-Demi-season mantles are now in days of bright sunshine, when soft breezes are prevalent, which render a heavy wrap too oppressive, when yet the air brings a certain dampness on its wings which calls for more protection than the simple dress bodice. Most of the dressy antumn wraps are still made quite short at the back, fitting the form in graceful curves. The sleeves, so called, are cut in a piece with the garment, these serving to protect the upper portion of the arm without altogether taking the place of the sleeve proper. The fronts to many of these mantles are loose and limp, like the old-fashioned "talma," though other models show designs in regular coat shape, with close fitting sleeve, French back, the fronts out with two deep darts, and fitting the figure very closely. More expensive wraps, direct from Paris, are made of superb India fabrics, broches heavily woven with threads of real golden, and satin grounds in pale and neutral tints, brocaded with rich, darkcolored flowers in raised velvet, these beautifully shaded at their edges.

THE NEGRO QUESTION CINTINUES TO CROP

worthy foreman Griffith called the second session of the Knights of Labor convention to order at 9 o'clock this morning, in the absence of Mr. Powderly, who was detained at his hotel by business. It was announced that the committee on credentials was not ready Powderly arrived and was presented by brother O'Donnell with a gavel made from the wood of an orange tree that grew on the spot where Gen. Packenham was killed, at the battle of New Orleans. The presentation was made on behalf of the New Orleans Knights. The convention went into session again this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The report of the committee on credentials was read. It was very long and secretary Turner said it would take four hours to read it. It was doubtful whether the consideration of the report could be completed and action on it taken this afternoon. The committee of arrangements of the local Knights, ap-pointed to determine the details of the intertainment to be Knights next Monday, has decided to let the question of the coming of white and colored people to the ball that evening to settle itself. It has been arranged to have two dancing pavilions at the State fair grounds. Chairman Lynch said this afternoon that it was not the intention to assign one to the white Knights and other to the colored Knights. This order recognized no such distinctions, but at the same time the feeling here in regard to the social intercourse of the races was so well understood that they anticipated no trouble on that rcore. It was expected, of course, that colored people would prefer to associate with their own people. If, however, a colored knight and lady should choose to dance with white people in the other pavilion, he knew of no intention to prevent them. When asked if colored guests should present themselves at a table where whites were seated at the banquet, what would be done, he replied that he expected no trouble in would be prohibited from doing so. He intended speaking to Mr. Powderly on the subject in a day or so. He repeated that he expected no trouble. The fund for the entertainment of guests was raised by the colored and white local assemblies of Richmond. The Knights here have separate assemblies, and the colored Knights have contributed more fund. The arrangements for Monday next include a parade of local assemguests in carriages. Speeches will be made by Senator-elect Daniel, Gov. THE SECOND ATTEMPT RESULTS IN A MUR-DERER'S DEATH. St. Louis, Oct. 5 .- R. P. Wallace, the murderer of the Logan family of five persons, father, mother and three children, was taken from juil at Steelville last night by a mob and lynched. The guilty man had been taken to Steelville from Cuba, Mo., where the horrible crime had been perpetrated, for safe keeping, for fear that he would be summarily dealt with by the enraged citisens of Cuba. Friday morning a mob gained entrance to the jail, seized Wallace, dragged him from his cell and strung him up. He was cut down after being allowed to hang for a short time, in order that a confession might be forced from him. He refused to own the crime and before the crowd could hang him up again the sheriff gained possession of him and hurried him back to his cell. The mob was prevailed upon to disperse and it was supposed that the law would be allowed to take its own course. Last night, however, a second and more successful attempt was made to mete out justice to the murderer. A masked mob of about 100 men quietly gathered around the jail at midnight and demanded entrance of the jailer. This was refused and the mob battered down the doors. A delegation of their memilers was sent to bring out the dragged out to the infuriated mob, and was asked if he had anything to say. He replied by strongly protesting his innocence. This angered the mob more than ever and with a shout they produced a rope, one end of which they placed around the murderer's neck. The other end was thrown over a limb of a tree standing near the jail. The prisoner still protested his innocence and appealed for mercy, but without avail. Strong hands grasped the rope and Wallace's body swung in the air. Another chance was not given him to confoss and in a few minutes his body was a corpse. The mob dispersed and the jail officers cut down and took possession of the body. There is no clew to the leaders or participants in the lynching.

To those earthquake sufferers needing shelter, food and immediate pecuniary aid this committee have offered relief, and in their judgment there has been such a resumption of the normal life of this city as to justify the discontinuance of this system of assistance at an early day. The most difficult and gravest problem has been to fix correctly the number of victims whose loss is their shattered houses and who are actually unable to repair or rebuild them: and to estimate rightly the total amount of this loss in money, so that the good givers of this universal charity might know the limit of our actual need in this our distress. The committee have, after most eareful examination of cases as far as received arrived at the opinion that the sum of money already received by this committee, together with the estimated amount of collections now made and in progress of being made in the territory east of the Alleghanies, together with the estimated amounts now in process of collection in Chicago and other points west of the Alleghanies, of which they have been advised, will when received place the committee in a position to substantially help the needy sufferers for whose relief only this committee was formed. A larger and vaster less, falls upon the Federal government, the State county and city, in damage to public buildings, the great loss to churches. associations and corporations and the widespread damage done to residences, stores, workhouses and other property of private persons who are able out of their private means to replace and repair their losses. As great and distressing as their aggregate loss is to the publie and to individuals, it has not been within the scope of this committee's efforts, simply because it was not the cause of charity to the needy earthquake sufferers. As the grateful recipients of C. F. & Y. Reports as to the damage by frost to the tobacco crop are that at Oxford onesixth of the tobacco is standing and that it was seriously damaged. Some fields were much more seriously bitten than others. In the section around Durham considerable damage is reported by Saturday night's frost. At Henderson it is said that one-third the crop is uncut and is damaged. At Milton the frost was severe. It is said that about twofifths of the crop is uncut. In Buncombe the crops were in some cases badly hurt. In Haywood and Yancey counties there is reported great damage, but by far the greatest losses are sustained in Madison, the chief tobacco-raising county. Many crops are totally ruined, and will not be cut, being entirely abandoned by the planters. The smallest crop ever raised in that section will be that of this [season, it is said. Reports from the growing tobacco in the Danville section go to show that about one-third of the crop is still standing, and this is badly damaged by frost and
