RACKET STORE.

Men rise and fall and are lost sight of in the rapidly changing scenes of life, but principles live on. We are fully aware that in changing our location to the other end of the line of Racket work we will be measurably lost to many most pleasant acquaintances we have made since coming to Raleigh, but with all this we are glad to repeat again the Racket has "come to stay" and its principle, of giving to the masses their merchandise fresh from the slaughter-pens of credit, will live on and the sphere of the Racket is only enlarged and bettered in every way, for it is transferred to one of the founders of the great system with its grand center in New York; a system that works a revolution wherever it touches, in favor of the masses, giving them a retreat from the pit-falls of credit. Mr. Parcell, who takes our place, you will find a perfect gentleman, of undoubted integrity and ability, and while we bespeak for him your confidence, we know his ability and willingness not only to duplicate our prices, but to cut them in your favor wherever possible. Mr. Parcell is receiving the largest stock of goods ever in the Racket and will use every exertion to supply the wants of everybody in all lines with the greatest value for the least money.

With our heartfelt thanks to all, especially those who fought our values and sent us the trade, for one and all we shall ever cherish the kindest memories.

Respectfully,

W. J. DAVIS & CO.

Pere Hyacinthe has been writing to a journal in Paris urging the abolition of the French presidency. One man in power smacks of royalty, he thinks, and so he favors the substitution of elective consulates for Presidents.

The present week is one of expectancy for those who are interested in the Irish question. The lines between the tyrannical and the conciliatory policies will necessarily assume some distinctness, and there will be much revealed that there is an anxiety to know about.

Alphon H. Budlong is a young military man long to be remembered by old soldiers. He was a lieutenant in the Ninth cavalry, at Fort Leavenworth, and resigned in order to become a soldier in the camp, that professedly he did. His offense was rank, and he nipped it in the bud.

M. de Freycenet has evidently heard of the man who got rich by attending to his own business, and thinks that it will be a good rule for France to follow. He therefore announces that he will not keep any more foreign iron in the fire than he can help and will endeavor to make ends meet at home.

Large quantities of ice, six inches in thickness and of splendid quality, have been cut and housed at Augusta, Ga., by an enterprising firm, who expect to reap large returns. It is said this is the first time in the history of Augusta that natural ice has been stored away in the city.

Ex-Senator Thurman, of Ohio, writing to his old friend, O. B. Ficklin, of Illinois, uses the following language: "You will never be gratified by seeing me in public life again. I am now on the retired list, with my own full content, and with no inclination whatever for active life except as a citizen."

When Gen. Sherman was at Fort Bayard he was asked by an Indian chief for an old field-piece that stood out in the enclosure. "Can't have it," was the answer. "Why not?" "What do you want with it; to kill soldiers?" "Soldiers! Ugh, no. Use 'em to kill cowboys. Kill soldiers with club."

The smoke of hell in the performances of "Orpheus" at the New York Academy of Music is said to be very "natural." In other words, it is much like the smoke of that other populous city, London. This stage smoke is produced by a new method. Electric lights are set behind colored glasses of different hues, and as these glasses are moved there appear to rise ever-changing clouds, blue, green and black by turns, or variously mingled.

William K. Vanderbilt has bought Jekyll island, one of the most beautiful of the Georgia coast, for a winter resort. It is about nine miles long and about two wide, and its whole length forms one of the most beautiful beaches of the Atlantic coast. Andrew Carnegie, the millionaire iron king of Pennsylvania, now owns the extreme end of Cumberland island, adjoining Jekyll, and has spent a quarter million dollars in improving it, his house alone costing $150,000.

A New Orleans dispatch announces the death in that city of Marie Augustin, colored, aged 125 years. She was a native of Africa, and was brought to this country when about twenty years of age. She was in good health until a month ago, when she began to decline and gradually sank. She retained her mental faculties to the last. She remembered throughout her life the language she had learned in Africa, and also spoke English and French fluently.

The exclusiveness of the Chinese, which was regarded by us as an evidence of barbarity, until we imitated it by excluding Chinamen, finds parallels in Germany and Russia. About a hundred thousand Prussians have been ordered to leave the dominions of the Czar within eight months, and the Poles continue to be driven out of eastern Prussia. An American citizen has been also been requested to leave by the German or Prussian government, Bismarck is to be asked in the Landtag why the Poles must go, and our state department will probably display a little curiosity in regard to our citizen. The real Bismarckian reply is that none but German citizens are wanted in Germany. This comes about as near being exclusive as the Chinese.

For those to whom the stately style of coiffure is found most becoming, there are now a number of pretty and graceful modes of arranging the tresses. One is called the "Leah" style, in which the hair is all combed to the crown of the head, and there tied. A very wide basket-pleating is then made of the entire length of hair, and when completed this is laid in an upright coil about the head and above the waved front. A large jeweled comb is set at the back just where the hair is first tied. For another style, the hair is tied, then disposed all over the crown of the head in coils or soft loops, these held in place by head pins set with "electric" diamonds. With evening dress blondes wear strings of pearls interwined with these coils; brunettes choose garnets.

