RACKET STORE.

THE GREAT
Bargain House of Raleigh.

With grape and canister I attack credit competition and sweep the field with figure that cannot be quoted by others and in a short sharp but decisive fight I regain all my losses. All lies in crowding the counters with unapproachable bottom values for the money down.

It will be hard to match these expressive sentences of this mercantile Stonewall Jackson. His iron fingers point to his matchless prices and success, complete and absolute, in the keynote of his endeavors to beat the record.

Desertions from the rotten old army of credit increase as the forces of real values, money down, crowd back the defeated and retreating horde of thirty day, sixty day, and ninety day dealers.

Now come to the Racket Store and buy your goods and save your money, which is hard to get these days.

We are receiving some great bargains this week. Towels 10c; worth 30c. Great bargains in Ladies' Fine Shoes, Lambkin and Foster's French Button Shoes at $1.95; worth $3. Just opening a new lot of Ladies' White Goods and Oriental Laces, Hamburg Edgings and Trimmings of all kinds. A Job in Ladies' Cashmere Shawls at $1.25; worth $2.50 Call and see them.

NEWS OBSERVATIONS.

The Southern Lutheran convention which has been in session at Pocono, Pa., for a week past, has adjourned to meet at Savannah, Ga., next year.

The sweet girl graduates are now at liberty to act upon the revised maxim, that the proper study of womanhood is man.

Three White Mountain hotels are advertising that President and Mrs. Cleveland will arrive early in August. Miss Rose Cleveland is "expected" in the Adirondacks, at Lake George, Atlantic City and the Catskills.

Hon. Wm. L. Scott, of Erie, Pa., it is stated, has written a letter to one of his constituents, in which he says that the office of secretary of the treasury has been offered to him by President Cleveland, and that he shall assume its duties immediately after secretary Manning retires in October.

Strange varieties of boycott develop every day. The latest form is reported from Fayette county, Ill., where the farmers have agreed to sow no wheat for three seasons to come in order to starve out the chinch-bugs. The chinch-bugs are thoroughly organized, and the struggle will be one of great interest.

The following dispatch was received by Senator Butler on the 29th ult.:

New York, June 29.

I thank you heartily, as I do all who have aided in my vindication. My thanks are especially due to Southern Senators and members of the House, whose sense of justice impelled them to aid one who once did all he could to injure a cause they deemed right.

FITZ JOHN PORTER

Neither President Cleveland's wife nor any of the heirs of the late Col. J. B. Folsom, appeared at the probate of his will. The property amounts to $150,000, of which $25,000 is personal. The real estate lies in Omaha, Tacoma and Lincoln, Neb., and Attica and Folsomdale, N. Y. The homestead of 200 acres is to be reserved intact, with its appurtenances, until the grandchildren, who are minors, reach their majority. The Western property is to remain intact for six years. The will divides the property among his eight grandchildren, share and share alike. Thus it will be seen that unless the Western property increases, as it is expected to do, the President's wife will receive only $20,000, instead of $50,000, as reported.

Many of the serge costumes designed for seaside and country wear are made with jersey-shaped jackets cut away in front, revealing a jacket of ecrusse, with braided pocket-laps at each side. Dark marine blue suits made in this style are very popular. One pretty suit of white serge is trimmed with five rows of golden-brown velvet ribbon and then killed. The tunic and jacket are trimmed to match. Another costume is of dove-gray serge, trimmed with rows of ruby velvet. The skirt is box-pleated, and the milk-maid tunic is raised very high on the left side, with a mass of gray satin ribbons dotted with small cardinal flowers. The chic shooting-jacket, fitting like a glove, is worn with a wide Petersham belt, fastened with a large silver buckle. Medium large sailor or shepherd hats, trimmed simply with scarfs or gray-colored etamine, accompany these hats.

The Farm, Field and Stockman says: "If bees did nothing but store up honey and wax that alone would be sufficient for encouraging their presence, but they perform even greater service in carrying pollen from one plant to another. This has been proved by experiment, and especially in Australia, where red clover grows luxuriantly, but only from imported seed. The clover would not seed, but in every other part of the world the same as that grown in America. Bumble bees were then introduced, and seed was then produced by the clover. Our common bee does not assist red clover, though it carries pollen to the white variety, but the above shows that insects which industriously work in the blossom perform a natural service of fertilization, and as they work on but one kind at a time they do not mix up the varieties or destroy them."

An Appeal Against the Decision of the Divorce Court.

