-One of the newly invented detective cameras exhibited at the American Photographers' Convention in St. Louis last week was the "satchel camera." - It may console some people to know that by putting off our Fourth of July festivities till the fifth, we were joined in them by a sister republic, the United States of Venezuela, which on that day celebrated its casting off of Spanish dominion just three-quarters of a century before. Students of history who are interested in tracing coincidences will find several noteworthy instances in the story of Venenzuela's revolution - among them the fact that the first shot by the insurgent patriots was fixed on the 19th of April, 1810, the anniversary of the stand of our own "embattled farmers' at Lexit gton.

Not only will the fruit ripen sooner, but it will be of finer size and more perfect development. If possible, the fruit should be ripened on the vine; the flavor is so much richer when so ripened, that it is worth while to take extra pains in order to protect it so that it may ripen in its natural state. A most effectual scarecrow to frighten away poultry from the ripening fruit can be made by sticking turkey or hen feathers into a "crooked neck" summer squash, so it will resemble a lawk; put a stick through the body, tie strings to either end, and fasten to a tall pole, letting the "nondescript" swing back and Lack of campaign funds are the greatest trouble with Mr. Gladstone's supporters, as the money bags of the liberal party went over to the opposition along with the whigs, so that it is up-hill work to sustain the home rule candidates. Nearly half of the 93 liberals that voted against Mr. Gladstone will be returned without opposition, while on the other hand nearly every supporter of the premier, outside of Ireland, has to fight the combined conservative and unionist-liberal forces. Townshend and Cannon. members of the appropriations committee, had gone to the Senate after the action of the House striking out the bered and revered. names of certain house employees from the legislative appropriation bill and procured the reinsertion of the names of the Sepate committee.

Mr. Cannon admitted that he had requested the Senate committee to nsert in the bill the names of two pages, who had from long experience become almost indispensable He knew his privileges and rights as a member and had nothing to apologize for. Neither of the employees had been employed on his solicitation. When the legislative bill came back to the House he had no doubt that it would accept the smendment he had suggested to the Senate committee.

Mr. Townshend said that the names of the employees had been stricken out of the bill on a point of order made by one member contrary, as he believed, to the wish of the vast majority of the members of the House. Alexander Stephens, on his death bed, had requested him (Townshend) to cause John Chancerie's name to be retained on the pay-roll of the House as long as he Townshend) remained in Congress, and when Chancerie's name and that of Bacon, a gallant Illinois soldier, had been stricken out on the point of order he had determined to cause them to be restored if it were in his power.

Mr. Gibson resented the idea of in terference by the Senate in a matter of this kind. He had no ill will against these employees and if allowed he would tomorrow introduce a resolution providing that their names be placed on the roll of the House employees. After concluding the consideration of all but ten pages of the bill the committee rose and the House at 5 o'clock adjourned.

The Supreme Court Question in the

Cor. of the NAWS AND ORSERVER.

ASHEVILLE, July 2, 1876 It is currently reported that an effor will be made in the approaching judicial convention, to be held at Charleston, Swain county, to have the convention declare for a new supreme court; the composition of the court to be, for chief justice, A. S. Merrimon; for associate justices, W. M. Shipp and W. D. l'ru-den. I have been unable to trace the rumor to any very authentic source. I think it is as yet mere talk.

The drift of discussion in private circles, particularly in legal cotories, is directed to these several phases of the matter: The retention of the old court; the nomination of A. S. Merrimon for chief justice, and new men in the place in favor of the legislative adjustment of times acrimonicus discussion arose over of Messrs Smith and Ashe. l'ublic opinion is scarcely formed, and it is impossible to foretell around which phase of the case sentiment is likely to crys-

The arguments pro and con are well worthy of consideration. One thing, however, all are united upon, it matters not how diverse the views, that is, that three purer, better, more worthy men never sat on the bench than Smith, Ashe and Merrimon. Should it be the ment offered by Mr. Burnes, of Mis- of them retire with the expiration of their present term of office to the shade of private life, it is certain they will carry with them the good wishes, the respect, the veneration of all North Carolinians who admire integrity, purity, and patriotism; and will leave upon the judicial annals of the State names unsullied and worthy to be always remem-

> It is argued that younger men than the present judges should be nominated for these several reasons briefly stated: That we may have a more vigorous court, one that can do more work; that the young and working element of the party may have their enthusiasm and energy aroused in the coming campaign.

