The Weather Today.
For North Carolina, light local rains; variable winds; slightly warmer.

New Advertisements.
Claborn Hotel—Wanted, a Baker.
G. N. Walters—Wanted, Three First class Coat-makers.

OBSERVATIONS.
The rains are doing damage. Some of the streams are very full. Many farmers have begun planting tobacco.

Bill Arp lectured at Oxford last evening. Yesterday the supreme court was not in session.

The crops in the eastern part of the State are said to be two weeks in advance of last year.

The Sunday school of the Second Baptist church certainly had a damp day for its picnic at Louisburg.

There will be speaking at the prohibition tent this evening by J. C. L. Harris and J. H. Williamson.

The capital was closed yesterday and all the departments had holiday. Owing to the rain the State flags were not displayed.

Wake council, No. 23, National Union, meets at 8 o'clock this evening. Every member is earnestly requested to be present.

This section of the State is certainly lucky thus far this year. West of here cyclones, hail storms and floods have all harassed the people.

The rains have not fallen in the Wilmington section and the truckers are in a bad way. Everything is wilting and the berry crop is a partial failure.

Yesterday was the 111th anniversary of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence and the 25th anniversary of the ordinance of secession in North Carolina.

Owing to the damage done the railroads by the freshets, the mail for Charlotte and points south came by way of this city and went via the R. & A. air-line.

By the laws of this State there are seven legal holidays. These are January 1st, February 22d, May 10th, May 20th, July 4th, Thanksgiving day and Christmas.

Last evening extra cars were sent up the Raleigh and Augusta railway, to bring passengers from Charlotte here on their way North, as they cannot get over the line to Greensboro.

In the eastern part of the State a steam saw mill was placed upon a barge and went from place to place sawing lumber. A legal question arose as to whether a saw mill is a vessel. Judge Seymour decided that it was. It was a curious case.

Last evening Taylor & Uzale, at the city market, received a large sturgeon, the first seen here in a long time. It weighed fifty-five pounds, dressed and without the head. Sturgeon steak will be one of the possible delicacies today.

There will be a mass meeting of the ladies of the city this afternoon at the Sunday school room of Edenton Street Methodist church at 4 o'clock. Several interesting addresses will be one of the features of the meeting.

The graded schools had holiday yesterday. They close for the term next Friday. It is safe to say that they have never been so largely attended and have never done such excellent work as during this term. Raleigh certainly ought to feel the greatest and most sincere pride in her schools.

Kinston college commencement will be held Tuesday, June 1, at 8 p. m., for the primary department; Wednesday, June 2, at 8 p. m., for the collegiate department. Thursday, June 3, at 11 a. m., the annual literary address will be delivered by Clement Manly, Esq., of New Bern. Thursday, June 3, at 8 p. m., annual concert. Dr. R. H. Lewis is the principal of this excellent school.

Personal.
The funeral of Miss Rachel Pool will be held at 10 o'clock this morning, from the Second Baptist church.

The venerable Mrs. Julia Dewey, relict of the late Mr. Charles W. Dewey, is extremely sick at her home, No. 117 West Cabarrus street.

Hon. J. M. Moring, of Pittsboro, has made an assignment.

Hon. Joseph J. Davis, of Louisburg, and Hon. W. P. Bynum, of Charlotte, are here.

The venerable Mrs. C. G. Kennedy, of Wilmington, who had become almost blind, has been North, where a successful operation for cataract of the eye was performed. Her eyesight is now better than in many years.

Died, of consumption, at his residence at Bridgeport, Connecticut, May 18, Mr. Fenton G. Foster. Mr. Foster was native of this county; graduated at Chapel Hill with distinction; married Miss Helen, daughter of Dr. H. W. Montague, and sister of B. F. Montague, Esq., of this city. He was the inventor of "The Wild Goose Type-Setting Machine," and had been engaged some years in the manufacture of the same at Bridgeport, Connecticut. Mr. Foster leaves a wife and children and many friends who will mourn his loss.

Dr. J. E. Matthews, of Kenansville, president of the North Carolina dental association, sends an invitation to attend the next annual convention to be held in Raleigh, commencing June 1. The board of State dental examiners will meet at the same place and time as the association.