CONGRESSIONAL.

THE SILVER MATTER TOUCHED VERY LIGHTLY.

The Fitz John Porter Bill Reported and Endorsed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—SENATE.—Mr. Morrill, from the committee on finance, reported a resolution extending the custom house investigation ordered for the port of New York to such other ports as the committee might deem best. Mr. Harrison's resolution of yesterday, to admit Mr. Moody, of Dakota, to the floor of the Senate, was laid before the Senate.

Mr. Vest yielded to no man in courtesy to a political or personal opponent, but thought the people whom Mr. Moody represented had not been courteous to the Senate, and Mr. Vest believed that courtesy should be reciprocal. Those people had acted against the deliberate parliamentary action of Congress and had taken action that Mr. Vest declared to be revolutionary.

Mr. Salsbury moved to amend Mr. Harrison's resolution by adding: "That the courtesy hereby extended shall not be considered as indicating any recognition of the right of Dakota to admission as a State into the Union." Mr. Butler expressed himself as willing to admit Mr. Moody to the floor, but thought Mr. Salsbury's amendment a very proper one. Mr. Salsbury did not want the courtesy extended to Mr. Moody to be understood in Dakota. It was not to be taken as a pre-judgment of the application of Dakota for admission. Mr. Salsbury's amendment was lost; yeas 22, nays 29.

The resolution admitting Mr. Moody to the courtesy of the floor was agreed to.

Mr. Ingalls' resolution of yesterday was placed before the Senate, calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to what proportion of the $10,000,000 of bonds called for February 1st was held by national banks, and how much by each bank. Mr. Ingalls modified his resolution by withdrawing a clause requiring the naming of specific banks. He did this, he said, at the request of persons interested in some banks whose bonds had been called in for payment in February, and who feared that publication of that fact might interfere with or impair their credit.

Mr. Fry's resolution of yesterday, regarding the President's recommendation for a fishery commission, was placed before the Senate and without debate referred to the committee on foreign relations.

Mr. Ingalls offered a resolution, which without debate was agreed to, directing the secretary of the treasury to inform the Senate what amount of silver bullion had been purchased for coinage in each year since July 1, 1880; in what market the same had been purchased in each case, and from whom, and the price paid; also whether in any instance all bids had been rejected, and if so for what reason, and in what money or currency payment for such silver bullion had been made.

The presidential count bill was placed before the Senate, but was informally laid aside.

Mr. Teller addressed the Senate on the silver question, in favor of the free coinage of silver. Mr. Morrill gave notice, "reluctantly," he said, of his intention to ask the Senate to listen to him for a short time tomorrow, on the subject of silver, a "subject," Mr. Morrill ironically remarked, "which seems to attract so enthusiastic a gathering of Senators to this chamber." Adjournd.

HOUSE.—A large number of executive communications were laid before the House by the speaker. Among them was a letter from the chief of engineers asking for an immediate appropriation of $50,000 for the general work of the survey on the Mississippi river. The communications were appropriately referred.

Mr. Bragg, from the military committee, reported back the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter, and it was placed on the House calendar. It authorizes the President to appoint Fitz John Porter to the position of colonel in the army and in his discretion to place him on the retired list as of that grade, provided that Fitz John Porter shall receive no pay, compensation or allowance whatsoever prior to his appointment under this act. The committee adopt the report submitted to the last Congress, but adds that it has carefully considered the objections made to the bill in the veto message of President Arthur and is clearly of the opinion that they are not well founded and should not interrupt the course of justice. The report is signed by all the Democratic members of the committee.

Mr. Hammond, of Georgia, from the committee on judiciary, reported back a bill to prevent claims of war taxes under the act of August 5, 1861, by the United States, being a set-off against States having claims against the United States. This was placed on the House calendar.

Mr. Cobb, from the committee on public lands, reported back a bill for setting certain grants of lands made to Southern States to aid in the construction of railroads.

At 2.15, on motion of Mr. E. B. Taylor, of Ohio, the House proceeded to the consideration of the Senate resolution, accepting the statue of President James A. Garfield, presented by the State of Ohio. Eulogies upon Garfield were pronounced by Messrs. Taylor, McKinley, Geddes, Butterworth, of Ohio, and Pettibone, of Tennessee. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Bragg, of Wisconsin, made an attempt to have the Fitz John Porter bill made the special order for Saturday.

at 2.30 o'clock, but Mr. Duffham, of Illinois, objected. The House adjourned.

