SATURDAY, JUNE 26, 1886.

G. CLEVELAND ought to write after his name F. P. V.: Fraudulent Pension Vector.

They say the Old Man writes a fine hand, but he makes a heavy mark when he writes a pension veto.

The country breathes easier day by day, as it comes to understand that the man at the helm is a man indeed.

Mr. Randall's offering, a tariff bill after voting last week that the subject of the tariff should not be considered does not bear upon its face any beautiful degree of consistency.

The Washington City papers were very kind to the Tar Heel editors, going even to the length of poetry in expressing a welcome. The Carolinians are now in a position to return the compliment in some degree.

Mr. Reed was very funny and satirical, and all that, in what he said, but he may depend upon it that Mr. Randall was right when he said both wings of the democratic party will flap together hereafter.

ALABAMA will be the first State to hold an election this year. She will vote on the 2d of August.

TODAY the British parliament will formally dissolve and writs will be issued forthwith for the election of new members.

CONGRESSMAN LEFEVRE, of Ohio, announces that he is going to retire from Congress because "no Congressman can live on his salary and pay his expenses and be honest."

We are glad to see that the New York legislature has passed and Gov. Hill has signed a bill limiting the term of imprisonment for debt in the empire State to six months.

It is reported from Washington that Messrs. Randall and Morrison and speaker Carlisle have had an informal conference whereat they decided not to press the amendment of the rules until the democrats shall have a quorum.

THE Fayetteville Observer and Gazette contains a long article by a writer who masquerades under the title of Lex, purporting to show why the members of the present supreme court should not be re-elected.

THE man who worries about things that cannot be helped is saving himself for his own good.

by judge Ruffin some years ago. The truth is, we suspect, that Lex is a law for who lost a pet case and now tries to get even with the court by assailing it in the newspapers.

THE president of the State press association appreciates the complimentary reference made to him by the State Chronicle. A generous sentiment is never lost, however unworthy may be the object toward which it is directed.

JUDGE GUDGER passed through the city yesterday on his way home from the eastern part of the State, where he has for some time been holding court.

THE press association of the State should take steps to rid itself of those hangers-on at its meetings who have legitimately no place among newspaper men, who do not care a press from a paste-pot.

THE Pan-Electric investigating committee of the House is expected to submit its report within a few days now. There is a minority report signed by all the republicans on the committee and a majority report signed by the democrats.

THE matter of bringing together at the next State fair those northern people who have already settled in North Carolina and those who wish to come into the State from beyond the Potomac, as proposed, is important and should be made prominent by the press of the State.

ONE of our members, whose heart was in the work, and whose kindness had cheered many little ones along the road to learning—one who was among the foremost in organizing this body of ours two years ago—has "passed beyond the shield"—will meet with us no more.

IN looking over the list of our members we find that thirty have formed new partnerships for life. Thirty have set sail on the sea matrimonial, and under the soft light of the honeymoon and favoring breezes are steering for the "isles of the blest."

DIXIE, the new Southern monthly published at Atlanta, is being imported in many ways. We note the fact with pleasure.

IT is reported from Washington that Messrs. Randall and Morrison and speaker Carlisle have had an informal conference whereat they decided not to press the amendment of the rules until the democrats shall have a quorum.

BLACK MOUNTAIN.

North Carolina Teachers' Association. Cor. of the News and Observer.

BLACK MOUNTAIN, N. C. June 23. The teachers of North Carolina and their friends are here to the number of five hundred already—a grand assemblage of the learning, culture, wit and beauty of the profession.

THE president, Dr. R. H. Lewis, of Kinston, then declared the meeting ready for business, and read the following annual address: FELLOW-TEACHERS OF NORTH CAROLINA AND FRIENDS OF EDUCATION.—We greet you again in this our third annual gathering.

HERE the one who thinks he knows may find out that he does not know. Here the timid may become bold by finding that opinions advanced by them fearfully and cautiously in their own little realm, have been publicly endorsed by the magnates of the profession.

WHEN you looked your school room door, you should have looked up care. "Let by-gones be by-gones. Let the dead past bury its dead, and let us look to the loving future."

TOGETHER with us come up every year men and women who, though not teachers, are yet members of that great body, the "friends of education."

ALL honor to him whose fertile brain first devised this grand scheme for the improvement and relaxation of the North Carolina teachers. His well known modesty prevents my calling his name, so I will only mention his initials—Eugene G. Harrell, of Raleigh.

THE third annual meeting of the North Carolina teachers' assembly then came to order. Mr. John W. Stearns, county superintendent of Buncombe county, extended a most hearty and sincere welcome to the assembly.