LONDON, June 30.—The appeal of Sir Charles Dilke and Mrs. Crawford, against the decision of the divorce court refusing them permission to appear as witnesses in their own behalf in the Crawford and Dilke divorce case, as reopened by the intervention of the Queen's protectors was today dismissed. The request to appeal from this last decision to the house of Lords, was also refused.

Cor. of the News and Observer.

If the university of North Carolina was a denominational college, or a theological seminary, devoted to the training of preachers of a special "faith and order" then all this talk about the number of professors who belong to this or that church would be proper. But as this is not the case it is a little tiresome to have to read about so much irrelevant matter. I think a man's religious faith is his own private matter and does not concern any one but himself. If the professors of such a college all belonged to one church, or none at all, it is all right, provided they are properly qualified for the duties. It is not their duty to teach any special brand of faith, but to confine themselves to the text books. I am aware that there is a wide-spread denominational prejudice among our people but it ought not to be. I remember the fact of a prominent preacher advising his flock to trade with no one but those of his faith. When a native of this State is equally qualified for a place, I think he ought to be chosen, but the college should not suffer in order to please a native. X.

CONGRESSIONAL.

MORE PENSION VOTES IN THE SENATE.

The Delay in the Passage of Appropriation Bills Criticized—The House on the Diplomatic and Consular and District Appropriation Bills.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—SENATE.—The Senate proceeded to the consideration of Mr. Platt's resolution for public executive sessions and a speech of Mr. Morrill (who is sick and absent) against the proposed change, was read by Mr. Manderson. Mr. Morrill thought his friend from Connecticut (Mr. Platt) was, in this matter, "immensely wrong."

At the conclusion of the reading of Mr. Morrill's speech, Mr. Hoar spoke at great length in opposition to Mr. Platt's resolution. When he had concluded, two pension vetoes were laid before the Senate and referred to the pension commissioner.

The conference report on the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill was submitted by Mr. Allison and agreed to. The chair laid before the Senate the joint resolution extending the appropriation for ten days. Mr. Edmunds objected to the second reading of the joint resolution for reasons which he said he would state tomorrow.

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the legislative appropriation bill. In the course of discussion on the amendments increasing the clerical force of some of the departments, Mr. Beck declared that he felt humiliated by the fact that many of the appropriations were diminished so that the members of the House might be able to go to their country and say how economically they were and how extravagant the Senate was. He also criticized the House for its delay in passing appropriation bills. The sundry civil appropriation bill was not yet sent to the Senate. The legislative bill was in its present condition on the last day of the fiscal year.

The naval bill had not been considered, the deficiency had not been looked at. He was not proud of the record.

Mr. Plumb said the House took all the time it needed and then it launched appropriation bills on the Senate without giving the Senate time to consider them. The legislative bill should have had much more consideration than the Senate appropriation committee had been able to give it. It had to take many things blindly. He thought it would be a good idea for the Senate and the House to remain in session till September, October or November, until every item in the appropriation bills had been full scrutinized. The conference report on District of Columbia appropriation bill was submitted and explained by Mr. Plumb and was agreed to.

After disposing of 46 pages of legislative bill the Senate had a brief executive session, and at 6 p. m., took recess till 8 p. m.

HOUSE.

Mr. Boyle, of Pennsylvania, from the Pan-electric committee, submitted a report signed by four members of the committee upon the subject of its investigation. It is accompanied by the following resolution:

Resolved, That a full, fair and exhaustive investigation has failed to adduce any evidence which tends to show that attorney general Garland, solicitor general Goode, secretary Lamar, Indian commissioner Atkins, railroad commissioner Johnston or Senator Harris, by being the officers named in the Pan-electric publication of the newspaper press which gave rise to this investigation, did any act, official or otherwise, connected with the matter investigated which was dishonest, dishonorable or censurable. The report and resolution (which is concurred in by Mr. Hale,) were referred to the House calendar.

Mr. Ramsey, of Massachusetts, also submitted a report signed by four Republican members of the committee.

Mr. Hale, of Missouri, presented his individual views.

These reports were placed upon the calendar.

Mr. Reed, of Maine, reserved all points of order against the resolution accompanying Mr. Boyle's report, and Mr. Ramsey stated that the resolution had never been submitted to the committee or acted upon by it. He also reserved all points.

Mr. Boyle said that the resolution had been presented with the consent of the gentleman from Massachusetts, who had expressly waived any meeting of the committee.

Mr. Ramsey replied that that was true as far as the report was concerned, but he had never seen or heard of the resolution before.

Mr. Boyle therefore asked to withdraw the report and resolution but Mr. Hale objected.