Reminiscences of the Late Gen. John D. Freeman.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 19.—A dispatch from Canon City to the Tribune-Republican says: "Gen. John D. Freeman, who died suddenly in this city at 10 o'clock last night, of inflammation of the bowels, was attorney general for Mississippi immediately preceding the war. He was also a member of Congress from that State for two terms, and to his efforts was due the success of the Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific railroad. He was the author of 'Freeman's Chancery Reports.' Gen. Freeman was a personal friend of the late Vice President Hendricks and also of attorney-general Garland. He was at the time of his death a candidate for appointment as United States marshal for Colorado and his candidature was widely endorsed. He was held in great respect and esteem by the people throughout the State."

Foreign News.

MADRID, January 19.—The government of Spain has drawn the attention of France to the suspicious movements of the Carlists and republicans on the frontier, and have asked her to prevent any hostile demonstrations against Spain from the French territory.

At a meeting of the cabinet, Senor Sagasta, prime minister, read a letter from the Pope condoling with the Queen and her daughters in their loss by the death of the King, and sending them his blessing. His Holiness also offers to assist in strengthening the position of Spain so far as he can possibly do so within the limits of his spiritual mission.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—It is reported that the finance committee of the Senate at its meeting this morning, determined upon a new form of inquiry, to be sent to the heads of departments, to elicit information with respect to nominations which may be under consideration. Reasons for making renewals will not be asked, but all papers pertaining both to appointment and removal, will be called for.

A Bad Story.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 19.—About four weeks ago Robert H. Small, third auditor of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, was married to a young lady of Covington and came to Florida on a wedding tour. After stopping in Jacksonville a few days; they went to Palatka, when Small began to exhibit symptoms of mental aberration. Last week he disappeared from the hotel and did not return until the next day, having spent the night some distance from town with a farmer, leaving his young wife in an agony of fear. Tuesday he started for a sail on the river, but his boat capsized. Returning to his hotel he changed his clothing and again went out on the river in a boat, after which he was not seen until 11 o'clock this morning, when his body was found on the river bank with his head resting on his overcoat. There were no signs of violence, and the physicians decided that he died from exposure. His body has been embalmed and reached this city tonight en route for Baltimore, accompanied by Mrs. Small.

British Troops in Burma.

MANDALAY, Burma, Jan. 19.—Flying columns of the British troops sent on reconnoitering expeditions have returned to Mandalay. They lost seven men killed and wounded in skirmishes with the Dacoits. The loss of the latter is unknown. Reinforcements are needed here. Much uneasiness prevails regarding the situation. Europeans long for the arrival of Lord Dufferin, viceroy of India, when it is hoped that a firm policy will be adopted.

Gladstone's Action and its Results.

BELFAST, Ireland, Jan. 19.—The loyalists here are indignant over Gladstone's refusal to receive a deputation of loyalists from this city. There is a marked revival of party feeling in the north of Ireland. Irish loyalists are arranging for meetings in the leading towns of England, for the purpose of obtaining support.

New York Cotton Futures.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The Post says: Futures opened dull and lower, lost an additional 2 to 3 points, but recovered part of the decline and sold at the third call: One hundred bales February at 9.24; 1,900 March 9.34; 100 October 9.48, showing a reduction of 3 to 4 points from yesterday's closing. Futures closed quiet and firm, 3 points lower than yesterday.

Senator Gurnah Re-elected.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., January 19.—The vote for United States Senator in the Maryland legislature resulted to lay in the Senate, for A. P. Gorman, democrat, 21 votes; for Louis E. McComas, republican, 4 votes. In the House, for A. P. Gorman, 79 votes; McComas 10 votes.

JUDGE BENNETT AND THE BILL.

Comment has been made upon the fact that Judge Bennett was one of the only two Democratic Congressmen who voted against the presidential succession bill. I understand that his objection to the measure was not in its theory, but to what he believed to be its defects. No one who knows Judge Bennett will doubt his legal learning, and many who voted for the bill, as a choice between two evils, held similar views to those entertained by our Representative. Learned lawyers tell me there is one fatal defect in the new law: It does not provide specifically enough for an election (in one contingency) ad interim. Now, suppose both the President-elect and the Vice-President-elect should die between November and March 4th? Would the secretary of state of a defunct administration succeed to the presidency at the expiration of his chief's term? If not, why not, and who would?

SHIFTING THE SUCCESSION.

The presidential succession bill which passed the House last week was returned to the Senate for enrollment—it being a Senate bill—only yesterday, the upper branch of Congress not having been in session before since last Thursday. The President having just signed the bill it is a law at last. The succession, therefore, has passed from the republican to the democratic party, as it has from one branch (the legislative) to another (the executive) branch of the government. This transfer, though simply effected, and creating little comment, attended by no excitement, is in itself quite a political revolution; and the fact that it has been so quietly accomplished is only another score on the tally-sheet of illustrations that the people of this country are fully competent to govern themselves.