The following are the new bishops of the M. E. church, South, elected by the general conference at Richmond, Va., last Tuesday: Rev. Dr. William Wallace Duncan, of South Carolina; Rev. Dr. Charles B. Galloway, of Mississippi; Rev. Dr. Eugene Russell Henderson, of Missouri; Rev. Dr. Joseph Stanton Key, of Georgia.

Dead.
At 7:15 o'clock last evening, of meningitis, James Moore Towles, son of J. M. and Alice Towles, of No. 313 East Lane street, aged five years and one month. The funeral will be held from the residence at 6 o'clock this afternoon.

Dewey—Mial.
Mr. Thos. W. Dewey, of Goldsboro, was united in marriage yesterday morning at Walnut Hill, this county, to Miss Eliza S. Mial, daughter of Mr. A. T. Mial. The attendants were: Mr. E. B. Dewey and Mr. Millard Mial; Miss Hattie Dewey and Mr. E. A. Alderman; Mr. W. R. Allen and Miss Julia Borden; Mr. Jas. Moseley and Miss Lula Borden; Miss Mamie Williams and Mr. W. A. Dick; Miss Lizzie Lee and Mr. Frank K. Borden. The bridal party returned to Goldsboro on the afternoon train, accompanied by the good wishes of hosts of friends.

A Painful Accident.
Yesterday morning Mr. Phil King, who is a clerk of the firm of Rand & Barbee, of this city, was painfully injured at Manly, on the Raleigh & Augusta air-line. He travels for his firm a good deal, in various parts of the State. Yesterday he had two valises in his hand. In attempting to get on board the train he missed his footing and fell. A wheel passed over his foot, crushing off a portion of it. He was brought here.

The Anarchist Schemes.
ONE OF THE DISORGANIZERS TELLS OF THE PLANS TO MURDER THE POLICE AT CHICAGO. CHICAGO, Ill., May 18.—Malvin M. Thompson, who was present at the Haymarket square meeting the night of May 4, says he overheard August Spies, Schwab and a third man, whom he did not know at the time, consulting about the number of dynamite bombs to be thrown into the ranks of the police. The three men were standing in the alley leading from the east side of Despliances street, only a few feet from the wagon on which the speakers stood. Thompson overheard Spies say: "Will one be enough; had we not better send for more?" He could not catch the reply, but immediately afterwards Schwab and the third man went away together, evidently to procure something. Thompson has identified Adolph Fischer, of the Arbeiter-Zeitung force, as the third party who was consulting with Spies and Schwab. The fact that Fischer and Schwab immediately left together and were seen later in the evening standing near the spot from which the fatal bomb was thrown, gives good grounds for the belief that both these fellows know more about the identity of the bomb-thrower than they care to reveal.

Another man, a member of an anarchist club, tells the following story: After the trouble at McCormick's works a special meeting of our club was called to take action. Spies, who is our president, called the meeting to order, and a committee, consisting of Parsons and two others, was appointed to draw up a manifesto—this was the one headed, "Revolve, workmen, to arms!" The advisability of using dynamite if the police interfered with any other meeting was discussed, and it was decided that twenty bombs should be prepared for the next night. Volunteers were called for to perform the throwing, but no one wished to speak up, fearing arrest should it become known who had offered to do it. It was then suggested that 500 ballots be distributed, and that a skull and cross-bones be inscribed upon twenty of them. The persons who drew the latter ballots were expected to procure bombs and be on hand. This was done, and the chief, Spies, is the only man who knows who were drawn. He knows that the twenty men received their bombs. "To arms" was the signal for the throwing of the bombs.

CURRENCY.
Mamma: "Why don't you move out of the sun, Kitty, if it troubles you so?"
Kitty: "Cause I got here first."

Appropriate comment: Nurse (meeting young and anxious husband at the door): "All is well and you are a happy father." He: "What is it?" She: "Twins." He: "Gemini!"—Exchange.

The average small boy of the present day is seldom at a loss for something to say, even in the most embarrassing situations. Bobby, a precocious youth of six summers, had been indulging in profanity, and, in order to escape the punishment for which his mother had made preparations, he crawled under a barn and remained there in a state of siege for the greater part of an afternoon. When his father returned at night and learned how matters stood, he made his way with difficulty under the barn in search of the boy.

"Hello, pa," said Bobby, cheerfully, as his sire approached, "have you been sweating, too?"

