Our good friend, the representative from the 5th district, can now Reid his title clear to another term in Congress.

The Republicans of the 5th district may try to match our Rowland with their Oliver, but our candidate will roll and roll all over Oliver.

The capabilities of wood pulp are simply immense. A fortune awaits the active man who will begin to use it for the manufacture of a multiplicity of articles.

Now that the nominating convention in the Mecklenburg district is over, Chas. R. can safely return from his trip to New York. The convention did not take him.

It is said that William Henry Clifford, of Portland, Maine, will step into Mr. Goode's shoes. We had hoped that our own distinguished townsman might be called.

It must be a very odd sensation to the staid people of Old England to have Beecher force them to smile, snicker and laugh outright in church. Yet that's what the Brooklyn divine has accomplished.

Bovocoring has now been declared a crime by the courts of New York, Wisconsin and Connecticut, and whenever it shall be brought to the test of judicial determination it will be declared a crime in every State in the Union.

The amount paid out for fire losses in this country last year was $50,000,000, while the total loss was nearly twice as much. We are not advised what the amount of premiums was, but suppose they were considerably in excess of the losses.

There are 4,563 postal clerks in the service; of this number Mr. Vilas has appointed 2,030, nearly one-half. The axe falls surely, and in another year the postal system will have a right smart sprinkling of democratic blood in it.

We like to hear such things as John C. Cook elsewhere says about the South; that at the beginning of the war Southern men owed him $70,000, and after the war they paid him voluntarily, all but $5,000. That is a good record. The children of the South can well say they are born of poor but honest parents.

A New York judge has immortalized himself by refusing to naturalize a foreigner who had never read the constitution of the United States. As the applicant knows how to read, the delay will hardly be serious, but is that by implication an essential in the process of naturalization? If so, the unlettered foreign contingent is certainly done for.

The outlook is at the House of Representatives will be close next year. Democrats all over the country ought to make a note of this and frown down all independents. We hear of two or three aspirants for Congressional honors in the western part of this State who are thinking of trying their luck on the Tyro plan. Let our democratic friends be uncompromising in their treatment of such cases. Those who are not with us are against us.

His friends in this State will be glad to learn that Col. E. Donan has struck a bonanza at last. According to his account he has obtained from the government of Honduras a bank charter with a capital stock of a million of dollars and all sorts of concessions. The wave of prosperity therefore rolls mountain high for our quondam friend who has such a torrent of gold at his command. May his good fortune however not end in mere words—empty sound. P. Donan with all his oddity was once capable of hard work. Give him a chance.

His friends in this State will be glad to learn that Col. E. Donan has struck a bonanza at last. According to his account he has obtained from the government of Honduras a bank charter with a capital stock of a million of dollars and all sorts of concessions.

voluntarily retires from Congressional life. Judge Walter Clark and Swift Galloway, Esq., have been designated by the democrats of this district to succeed themselves as our judicial officers. Mr. Merrimon is to take the place of Judge Gudgeon in the 12th district, while Judges Graves and Boykin have been unanimously renominated to succeed themselves. Next Tuesday other conventions will be held. The post is boiling.

The outlook is that the river and harbor bill will go to the President appropriating over $14,000,000 for those works of improvement. We are consequently very curious to know what the President is going to do about it. Mr. Cleveland has shown himself to be such a strong, big man in his office, and so true to the old Jeffersonian principles of democracy that he may depart from the practice which has obtained during the past twenty-five years and veto the bill. Before the war such a bill would have stood no chance whatever of getting by a democratic President. Indeed we remember the very hard work certain North Carolinians had to prevent President Pierce from vetoing the little bill for the Cape Fear river. But the later practice seems to have settled the matter in favor of adequate appropriations for such works of real importance; and perhaps Mr. Cleveland may feel compelled to abide by the current construction in this matter. If so, he may not veto the bill; otherwise he will put his heavy foot upon it. We will see.

The republican Senate committee having adjourned without coming to any conclusion in regard to the Morrison-Randall resolution directing the treasurer to pay out all surplus money on the debt, the panicky financiers of the North are rejoicing that they have defeated the measure. But the failure of the Senate to consider it will be of no avail. The whole matter is within the power of the President, and we do not doubt that the President will do all he thinks ought to be done in that direction.

Assistant secretary of the treasury Fairchild has spoken very freely on this point, and what he says should remove the last apprehension on this subject. He declared that the administration was fully in sympathy with the policy of applying the surplus to the redemption of the interest-bearing debt and retiring such debt as rapidly as prudent administration and sound policy permitted. This is all we ask. We would not have the administration embarrassed, and we fully believe that the President is pursuing the proper course to bring about a reduction of the burdens of the people. It is impossible to accomplish tax reduction at present. That at least is apparent. During the next year nearly all the bonds that can be recalled in will be retired, and the necessity for tax reduction will then be beyond controversy. There can be no escape from it. The administration has this matter in mind and is working to that end. The democratic party will in the next Presidential campaign go before the people on this issue and it will sweep the country. Let the bond calls continue fast and big.