CAROLINIANS IN CONGRESS.

All the House committees have held one meeting, at which time organizations were perfected. In most cases the committees have already been divided up into sub-committees. As the second members on the foreign affairs and agricultural committees, Gen. Cox and Col. Green have respectively been made chairman of the most important of their sub-committees. Mr. Reid is on the most important of the war claims sub-committees, and Judge Bennett holds a similar position among his brethren of the judiciary committee. Capt. Skinner, Mr. Henderson, Col. Cowles and Mr. Johnston will all well to the front in the organization of the committees to which they were assigned; and, taken altogether, North Carolina has no cause for complaint of the treatment received at the hands of Mr. Carlisle in the organization of the committees, or of the subsequent acknowledgments with which the merits and deserts of our representatives have been met. So now they can all go to work at legislation "unanguished at rest."

CONGRESSMAN COX'S COMMITTEE CLERK.

As chairman of the House committee on reform in the civil service, Gen. Cox has appointed Mr. T. B. Womack, of North Carolina, clerk to that committee. The position is a desirable one, and the salary, which is annual—the incumbent not being what is known as a "season-clerk"—more desirable still.

CURTIN AND HIS CHAIRMANSHIP.

This old gentleman continues to sulk over his defeat in the race for the chairmanship of the committee on foreign affairs, and the Republicans, one of whom he was which until a very late day, agree with him in the opinion that it was "a great outrage" for the speaker to prefer a life-long Democrat and able New Yorker to this veteran ex-Republican war governor of the dyed-in-the-wool Radical-Republican Keystone State. But in the performance of its duties I hardly think he will be missed by the committee on foreign affairs—"I'm sure he never will be missed!" MILLER ON MONEY.

THE DECLINE OF EX-GOVERNOR CURTIN AS CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE ON BANKING AND CURRENCY MAKES MR. MILLER, OF TEXAS, THE SECOND MEMBER BEFORE, CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE. THIS MAKES TWENTY-SEVEN OF THE FORTY-EIGHT CHAIRMANSHIPS WHICH HAVE GONE TO THE SOUTH. GOOD FOR DIXIE! Mr. Miller is a banker and a financier of no mean ability and no little experience, but he is a banker of the Southern school and the Wall street sharks are not likely to take kindly to him.

MONEY FOR THE MILITIA.

Senator Sewell has reported favorably from the committee on military affairs the bill introduced by him for increasing the annual appropriation to the militia. The bill provides for an annual appropriation of $600,000. Our soldier boys in North Carolina will be glad to learn that there is not only no doubt of the passage of the bill in its present shape by the Senate, but that the House is likely to raise the amount to the sum asked at the late meeting of militiamen in this city, viz: $1,000,000, and that the Senate is likely to concur in the increase.

St. Petersburg Nihilists Captured.

ST. PETERSBURG, Russia, Jan. 19.—A nihilist resort has been discovered opposite the Anitchkoff palace in this city. The police made a descent on the place and arrested several persons found in the house. They seized a number of bombs and other explosives, a printing press and a quantity of treasonable documents.

THE DEMOCRATIC SENATORS DISCUSS THE ANTICIPATED ISSUE BETWEEN THE REPUBLICAN SENATORS AND THE ADMINISTRATION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Democratic Senators held a two hours caucus this afternoon to compare views with regard to the anticipated issue between the Senate and the Administration, over the matter of information about removals. Senators Harris, Muxey and Vest, the committee appointed last week by Mr. Beck, chairman of the caucus, to consult with the President and members of the cabinet about the matter, made their report, stating the individual views of the members of the Administration, but not outlining a definite plan of action. The Senators expressed their individual opinions at length, but no motion was made and nothing occurred to indicate in any way the opinion of a majority. At 6 o'clock a suggestion was made that the subject be further discussed after the Republican position had been more clearly developed and the caucus adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman, with the understanding, however, that it should be called very soon.

During Deeds of Pennsylvania Strikers.

MR. PLEASANT, Pa., Jan. 19.—The situation in the coke regions is growing serious. Last night three or four guards at the Moorewood works ventured too close to the Hungarian quarters, when an alarm was given, the foreigners swarmed out of their quarters and began a fusillade of pistol shots. Almost instantly every striker joined in the cannonade and the guards broke for safer quarters. No pursuit was attempted and the Hungarians returned to their quarters after witnessing the hasty departure of the patrol. No trouble had occurred at the Standard works up to noon. This morning the Moorewood strikers held a meeting and decided to raid the "Alice" coke yard. They marched over and drove the drawers off and then left to clean out the Bessener workers. The "Alice" drawers returned to work, but the strikers again drove them off. Work was then abandoned and the Hungarians came back to Moorewood. The outlook is decidedly squally.
