Remarkable Storms

OF RAIN AND HAIL IN THE WEST.

WASHINGTON, May 7.-Dispatches rom various points in Missouri and Kansas report remarkable storms of rain and hail yesterday. At Osage City a storm began about 11 a. m. and continued for thirty minutes, until the ground was covered with hail-stones and in many places they were piled up several inches deep. Kighty per cent of all exposed window glass on the north side of houses was broken. The storm came from the northeast and did not extend more than a mile west of the Sante Fe road at this point. At Emporia, Kansas, a water-spout passed down Jacob's creek. A farmer named Jacobs saw the storm coming and gathered his wife and two young children and his brother Charles in a wagon and started to flee, but they were overtaken by a torrent which swept away the yehicle and occupants. Mrs. Jacobs and the younger child were drowned, while Jacobs nearly perished in endeavoring to save them. His brother saved himself and the other child. At Fort Scott, Kansas, Lamb's ice dam broke and an immense body of water, uniting with the already swollen Duck run, rushed down the valley. A house occupied by Sarah Brown, a widow was struck by the torrent and swept about 100 yards down the stream, where it lodged among the trees. Mrs. Brown and four of her shildren were in it at the time. The water rose rapidly around it to a depth of several feet. The mother held her little six-monthsold infant in her arms above the water. leaving her older children to care for themselves. She suddenly noticed that her five-year-old boy was drowning and in attempting to save him, the infant slipped from her arms and was drowned before aid could reach it. The remainder of the family were rescued. At Springfield, Mo., the damage of all sorts is estimated above $125,000 No life was lost, but 35 or 40 families were floated out. Some of them were taken to high ground by men on horseback.

Mr. Bragg, of Wisconsin, in a sarcastic speech, opposed the bill. He ridiculed the idea of a boy too young to be mustered in, fulfilling scout duty and doing gallant service. Messrs. Johnson, of Indiana. and Weaver, of Iowa, defended the bill and combatted Mr. Bragg's proposition that a boy of the age of this one could not render valuable service in war. Mr Jehnson had maintained that there had been many instances where boys had been as valuable as men. Messrs. Johnson and Bragg became involved in a wrangle over war reminiscences, into which Mr. Wolford, of Kentucky, was also drawn. Finally a vote was taken on an amendment to the bill, but a number of its opponents refrained from voting and the committee being left without a quorum, rose. The House took a recess till 7 30 this evening, the session to be for pension bills.
