Any testimony that such a bomb had lain in the Arbeiter Zeitung office 'about three years,' as sworn to by Spies, is absolutely and unmistakably perjury. It bore upon its leaden sides proof that it was fresh from the hand that made it. It was composed of the same mixture of lead and tin found in the bomb ... xploded at the Haymarket gard the police as murderers, not promassaere. Such bombs come from a tectors. In the case of the one given to a Daily News reporter by Spics this rough rind had been rasped or filed away until the whole shone with the brightness of newly cut metal. Its side bore traces where a file had bit the metal away. For any man to pretend that a bomb bearing such palpable evidence of recent manufacture had been knocking about in an anarchist newspaper officer for three years insults intelligence; when he goes further and swears to such a pretense, he commits wilful perjury. A Thrilling Tragedy. MEMPHIS, Aug. 10 .- The Appeal's Helena, Ark., special says: A thrilling tragedy occurred yesterday at Holly Grove, Ark. Thomas Mull, a wealthy planter, shot and killed Frank Thomas, a well-known contractor. The difficulty between the two grew out of a dispute legarding some work done by Thomas for Mull for which he declared that he had not been paid. The lie was passed and Mull struck Thomas with a heavy buggywhip which felled him to the ground. On arising Thomas, it is alleged, put his hand behind him in such a manner as led Mull to believe that he was going for his pistol. Mull drew his pistol at once and sent a bullet through the heart of Thomas, who dropped dead Mull then mounted his horse and rode off. Fully forty people witnessed the killing. Mull owns several plantations in Tennessee and Mississippi, and it is thought he crossed the river and is now making for one of his plantations in Mississippi.

Paso del Norte is full of Mexican soldiers, of my lady's gown are to almost totally and rumors are in circulation that more disappear, and she to stand before the are coming. In fact, there are all eyes of the world of fashion in a figure kinds of rumors floating through the town. One is to the effect that three hundred Mexican horsemen are stationed at Laragassa, on the Mexican side of the river, thirteen miles below El Paso, opposite the Texas town of Pleta. The commander at Fort Bliss has sent down to investigate the rumors. Yesterday a number of copies of a legal brief in the Cutting case reached El Paso from Chihuahua. The brief is the work of Jesus Maria Policios, a leading lawyer in the state of Chihuahua, and is printed as official. It takes an elaborate view of the Mexican question and attempts to prove that article 186, of the Chihushua penal code, which provides for punishment in Mexico of offences committed in other countries, is not only in accord with the Mexican constitution, but also with international law and the treaties with the United States. Among the authorities on international law it quotes Heffler, Felix Ahrens, Bluntschlitz and more particularly Ortalan It comes to the following conclusion : First, that article 186 is perfectly applicable to to the ease of Cutting; second, that the article is in perfect accord with the Mexican constitution and treaties with the United States, and a peremptory demand for the release of third, that the article is perfectly justified by the doctrines and precedents of international law. The brief calls the demand to deliver up Cutting perfectly ridiculous Article 186, referred to, reads as follows: "Crimes committed in a foreign country by a Mexican against a Mexican shall be punished in the republic either when the offender country don't back up its demands it free will or have been brought there by deserves the contempt of all the little process of extradition; second, if the person offending is a foreigner and complaint be made against him by a proper naval officer continued, "reminds me of party; third, if the accused has not some things that happened ten years ago been definitely tried in the country where the offence was committed, and if he has not been released, absolved or pardoned ; fourth, if the offence he is knocked down the consul, pulled down offence punishable in the country where be received There was a strong wind the British flag and trailed it it was committed, and also in the repub- blowing from the southwest at the time in the dust.