The Providence, R. I., Evening Telegram calls attention to the uniform or easy and square dealing of one of the best advertising agents of New York, Mr. E. N. Erickson, and says: Advertisers placing business with him invariably find their contracts carried out to the fullest particulars. Aside from this, what particularly commends his business to newspapers is his prompt remittances. In these days of long time, claim advertising agents, as a rule, claim is necessary to check up, thereby gaining thirty, sixty and sometimes ninety days' time, it is refreshing to the publisher to receive his bill with accompanying check by return mail. Such promptness as this gains for advertisers who do business through Mr. Erickson, favors from a newspaper which are extended only in rare instances.

The Crown Prince of Portugal has started for the frontier to meet his betrothed, Princess Amelia, daughter of the Comte de Paris.

Great Rain.
REPORTS OF DRASTIC FLOODS IN WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA.

News was received here yesterday of damage done by the heavy rains of the past three days. The rainfall has been exceptionally great in the western and piedmont sections of the State, and does not extend north of Danville.

The Yadkin river is in raging flood, and is still rising. Part of the great iron bridge over that river on the North Carolina railroad near Salisbury has been swept away. Several "bents" of the bridge at Coddie creek on the same road are gone.

Several slides and washouts have occurred on the Atlanta & Charlotte air-line. These do not prevent trains from running. A culvert has been washed out on the Atlantic, Tennessee & Ohio railroad (between Charlotte and Statesville).

The rain at Greensboro Wednesday was phenomenal, exceeding, it is stated, anything ever known there. More damage of various kinds is feared.

A special telegram received yesterday morning says that a train ran off the Western North Carolina railroad near Alexander's. The extent of the accident is not yet known here, as no details have been received.

Durham Note.
COR. OF THE NEWS AND OBSERVER.
DURHAM, N. C., May 20.

The hotel Claborn has had a boom under the new management. The proprietor will have twenty-four additional rooms in readiness by September 1st.

The new railroad prospect for Durham has only served to encourage her go-ahead men to greater efforts. Property is still advancing and a grand future is apparent to all.

The lecture at Stokes hall, by the eloquent Colquitt, Sunday afternoon last, did much to promote the good cause of temperance in our midst.

North Carolina boasts of no finer set of men than our Durham Light Infantry. Recent parades and drills show that they are up with the times.

The chief surveyors of the Durham & Lynchburg railroad are already at work at this end of the line.

Tobacco manufacturers here are all busy filling orders and preparing for the fall trade.

The Cream of the News.
A dispatch has been sent from London as follows: "The Irish National League has received from the Ninth New York regiment and the Clan-na-Gael society of that city offers to equip, transport and maintain in the field 10,000 men to support home rule in Ulster against any and all loyalist opposition."

The Ninth N. Y. regiment is American. The Sixty-ninth is Irish. Neither knows anything of the story, which is untrue.

The supporters of Mr. Gladstone are daily becoming more hopeful that the home rule bill will be passed by Parliament. Nine members of the house of commons who had hitherto been opposed to the home rule measure have been converted since Saturday, and it is expected that other members will soon signify their adherence to the bill.

At Westerville, Ohio, in the opera house, the play "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was nearing to a close when one of the gasoline footlights was accidentally overturned, setting fire to the scenery.

The manager seized the burning lamp, and as he could not throw it out of the window, started to run down stairs with it, followed pell-mell by 500 panic-stricken spectators. The lamp set fire to the manager's clothing, and he threw it upon the stairway, thus igniting the only means of escape. The scene that followed is indescribable. Quicker than it takes to tell the story the burning stairway was choked with a terror-stricken, fighting crowd of men, women and children struggling for life.

A hook and ladder company fortunately was close at hand, and by heroic work the men forced a way into the building, rescued the frightened people from the crush into which they had forced themselves, and soon extinguished the flames both in the passage-way and on the stage, preventing by their quickness what threatened to be a fire that would destroy the whole block, one of the finest in the city. A number of physicians were soon upon the spot, rendering all the assistance possible. As far as can be learned no lives have yet been lost, but among the thirty burned and injured persons are several who cannot recover.

Maxwell, in jail at St. Louis, on a charge of killing his friend Peller, has made a confession. He claims that Peller was killed accidentally with chloroform. He says he administered the drug before making a medical examination of Peller.