The committee rose for the purpose of enabling Mr. Randall to present and the House to pass a joint resolution to provide for ten days from today (last day of the fiscal year), for expenditures of the government not provided for in the appropriation bills already passed. This having been done the committee resumed its session.

After a few committee reports the House went into committee of the whole on the sundry civil appropriation bill.

The committee having reached the last page of the bill, rose.

Mr. Belmont, of New York, submitted the conference report on the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, and it was agreed to.

Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, submitted the conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill and it was agreed to. The House then at 6 o'clock adjourned.

Cardinal Gibbons.

BALTIMORE, June 30.—Baltimore became this morning the cardinal city of the United States, and archbishop Gibbons was invested with the scarlet biretta, with all the magnificent ceremonial of the Roman liturgy and splendid pomp, butting his exalted rank as a prince of the Holy Catholic church. Just 25 years ago today, James Gibbons was ordained priest in the chapel of St. Mary's Seminary, in this city, by archbishop Kennebec, and on this, his silver jubilee, he received from the hand of the venerable archbishop of St. Louis, insignia of his high dignity.

Secretary Lamar represented the cabinet at the ceremony.

President Cleveland sent by Rev. Dr. Chapelle, pastor of St. Mathews church, Washington, D. C., a personal letter congratulatory to the cardinal, whose acquaintance and personal friendship he has for some time enjoyed, up to his claviature to cardinalate.

Running, but Under Guard.

THE SITUATION IN CHICAGO—NO SERIOUS TROUBLE BUT THE SITUATION THREATENING.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The two cauldrons of Pinkerton men arrived at Roor street shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, and business was immediately begun by the Lake Shore company. The entire Pinkerton force, with the exception of half a dozen men, are now armed with rifles, and a guard was sent out with every train and accompanied it to Colehour. The trouble at the stock yards last night, while not serious in itself, is looked upon by the officials as indicative of a new source of danger.

Employees of the packing houses to the number of 10,000, are in thorough sympathy with the strikers, and as they now leave work at 4:30 p. m. their presence in the neighborhood of the wrecked trains is thought to be somewhat menacing. The switchmen employed by the other roads in the stock yards are not trusted implicitly by the Lake Shore officers, who are of the opinion that any one of them would embrace an opportunity of turning the switch under the moving train. From Chicago to Miller's Station, Indiana, for thirty miles fences, switch-houses and telegraph poles are decorated with posters offering $5,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of any one violating that section of the statutes, which prohibits the interference with the property of the railroad company by any outsider. The strikers laugh at the notices and think it absurd to suppose that any of their number would turn informer for any reward. While there seems no likelihood of any trouble today except, perhaps, at the stock yards, there is considerable anxiety manifested on both sides as to the probable action to be taken by the Lake Shore switchmen at other points. The yardmaster of the Toledo yards has been in Chicago since the commencement of the strike, and yesterday received dispatches from some of his trusted men at home, saying his presence was required there without delay as a strike seemed imminent. He left for Toledo last night.

A Heavy Over-issue of Bonds.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 30.—A hasty summoning of the members of the board of directors of the Chesapeake and Delaware canal company at an early hour this forenoon, created a stir in financial circles, and the report quickly flew about that a heavy defalcation had been discovered in the accounts of one of the officers. The company is one of the oldest and was in earlier times one of the wealthiest corporations in the Middle States, holding charters under the legislatures of Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. The first rumor that reached the street was that treasurer James A. L. Wilson had defaulted in his account to the extent of $173,000. The facts as subsequently ascertained more accurately were that an over-issue of bonds to the amount of $615,290 was made under a thirty-year mortgage loan of the company of July, 1856, for $280,000. The loan matures tomorrow and preparations having been made for its extension, the return of the bonds for certification at the office today would have revealed the over-issue. Treasurer Wilson did not appear at the office today, but on his desk was a note containing a confession of guilty knowledge of the fraudulent transaction. He left the city last night, it is alleged, in the company of Henry V. Lesley, a former treasurer, under whose administration the over-issue was made. Wilson is about fifty-five years of age and for over thirty years has been connected with the Chesapeake & Delaware canal company, having been its treasurer since 1883, when he succeeded Lesley.

Attorney General Davidson has written the Asheville Citizen as follows:

RALEIGH, June 26th, 1886.

Editors of the Citizen: I am receiving every day a great many letters as to the effect of the local option law. I have written the solicitor of 4th district on the subject, a copy of which I send you with request that you publish and thereby it will become known generally in the State what is my view.

Yours, &c., THOS. F. DAVIDSON,

OFFICE OF ATT'Y GEN'L.,
RALEIGH, N. C., June 26th, 1886.

