MALARIA.

No location, no section of the country is entirely free from malarial influences. In some localities, however, there is much greater suffering from this cause than in others. The climatic influences, the nature of the soil, and the condition of drainage, all tend in the South and West to make malarial fevers very prevalent at some seasons of the year. The suffering from malaria in the system is not confined to the time when under its influence, but continues as a result of the poisoning of the system from this cause. In the past it has been the custom to administer quantities of quinine, or quinine and whiskey to overcome the effects of chills and fever, intermittent fever and all malarial fevers. This treatment is now coudemned by the highest medical authorities, as it so frequently causes the patient to suffer afterwards from congestion and neuralgia, and sometimes deafness. These are troubles more particularly due to the use of quinine, but it is hardly necessary to dwell upon the illeffects of whiskey in any case of fever. o long as there was no other specific known for malaris, so long the people had to rely upon these remedies and take the chances of relief from them and the almost certain ill effects which followed their use. But it is no longer necessary for any community to suffer from malarial troubles or these terrible after consequences. A remedy containing no whiskey, into the combination of which whiskey, into the combination of which no dangerous acids enter, a purely vegetable alterative and tonic medicine with which iron is skilfully combined is offered to the public as an anti-malarial. It is Brown's IRON BETTERS. Its prompt, efficient action upon the blood, eradicating the poison from the vital find and so preventing it from being fluid and so preventing it from being taken up by the stomach, liver and kidneys makes it just the corrective needed in malaria. It also furnishes strength to these organs, and through them to the whole system, by enriching and vitalizing the blood. The blood is the life of the body. Diseased or poisoned blood will poison the whole body and produce disease in the whole organism. It is evident that a medicine possessing the greatest efficiency in cleansing and purifying, enriching and strengthening the blood, is the best remedy for diseases which are due directly to blood poisoning. All chemists and physicians who have made an examination of Brown's IRON BITTERS endorse this remedy as constining these qualities to a superlative degree. For this reason so many physicians pre-scribe BROWN'S IRON BITTERS in interhave never heard of a single case where it failed to be of benefit. We have hundreds of testimonials of cures of these diseases by Brown's Inon Brytzes, from persons who have suffered many times in the past and found no relief from any other remedies. Its effect is also won-derful in lassitude, the tired, exhausted, worn-out, depressed feelings; you know them. You have experienced them. Brown's IRON BITTERS will furnish you strength, will remove the tired feelingthe feeling of languor and lassitude, and give you elasticity, vigor and health. No other remedy has the power and strength combined with the purity and enriching qualities of Brown's Iron Bitters. That this is the case is testing fied to by the people who have used it, the physicians and chemists who have examined it and recommended it, and the great sales, which in five years have increased twenty fold. Brown's Inon BITTERS does not injure or discolor the teeth, and does not cause headache or constipation. All other iron medicines do. Beware of imitations. We know it is the custom of some dealers (not many however) to attempt to sell something on which they can make more profit than we can allow them on Brown's IRON BITTERS. But don't be deceived. You want the genuine Brown's Iron BITTERS with the trade mark and crossed

-A farmer says in the Charlotte Home-Democrat that by careful mauagement a large addition of manurethe richest resource of the farm-may te made at the cost of some labor and little money out of pocket. A considerable bill for fertilizers is an eye-opener and sets one thinking how he can save the large lot of money for so small a lot of manure. An excellent way to make a big manure heap is as follows: dig from the swamp-and if the farmer is so unfortunate as to have none, let him offer his more fortunate neighbor to dig drains in his swamp for the muck he throws out; but in some way get a lot of swamp muck; 200 or 300 loads Make heap-a big one, in a field; spread a foot in depth of the muck, roughly, placed on Lisst's grave, beyond the whiten it all over with fresh lime from the kiln; add more muck and more lime, and so on until the hesp is five feet high. It will soon get hot and keep hot, and in the spring will be a sweet, dark, rich mass of valuable fertiliser, having from twenty to fifty pounds of nitrogen, worth fifteen to twenty cents a pound in artificial fertilizers, in every ton of it. More muck may be put in the cow yard, in the stable gutters, and especially in the pig pen along with the horse manure; which will all be turned over and over and worked up to a rich compost with the refuse of the pig pen. Making manure is a fine art far too little studied by farmers. Where swamp muck cannot be procured, leaves, straw, chaff and any

WILD POLES.

A HOWLING HORDE OF THEM MOBS A CANDIDATE.

MILWAUKER

MILWAUERR, WIS , Oct. 25 .- A considerable excitement was caused here Saturday night by the wild actions of a mob of Poles, who succeeded in breaking up a democratic mass-meeting. The people, it is claimed, had been commanded by the priests to attend a meeting which was held in a parish school house. Before going there they went to a hall and were addressed by Alderman Rudzinski, who obtained some notoriety during the May labor riots. He showed the crowd pictures of the Polish insurrectionists who had been put to death in the past, and made an incendiary speech. The people left the hall in a body and went to the school house, where John Black, the democratic congressional candidate, and other politicians were congregated. Black was chairman of the grand jury that indicted the rioters last spring, and when he attempted to speak the mob hooted him and his companions, and made such demonstrations that the politicians had to leave the hall. For two or three hours about 3,000 Poles crowded the streets for squares around, yelling like madmen.

SOME NOTES OF THE EXHIBIT AT IT WILL

APPRAR TODAY. The State fair begins its 26th annual fair today, and from present prospects the display and its attendant features will be equal to, and in some particulars even superior to, any fair ever held here. The work on the grounds is of such a character that they show, despite the long and severe drought, to better advantage than ever before. The grass is neatly out, the place tidy, fences and buildings neatly whitewashed, and everything particularly attractive. THE BERIBITS.

THE STATE BXHIBIT. This begins at the east door of the great exposition building and runs down the east aisle southward, thence extends west to the central aisle. It is a particularly attractive exhibit, and there are many thousands of specimens of the State's wealth in minerals, woods, stones; all kinds of crude products and finished ones. The exhibits are all grouped; for instance building stones together, marbles similarly arranged, Mr. McCook a son of Gen. Anson G. &c. There are 111 piles of gold ore, weighing from ten pounds to two tons There are copper, silver and gold in all shapes. The woods are all properly grouped by species, and form a superb display. The turpentine industry is illustrated by the trees and all their products. A feature of the State's display is a collection of over 300 gems from the Marion bullion and mining company. These gems represent many varieties and are all artistically cut.

THE WORTHERN SATTLERS' RESIRCT. This exhibit begins at the centre aisle of the exposition building and extends to the west aisle. Among the special exhibitors there are H. Steinmetz and A. B. Forest, of Raleigh, and H Bilgyeu, the latter showing grape vines.
