ONLY SURE CURE. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. RESULT OF NEGLECT.

Rheumatism, Drofsy, Diabetes Gravel, Inflammation of Bladder, Bright's Disease.

Does this not cause you to halt? To examine your own condition and discover if you are not neglecting indications which point straight to a diseased condition of your kidneys? A poisoned condition of the blood, accompanying the inability of weak kidneys to separate and throw off the poisonous elements can be cured by the careful and persistent use of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

The action of Brown's Iron Bitters is through the blood and the stomach, directly upon the disorganized filtering processes of the kidneys. Remember that the nerves of the kidneys are directly connected with the whole nervous system and the brain, and most direful results will accrue from continued neglect of diseases of the kidneys. Nervous prostration and disease of the brain are sure to follow such neglect. You cannot be too careful of this remarkable and important organ of the human system.

Use Brown's Iron Bitters at the slightest hint your kidneys give you that you have violated some law of health. The tonic and alterative properties of this pure vegetable medicine make it the only remedy it is safe for you to use when your kidneys are out of ordes. Take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS and you will no longer be despondent and fretful. Your face will resume its healthy appearance, your eyes their accustomed brilliancy, pains in the back and sides will disappear, your sleep will become more restful and refreshing, and your Oh! my back! CHICAGO, October 15 .- The Protestant Episoopal convention was opened this forenoon by the reading of prayers by Rev. C. A. S. Richards, of Rhode Island. The message from the House of Bishops, while expressing sympathy for all wise efforts to increase the knowledge of the Bible in heathen lands, does not deem it expelient to incur further expenses. The House of Bishops also recommended the appointment of a joint committee to whom shall be referred all reports relating to the aged and infirm elergy fund. The House of Bishops also returned a communication in reference to a proposed resolution of the house of deputies to the congregational assembly, which among other things declares: The House of Bishops takes the oppertunity to assure the house of its profound sympathy with the spirit of their resolution. This house declares its hearty respect and affection for all who love the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerety, and at this time especially for their fellow-Christians assembled in this city as a national council of the Congregational church in the United States. This house also avows its solemn purpose, under the guidance of the Spirit, to promote, with the concurrence of the house of deputies, some practicable plan for bringing before all our fellow-Christians in this land means of terminating, the unhappy divisions which dishonor the Lord's blessed name and burden the triumph on earth of His glorious kingdom."

The communication states that the resolution is returned with the foregoing statement as a reason for failure to approve the resolution contained in the message. A motion was adopted providing that a vote be taken upon the proposal to drop the words "Protestant

This report endorses the report of the committee on legislation, of which Beaumont is also chairman, and recommends that the supplementary report of the same committee, in which a plan for a congress, composed of representatives of the Knights of Labor. to be established at Washington, be sent out to all local assemblies for their approval Beaumont is daily in receipt of letters both from Knights of Labor and others, commending his idea. The committee on the state of the order also endorses the general master workman's address to the general assembly, and recommends the endorsement of the report of Charles H Litchman, special agent appointed by the general master workman to represent the order before the congressional committee appointed to investigate the cause and effect of the Southwestern railroad strikes. In his report Litchman recites that the hearings were held at various places in Texas and Arkansas, and says: The testimony in behalf of the railroad was mainly to show what great damage had been caused by the strike to the no good here, as the packers will not railroad property and commerce, that it

Like a lot of parrots, they all echoed statements that the only cause they was the discharge of a man named Hall at Marshall, Texas. The ludierous sameness of this reply finally upset the dignity of the committee and after being repeated some sixty times never failed to bring a broad smile to their faces. In

In many instances the question was asked: "Would you strike again under similar circumstances?" "Most assuredly yes," was the unfaltering reply, I can-not but think as a result of my investigation that the railroad company had its spies in our assemblies and was fully informed of every move made and action contemplated. Knowing that the discontent existing would soon provoke a conflict, the company quietly massed a large surplus of help in that section and held them in readiness for emergency. The sompany was better prepared than the men. I have no doubt the claim of brother Hollis was correct, that the Knights had good reason to believe that the engineers would join them, for a prominent railroad official told me personally that the road fully expected that the engineers would join the Knights and had quietly arranged to bring engineers from a distance to take their places.
"Fortunately," he said, "we were able to make arrangements by which the engineers remained loyal and the men from a distance were not needed." Perhaps the opportune visit of P. M. Arthur, Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomo tive Engineers, to the southwest just at that time may have been referred to. It is easy enough now to say that the strike was ill timed, ill advised and