THE STATE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL. Yesterday afternoon the board of agriculture determined to proceed with the work of establishing the industrial school, accepting the offer heretofore made on behalf of the city of Raleigh. We congratulate the board on their determination in this matter, and feel every assurance that this important step will redound to the advantage of the people of the whole State and signalize the administration that will carry the enterprise to a successful issue. Now then, let us all unite in a common effort to make the school efficient, practical and beneficial. Whatever the NEWS AND OBSERVER can do to that end will be done not merely as a matter of duty, but as one of pleasure, and we hope that the same spirit will prevail in every part of the State. Let the watchword be that North Carolina shall take no step backward.

ALFRED W. ROWLAND, ESQ. Mr. A. W. Rowland, the democratic nominee for Congress in the sixth district, is a native of Robeson county, where he was born about 1845. He is a lawyer by profession, and has always taken an active part in political matters. He has served in the legislature and in the last Presidential election was the elector for his district. His name was at that time mentioned in connection with the Congressional nomination but was not pressed. Mr. Rowland is a man of fine appearance, possesses a strong mind, well stored with information, and is an excellent debater. His election is assured and he will be found in all respects worthy of the place so ably filled by the distinguished and learned Bennett.

JUDGE CLARK. The nomination of Judge Clark, although a foregone conclusion, will be gratifying to his many admirers throughout the State who have learnt to regard him as a most excellent judicial officer. The unanimity with which the convention endorsed him must also be a great satisfaction to Gov. Seales, who originally appointed him to office, and thus, as it were, put him upon his judicial career. Notwithstanding the old adage that one should be cautious of statement of all but the dead, we heard nothing in promising for Judge Clark a career of unusual brilliancy and distinction on the bench. That he adheres to the judicial crime has already been demonstrated, and that he will take for himself an enduring fame, honorable to himself and to our people, we indulge both the hope and the prophecy.

SOLICITOR GALLOWAY. We congratulate the good people of this district that our long-time friend Swift Galloway, is again to be our solicitor, and it is a pleasure to see such a thorough appreciation of merit as has been shown in his renomination by acclamation. He is a gallant gentleman, a faithful, sterling officer and an excellent lawyer. He will be an active standard-bearer in this judicial district during the approaching contest and his blows on the stump will fall heavy upon any political adversary who may court defeat at his hands. Such an aspirant will find that Mr. Galloway has a way of punishing evil-doers that is very taking with the people at the hustings.

The 4th Judicial District.

THE NOMINATING CONVENTION AT SMITHFIELD. The Democratic convention of the 4th judicial district met at 11:30 yesterday in the court house at Smithfield. There was a remarkably full attendance of delegates. W. N. Jones, Esq., the chairman of the executive committee of the district, explained the object of the meeting and went on to urge upon his hearers the necessity of organization for the coming campaign. He congratulated the democrats on the cheerfulness of the outlook and then declared the convention open for the transaction of business. The members of the democratic press present, Messrs. Joseph Daniels, of the Raleigh State Chronicle; F. T. Booker, of the Smithfield Herald; Jos. J. Stone, of the Clayton Bud; and J. I. McKee, of the News and Observer, were on motion of W. H. Pace, Esq., of Wake, made temporary secretaries, and on motion of Mr. W. G. Burkhead, of Wayne, a committee on permanent organization of one from each county was appointed. This committee was composed of Messrs. R. T. Gray, of Wake; F. A. Daniels, of Wayne; B. F. Shaw, of Harnett, and E. S. Moore, of Johnston. During its absence from the court-room, D. H. McLean, Esq., of Harnett, spoke in response to calls from the convention on the political situation, but briefly explaining that he had but one speech of any length, and that that was intended for the campaign.

AN OLD CITIZEN SPEAKS. Mr. J. M. Norris, an old resident of Rome (Ga.), says that he had been badly troubled with kidney complaint for a great many years, at times could scarcely walk and had tried many remedies without benefit, until he began taking Electric Bitters and another his hands with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. This treatment afforded him great relief and he strongly recommends Electric Bitters to all who suffer with Kidney Complaints, or need a Blood Purifier. Sold by all druggists.

denoe. He would accept the nomination and would go into the next campaign to forward the great interests of the democratic party. He had nothing to say of himself. No man ought to speak of himself. But he knew Walter Clark and would say that the confidence of the convention in the future had not been misplaced. In his opinion, as in the past, he said, he (Mr. Galloway) would administer the law without favor. He had often had to prosecute friends he had done so in the discharge of his duty. He had no apologies to make therefor to any living man. Should a friend come to him, however, and show that he had prosecuted him wrongfully he would apologise and seek to right the wrong.

This is an off year in politics, he continued, but that is a greater reason for each man to make himself a committee of one to urge on the work of the democracy. During the last sixteen months the laws of the land have been strictly administered, and through Grover Cleveland the right of all the people will be maintained. Ever since he had been old enough he had been fighting for the democratic party and he would continue to fight therefor always—charitably since men should be charitable in all their dealings with each other, but none the less vigorously for all that. He then again thanked the convention in very graceful manner for the nomination it had given him and took his seat.

On motion of Mr. Burkhead, an executive committee for the district was chosen, with the following result: Wake, W. N. Jones, Johnston, N. R. Richardson; Wayne, C. B. Aycock; Harnett, Dr. J. E. Rogers; and on motion the convention then adjourned. The convention seemed to be of but one mind and its business was therefore transacted rapidly and smoothly. There was, as far as could be seen, a unanimous purpose from the outset to renominate both Judge Clark and solicitor Galloway with enthusiasm. That the action will redound to the lasting good of the State there can be no doubt whatever.
