The "Exlavigator" is the name of a new weekly published at Asheville by Mr. J. B. Davidson, which has entered the journalistic world with very sudden suddenness. Its name is of Irish descent, and freely translated into the vernacular, savs the talented and clever editor, means to "hit with a brick." The paper is as unique as its name—there is none other like it on earth. The paper will at oace amuse, edify and instruct all the brethren of the press, this week and let us hope long after. Col. DeWitt Clinton Stone died at Wichita Falls, Texas, recently. He was born at Hilliardston, Nash county, N. C., Oct. 7 1825. He served in Nash as prosecuting attorney and judge. He was a graduate of the University of North Carolina. In 1860 he went to Galveston, Texas, and became president of the cotton exchange and mayor of that city. His remains were taken to Galveston and were given a public funeral.

Mr. Moses N. Amis, of Raleigh, who stepping to the front as an inventor, has added another to his new inventions. His first was a combined galley support and proof sheet holder; the second a combined guide and copy-holder. These will be manufactured by the Enterprise manufacturing company, of Philadelphia, and soon placed upon the market. The last invention is a combination of a side-stick and quoins, for locking up type galleys for proving. Like the other inventions, it has merits which commend it.

The Buildings Completed—7 he County Displays—The List of Special Days. Interest in the coming State exposition increases as the time of holding it approaches. The buildings are now all ready for the reception of the exhibits, and it behooves the county committees who have charge of this work to hasten their exhibits to Raleigh. Letters have been sent the chairmen of all the county committees asking them to have all of their material in Raleigh by the 20th of September. This days before the railroad running through the main building is closed up, and thus save to the counties the cost of drayage and loss of time. The counties have been given the very best locations in the main building, and it is expected that each county will make its exhibit of the most attractive and interesting character; in fact we know that this feature of distinctive county exhibits will prove most va. nable in that it creates a pleasant rivalry in displaying products and in decorating the exhibits. Descriptions of the county exhibits indicate that they will be much more elaborate than was at first contemplated Handsome lithographs and colored posters have been sent broadcast over the State, from which a fa'r bird's-eye view of the main building may be had. These have also been distributed in all the States adjoining. The large engines and boilers for running the machinery are now being placed, and rest assured that this exhibit of all kinds of manufacturing machinery in motion is going to prove very entertaining to many people in North Carolina. But the main feature of this article is to impress the people with the importance of having their exhibits in Raleigh on time. The gates to connected with county or private exhibits will be admitted. On and after the 25th of September the regular gate fees will be charged, viz: Fifty cents for adults and twenty-five cents for children. SPECIAL DAYS.

Very Sad D. ath. A week ago yesterday Julius Rosenthal the bright little son of Mr. L. Rosentbal, was playing in a store on Fayetteville street, belonging to his father, and a splinter from a plank in the floor ran into his foot. The splinter was over two inches long. A physician administered chloroform and got out a portion of the splinter. Next day Julius was walking about. Unfortunately all of the splinter was not extracted. Monday lockjaw supervened. Yesterday at 1 o'clock p. m. the poor little fellow died in great agony. It is peculiarly sad, as the child was so well known and so much liked by his playmates. The funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock to-day, from the residence. Friends and acquaintances are invited to attend. Yesterday the Virginians, of Norfolk, came here and met a pleasant reception. They played the Swiftfoots at 4 p. m. About 800 people saw the game. The visitors did not play a game remarkable for scoring, but they are such clever young men as to atone for their lack of experience. There were only seven innings played. The Swiftfoots scored 36, the visitors 5. The pitcher of the Virginians was quite a good one, but was badly supported behind the bat. Perry, of the Swiftfoots, pitched in his best style, and Botto played a strong game as catcher. The visitors only got seven base hits off Perry, while the home club made twenty-eight base hits. The visitors changed their battery several times. No less than eighteen passed balls were scored against them; while Botto was only charged with two. The Weather Man. The local "Old Probabilities," by which affectionate sobriquet Mr. Hudgings is known, has given us some queer weather this season. He is perhaps excusable, by reason of the fact that it is his first year. But as the months go by he does not improve on his earliest attempts. He yesterday confessed to a reporter that he had been injudicious. He had failed to calculate his water supply for the year and so exhausted it by the middle of August. The reporter suggested that he might have spared the moisture until the autumn and given nightly doses of it during the expo-sition, but "Old Probs" became so dejected at his failures and shortcomings, all for lack of calculation, that the subject was not further pursued. With tears in his eyes he confessed that he could not now make the least bit of a promise of rain in a The Electric Light. It is now definitely settled that the electric light will be one of the features at the exposition. Not only will there be powerful lights in the building, but others will be placed on top so as to throw their radiance far and wide. But few people in the they will have at opportunity to see it in operation.

