RALEIGH, N. C., FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 1, 1886.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than ordinary kinds and cannot be said in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders, Sold only in cans. Boyal Baking Powders, Co., 103 Wall Street, New York.
Sold by W. C. & A. B. Stronach, George T. Stronach and J. B. Ferrall & Co.

Absolutely Pure.

A Happy New Year to everybody the greeting we send to all from the RACKET STORE.

We are going to do all we can make everybody happy, and if you will do what we intend to do and what we tell you to do you will master the mul-, titude of life's ills: Keep out of debt. Till your crops with a hoe and the owner of every hill of corn or cotton or tobacco you grow, unless you have Did you know the credit system took or cotton, for it takes just that much of ing there is in the credit system, for if

The credit system don't bring very much happiness to anybody. It is all "hope deferred." The RACKET STORE comes to you with the new and better way; with a live cash business based on quick sales and small profits. Six months of Racket life has done much to develop the advantages we are able to give you. Six months has developed the fact that Racket values have mastered the field and placed it in the lead of the trade in Raleigh. Six months has decided that it pays to have our buyers always in the market, gathering bargains from the slaughter-pens of credit, and six months has decided that our efforts to supply the people with the greatest value for the least money has met their approval and tells us in thunder tones the determination of the masses to free themselves from the bondage of the credit system and that henceforth they will use the ready doliar instead of paying double for their merchandise.

-A real live Polish prince, Poniatowski by name, is keeping bachelor's hall on a farm of thoroughbred horses near Athens, Ga.

-"Boys, these days," remarked a newsboy as he picked up the stump of a cigar, and puffed away at it, "begin where grown people leave off."

-The Vanderbilt heirs took their shares of the dead man's money without grumbling or contest. Even those who were cut off with a beggarly ten millions decided not to make a russ or call in the lawyers, a determination which was quite sensible on their par . but very distressing to the lawyers.

-Tea drinkers in this country will be interested in the statement that half a milition poddius of willow leaves disguised as tea were shipped to America from Shanghai last year-and this notwithstanding a law to prevent such importations. The fame of English tea is ased upon the care used in that counry to prevent adulterations.

-Tiny muffs of silk lace and velvet are carried in ball-rooms by Parisian women. They are of the smallest poshim to charge such prices sible dimensions. Another fashion to be chronicled is that of carrying small "reticules," such as were affected some years ago. Every sort of material is used in the manufacture of these useful receptacles. Some are highly ornate. One in white plush recently noted, was mounted with gilt, another of pale blue velvet had a massive silver mount.

> -The farmer who plows and cultivates fifty acres of land to produce an amount of grain which by a better and more intelligent system of farming might be produced on twenty-five acres, is at a largely increased expense in doing it. He must keep an extra team, which must be fed the entire year, whether at work or not, an extra set of ploughs, cultivators, harness, etc., which must be kept in repair, and must pay wages and furnish board to an extra band during the larger part of the year, and these items foot up a large sum in a few years. No farmer could double his yield per acre at once on his crops by reducing his area under cultivation one half, but there is little doubt that it could be done on many farms within five years if a rotation was followed which gave a clover sod for corn and potatoes, and all the manure was saved and concentrated on the smaller area, and cultivation made as thorough as possible. Usually the adoption of this plan would not call for reducing the size of the farm, but more grass and clover would be grown and more stock kept to make manure, and the acres not under cultivation would be managed with a view of developing plant food for succeeding crops. Some one in writing on this subject has used this illustation. He says: "In our cities the price of real estate is so great that, to make it profitable, the buildings must be built many stories high. And four-story farms." The idea is a good are but one-story, and with low ceilings at that, that they try to add a story to
