worth going all the way to see. The place is high and breezy, green grass is every-where, and the Jersey and Devon cattle are The Bastball Match Between the Care lina and Swiftfoot Clubs.

We have received two communications from the Carolina club relative to the game played at Wake Ferest. In one of them it s stated that the statement made in this paper by Mr. White, the umpire, was submitted to Mr. Spalding, who thereupon gave his opinion tost on the facts, as stated the run ought not to have been counted. We have declined to allow the baseball controversy to go on further in our columns, but deem it proper to state the above fact. Since writing the above we learn that Mr. White has himself written to Mr. Spalding, of Chicago, and that his letter has been by that gentleman referred to a well known Chicago sporting paper in whose columns the answer will be published.

i he Euterpean Club. This well known and popular musical organization, whose performances have given pleasure to so many people, has oc-cupied new quarters in the third floor of the Kline building at the northeast corner of East Hargett and Fayetteville streets. The room is a very large one and will give the members and their friends ample space. The proceeds of the concert to be given by the club Sept. 12 will be devoted to fitting up this room in proper style, with carpet, chairs, etc. The orchestra practices frequently and is making special preparations for the presentation Sept. 12, at the anni-versary concert, of an elaborate and very pleasing programme. The Euterpean club should be encouraged in all ways. Any persons desiring to become an honorary member can procure tickets of such membership by presenting their names to any member of the club within the next thirty from the summer capital as follows: "I have been a sojourner at the Atlantic hotel for several days and find it everything that could be desired. I can say with truth the cuisine is equal to any hotel north and far superior to any hotel in the Southern States. There are about two hundred and fifty guests in the house, representing several States. Mrs. Mullen represents Maryland, Mrs. Colquitt and Mrs. Hillyer representing Georgia, and the beautiful Miss McCreary well representing the Palmetto State. Among the prominent North Carolinians I see on the floor of the spacious ball room are Gov. Jarvis, Hon. Louis C. Latham, Col. Faison, Col. John L. Morehead, Col Whitford, Mr. George Brown, Mr. Clem. Manly, Mr. James A. Bryan, Dr. Dabney, Dr. R. B. Haywood, Dr. James McKee, Dr. Jones, Charlotte, Gen. Robert Ransom and Alderman Moring, of Raleigh. Most of these gentlemen have their families with them and Raleigh is well represented by Mrs. Dabney, Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Julius Lewis, Mrs. Moring, Mrs. Faison, Mrs. Gatling, Mrs. B. F. 0.30 o'clock. Augola Bay. Dr. Chas. W. Dabney has been in the great swamp known as "Angola" bay, and brings back most interesting accounts of its wonders. It is of great extent, there being in it, upon a rough computation, 40,000 acres of land. The fertility is inconceivably great. It is now being drained and divided into sections, each four miles square. It presents such a view to the explorer as does a tropical forest. Indeed it s tropical in many of its characteristics. Enormous vines and creepers wrap the rees, small and large, in their close embrace, and run riot, at the earth's surface and far above. The most beautiful and fragrant wild flowers are there in luxuriant profusion and infinite variety of color and odor. The blue jessamine is one of the most fragrant of all. The progress of the great canal or ditch through the swamp is satisfactory and it will develop some of the best land to be found anywhere.

In the year 1857, while on a visit to Chapel Hill, a picture of George III was shown me by a son of Governor Swain, that tallies with the description of the one given in your issue of June 22d.

Lossing in his Field Book of the Revolution says in a note on page 392, volume 2, that 'Greene was quartered at Salisbury in the house of Elizabeth Steele, a patriot of purest mould. While he was at the table, she brought him two bags cull of specie, the earnings of years of toil, and presented them to him, saying, take them, for you will want them, and I can do without them. Greene was grateful, and before he left her house he wrote upon the back of a portrait of the King hanging in the room 'O, George, hide thy face and mourn,' and then hung it up with the face to the wall. That portrait, with the writing, is in the present possession of the Hon. David L. Swain, of Chapel Hill." H.

Our correspondent is right-it is the same picture and Gen. Greene doubtless wrote the words still upon its back. We have heard the above circumstance, with this addition-the picture was in the bed-room occupied by Gen. Greene.

friends, it is but just that I give my reasons for withholding from the late convention in Raleigh the name of Dr. R. L. son and W. G. Upchurch, recorded Abernethy as a candidate for superintend- in said office in Book 67, at page 577, and ent of public instruction. I beg to assure those friends that it was from no doubt of their support or fear of his failing to obtain the nomination. Barke presented two candidates, Col. Tate for treasurer, and Dr. Abernethy for superintendent. The entire Burke delegation, with the exception of myself, were from Col. Tate's immediate home, and necessarily under his influence. So when it soon Lecame evident that Burke would be allowed only one of her candidates, in accordance with what I knew to be the will of Dr. Abernethy I withdrew his name in favor of Col. Tate. In behalf of Dr. Abernethy, I desire to thank those friends who in- maing lots are suitably situated for pri sisted on his nomination and the members of the press for their kind words, and as sure them that in his chosen vocation he will always be found laboring for the good of North Carclina.