SWIFT GALLOWAY, Esq., SOLICITOR OF FOURTH JUD'AL DIST., GOLDSBORO, N. C.

My Dear Sir:—In response to your request for my advice I have to say that, after a careful examination of the matter, I think the words "Spirited Liquors" contained in section 3116 of The Code do include wines and beer and all other liquors used as beverages containing alcohol in sufficient quantity to produce intoxication.

There is much diversity of opinion among the courts of our sister States upon this question, but I think you should be guided in performance of your duty by the principle which controlled the supreme court of this State in deciding the case of State vs Lowry 74 N. C. 116. So long as that opinion stands unrevoked, it seems to me that the course of those who are charged with the execution of the law in this respect is clear.

I am Sir Yours Very Truly,
THOS. F. DAVIDSON,
Attorney General.

Military Notes.

With best wishes for yourself and all the members of the company, I am yours very respectfully,
R. H. BATTLE.

I will see your treasurer today.

It is a pleasure to know that the company is in a most prosperous condition. It is hoped that citizens will do their part in equipping the company. The enlistment roll will be forwarded today. Those who have not signed it are asked to do so this morning. The company is making grand preparations for its "fete militaire," which begins the 12th instant.

For Business Men; A Valuable Publication.

"The Law in North Carolina of Notes and Drafts" is the title of a new and valuable publication by Messrs. M. N. Amis and J. A. Williamson, members of the Raleigh bar. This is Mr. Amis's second contribution to the legal literature of the State, and the success which attended his "Criminal Code and Digest," so highly endorsed as it was by the supreme court, is a sufficient guarantee that his late effort will merit success and reap reward. Col. Williamson is a member of the well known law firm of Coke & Williamson, and is a lawyer of acknowledged ability. "The Law of Notes and Drafts" embodies the law on these subjects as it stands today, and is intended for lawyers and business men, especially the latter, who will doubtless find it valuable. The book is published by Messrs. Edwards, Broughton & Co., of this city, who have it on sale. It can also be procured at the bookstores. See advertisement.

New York Cotton Futures.

New York, June 30.—Green & Co.'s report on cotton futures says: "The turn was for the better today, with 8.9 points gain and with a pretty firm feeling throughout. There is more activity in Liverpool spots. The fear of local manipulation, with no pressure from shorts and the reiteration of bad crop accounts, induced small shorts to cover and led to some investment in the late month."

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste; soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-cents a bottle.

DEADLY DUEL.

A TERRIBLE FIGHT IN WHICH BOTH PARTIES ARE SLAIN.

The Way they Settle Quarrels in Texas—Other News by Wire.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 30.—A Gatesville, Texas, special says: James Cooper and James Van Winkle fought an informal duel with revolvers yesterday on Brown Creek, in Coryell county. Both were fatally wounded. Cooper was shot in the head and died in a few minutes, and Van Winkle was shot through the bowels, and has since died.

Cooper and Van Winkle were mortal enemies, having quarrelled about a year ago over some cattle. Yesterday they met on Brown Creek, and after some hot words, they agreed to fight to the death. They measured off the ground and each with his watch in his hand waited for the moment agreed upon for opening fire. At the appointed time two shots rang out almost simultaneously. Van Winkle had received his fatal wound, but Cooper was not scratched. Another round was fired and Cooper fell with a bullet in his brain. This is the story told by Van Winkle before his death. The firing attracted some herdsmen, about one mile distant, and they cared for the wounded man until he died.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Senator Edmunds today introduced in the Senate a bill to vest in the President of the United States the appointment of sundry inferior officers thereof, to regulate their tenure of office and to provide for their removal when the public interests shall require it.

Osborne was nominated for Congressman at large on the second ballot. Wm. T. Davies was nominated for Lieutenant Governor, and Col. A. Wilson Norris for auditor; secretary of internal affairs, Col. S. A. Losh.

War Between the Herdors and Farmers

CHICAGO, Ill., June 30.—A special from Jackson, Texas, says: "One hundred and seventy-five thousand head of cattle are being slowly drifted and driven from the dry sections of northwest Texas into Jackson county. Along the waters of the West Forks over 200 farmers are armed, and say the cattle cannot come in. Over fifty herders are already armed and in the field. They say they must have grass and water or blood. Sheriff Rienes and posse are on the grounds. The fences are being cut by cattlemen and protected by farmers. Several conflicts have taken place to date. Three men are known to have been killed, while George Carpenter lost his life today on Todd pasture. Great uneasiness prevails. The cattle cannot be turned back now, and the indications are that there will be more bloodshed."