Battles and Leaders of the Civil War. Under this title "The Century" will begin with the November number of the present year, and continue without intermission (if possible), a series of separate papers, the object of which is to set forth, in clear and graphic manner, the life and spirit of the most important of modern military conflicts-the War for the Union. The main portion of the scheme will be pa pers of a popular character on the great enegagements of the war, by general officers high in command at the time, either upon the Union or the Confederate side. plan will enable them to be on hand five many instances the contributor will be the officer of first command, and in every instance a participant in the engagements un. der consideration. For instance, the bat-tles of Shiloh and Vicksburg will be described by General U. S. Grant, who will contribute four papers to the series; Gen- reported him as "lost." eral Beauregard will write of the First Bull | Run: General McClellan, of Antietam; General Rosectans, of Stone River, etc., etc. The passage of the forts below New Orleans will be described by Admiral Porter, and the Western gun-boat service by Rear Admiral Walke, and the fight between the Monitor and the Merrimac by Colonel John Taylor Wood, the senior surviving is to be sought is a matter that must be officer of the latter vessel. Other prominent Confederate generals have engaged to contribute, and some of the contributions will be hardly less notable than those above mentioned. In several instances briefer supplementary papers will chronicle special incidents or consider special phases of an engagement. Personal reminiscences of several of the most prominent military leaders, now dead, will also give variety to the scheme.

The illustrations of the scheme will ceive the most careful attention, and in this particular it is thought that the series very large quantity of maps and plans, por traits of general officers of both sides, authentic paintings and drawings, and es pecially photographs of camp scenes, battle-fields, famous localities, etc., etc. Having the aid of such resources of pen and pencil, the conductors of the magazine feel a reasonable confidence that this pubpersonal interest (setting forth the color as well as the form of the great battles), but also a historical value not easily to be calculated. The aim is to present, not official reports, but memoirs-no less authoritative (though, of necessity, less minute) in strategy and tactics, but laying more stress upon the heroic aspects of the great con-

Gen. Burgevine. [Cor. of the NEWS AND OBSERVER.]

CHAPEL HILL, September 8. One who knows the Burgevine family well, while it resided in New Berne, writes me that there is little doubt that the General Burgevine, who was first friend and then foe to General Gordon in China, was a son of our old French teacher. He left home early in life and became a soldier of fortune. Forbes describes him as a brilliant fellow, a man of energy, able to talk in many languages, of pleasing manners, but utterly unscrupulous, without fear of man or of God. When the Chinese got hold of him, after his desertion, they soon

Love in the Organ Loft

[Brooklyn Eagle.] Whether thought and feeling are but manifestations of vibratory undulations. as the materialists do vainly boast, or w lether some yet more occult explanation hereafter determined. Certain it is, however, that the undulations which affect the auditory apparatus as music to be carried to the sensorium for interpretation appear to be singularly favorable to the establishment of that beffling relation between persons of opposite sex termed love. The influence of music upon the emotions has long been recognized and turned to account in preparing the mind for the reception of religious truths. The malleable condition the grounds will be closed on the 15th of September to the public, and only persons est.