On the other hand it is insisted that the present court is a vigorous court and does its work well, performing as great labor as any court in the Union; and that they have enthusiastic friends in all parts of the State and could carry as large a vote, if not larger, than any ticket we could name.

The idea that Chief Justice Smith and Associate Justice Ashe are too old for the bench and are falling into decrepitude is met by the fact that they are discharging the duties of their offices with entire satisfaction. There are no younger men at the bar who work harder and bear up better under their labors than these gentlemen. The fear that they may not live through another tern; that there might be a ter 1888 a Republican Governor; that a vacancy might ccur and be filled by appointment by uch supposable Republican chief executive, is considered by many hereabouts as altogether groundless and chimerical, and unworthy a moment's consideration. It is the progeny of excessive caution. if not the outgrowth of minds "fatally bent" on ousting the old court.

Chief Justice Smith stands high in the esteem of the transmontane people, although few of them krow him personally. He is known to be a just man, a true, patriotic North Carolinia. and undoubtedly the most learned lawyer in the State today, inferior in point of legal acquirements to no one of his illustrious predecessors.

Judge Ashe has hest of friends and admirers. Apart from his losty character as a judicial officer, it is not forgotten that he won the gratitude of the Democratic party by making the race in 1868 against Holden, when there was no hope of election, and several other distinguished patriotic sons of the Old North State had, for one reason or auother, refused to answer the call of the party to go forward and make the sacrifice. The name of Ashe is synonymous Charlotte Observer remarks: The fight | with all that is good, true and modest; in Col. CHICAGO, July 5 -Fire was discovered in the rear of the basement of the restaurant of Burcky & Milan, 102 and 104 South Clark street, about 4 o'clock this morning, and an alarm was immedistely turned in. The fire rapidly communicated with the elevator, and by means of it spread to all the floors of the building in an incredibly short time The smoke and flames rushed from the rear to the front, and were pouring out of all the windows by the time the department arrived on the ground. The second, third, fourth and fifth floors of the buildings are occupied by the Benton hotel, which was fitted up as a cheap lodging house. The upper floors were formerly used as store rooms, and were converted into hotel apartments by frame partitions, making a veritable fire trap in which over thirty-five people were sleeping A young man named Charles Speech, of the "Evageline" company rushed up stairs and aroused as many as he could by shouting and pounding the doors. He was very soon driven out of the hotel by the smoke and flames. His efforts were rewarded by seeing ten or fifteen persons leaving the house. One van, cut off from the stairway, forced skylight and came out on the roof. Another tried the front fire escape from the fourth floor but was driven to the roof. He was slightly burned. Another man rushed from the rear fire escape and came down through another building. It was at first thought that ten to fifteen persons had been burned to death but a subsequent search by firemen revealed two dead bodies only. They were both men of middle age who had been sleeping in bunks. They were both found on the floor in

An Informer Cut and Beaten. Sr. Louis, July 5. - G. M. Haywood, an ex-striker and Knight of Labor, but now connected with the Furlong detective agency in the capacity of informer, became involved in a row on the steamer Mary M. Michael late last night, and was cut seven times and kicked until unconscious. It looked very much as if the attack on Haywood was premeditated. The trouble occurred on a large wheel boat which was opposite the work-house. The excurson was under the auspices of the telegraphers of the city, and on board was a gang who made themselves particularly of fensive to all. They began to quarrel among themselves, and it is believed Haywood interfered. He was instantly attacked by eight men.

one of whom used a knife, while the others seized his revolver and beat him with it. He fainted on the boat from loss of blood, and when the steamer lauded at the foot of Locust street he pointed out a man named John Heck as the party who did the stabbing. lips, of the University, opposed a proposition to request the trustees to admit women to the privileges of the class in pedagogies at the University, but by general consent a resolution was adopted to appoint a committee to memorialize the legislature in behalf of a permanent normal school. Maj. Finger explained that in his view the most practicable plan would be the institution of a normal school for teachers, male and female, to be held seven months in the year, with four professors, which professors should be detailed to conduct the principal institutes, in four sections of the State, for three months annually. He explained further that no additional cost would be required, as certain educational funds which he referred to could be more economically used in that manner and accomplish more good for the State than in any
