

NEWS AND OBSERVER.

PUBLISHED DAILY (EXCEPT MONDAY) AND WEEKLY. BY THE NEWS AND OBSERVER CO.

FRIDAY NOVEMBER 12, 1886. The Richmond Dispatch is still urging on the people of its city the importance of the railroad extension to Durham.

SENATOR HEARNS, of California, bot $5,000 that the legislature of his State would be democratic. He seems to have won his money.

JACK SHARP pleads not guilty in the New York Broadway bribery case and so do his three companions Richmond, Foshat and Kerr.

HEWITT put it very nicely when he said that the conflict was not between labor and capital, but rather between labor and laziness.

EACH eye of Bartholdi's statue of Liberty is two feet long, they say. What a winker she would make at dry-town soda-fountains!

CHICAGO, evincing possibly of Duluth, "the zenith city of the unsated seas", now calls herself "the vortex city of the wonderful west."

LOGAN HARRIS has stopped figuring on records. The whooping of his political confederates is to him like Dead Sea fruit upon the lips. The democratic majority is 18,000.

WE note with regret the death at his home in Mecklenburg county of Rev. Dr. Walter W. Pharr. He was one of the best known divines in this country and after a long life of the highest usefulness rests well, beyond a doubt.

THERE will, during December, be civil service examinations in the Southern States. Those who wish to stand the examination should apply at once for forms and blank applications to the clerk of the civil service commission at Washington, D. C.

WE have received a copy of the "Report of the Chairman of the Section on Medical Jurisprudence, by J. D. Roberts, M. D., Goldsboro, N. C.," a valuable paper read before the North Carolina Medical Society, at New Bern, May 21st, 1886.

ALTHOUGH the democrats failed to carry Ohio this year, the republicans likewise failed to poll a majority of the votes. The total vote was 700,768, and the republican ticket received but 340,895, nearly ten thousand less than a majority.

OLIO-MARGARINE is now taxed like whiskey, and dealers say its consumption will increase for the reason suggested by the French woman who, on tasting a glass of pure water exclaimed, "How delicious it would be if it were only wicked to drink it!"

NOTHING more thoroughly English than this from the London Times has recently appeared: "A great soldier, a great statesman, a great poet, even a royal prince might suddenly without giving half so general a shock as has been given by the news of the tragical death of Fred Archer, the jockey."

THE republicans are talking about upsetting the election in New Hampshire because the clerk in one of the wards signed the names of "the selectmen" to the notice that the election was to be held! They are an imbecile set of fellows—these radicals.

THERE really seems to be one office in which the office seeks the man and not the man the office. It is in some parts of India where any village goes tax free that selects two men for slaughter. There is great difficulty in making the selection. Men absolutely shun the distinction of being offered up.

CUTTING comes to the front again as the organizer of a filibustering expedition into Mexico. Should he be captured and held indefinitely beyond the Rio Grande no tears will be shed of this side the line. He is altogether too small a fellow to become an international issue.

MORRISON would receive a great deal more sympathy in his defeat, if he had not, by his abominable secession, lost us a senator from Illinois last spring. Had he been patriotic, he would have gotten out of the way and allowed some other democrat to be elected instead of the republican Legan. Let him rest in peace!

THE young Prince Waldemar, of Denmark, who was chosen by the Sobor of Bulgaria to be the ruler of that country, has no special fitness for the place which he has been called. His chief claims to distinction are the facts that he is a brother-in-law of the Czar and of the Prince of Wales, and that he has but one Christian name, an occurrence that is rare indeed in royal families. He was elected with a view to pleasing his imperial brother-in-law of Russia, whereas that potentate now announces that his choice was the Prince of Mingrelia, and all is again at sixes and at sevens.

THE ADMINISTRATION ENDORSED.

One general result of the elections should not be lost sight of, and that is the fact that our democratic administration has been handsomely endorsed by the country at large. Hitherto the rule has been that every congressional election following first after the accession of a new administration has gone against that administration. The record with respect to the republicans has been unbroken. This time, however the democrats, who have just taken charge of things, are not only retained in control of the House, but are given an increase of three senators in the upper chamber. The variation from the rule is striking and is causing widespread remark. It shows that republican excesses have invariably brought forth prompt rebuke, while democratic principles applied meet as might be expected with hearty approval. In Virginia and to some extent in North Carolina there has not been the full appreciation we would like to have seen, but generally there has been a decided endorsement. In New England, in the Northwest, in Colorado, California, and throughout the North it has been seen. The republican majority in Pennsylvania was reduced largely; there was made clear a decided change of sentiment in New Jersey, Maine, and even Rhode Island. Everywhere, save in the instances mentioned, the result was such that the President feels fully satisfied that the policy of which he is the representative has been approved.

These things speak well for the democracy, though democratic principles when understood must always commend themselves to the people. Whatever dissatisfaction exists may be traced to the dilatoriness of congress in setting on such questions of importance as tariff reform, the educational bill, the internal revenue and so on. But in spite of this we see a marked endorsement of our democratic administration, showing that the confidence of the masses in democracy has been in no degree diminished. This, too, has been in the face of all precedent, of the invariable rule that for years each republican administration has first opportunity. The fact, we say, is reason for pride among democrats and for still stronger adherence to the immortal and inherently right principles they profess.

The Richmond Dispatch prints an interesting interview with a brother of Oliverius, who believes thoroughly in Tommie's innocence. He thinks Miss Madison came to her death by suicide, and argues in favor of that theory that she had more reason to kill herself than anybody had to kill her. He says the prisoner failed to establish an alibi because the newspapers had him convicted as the bar of public opinion before he could do so. Oliverius will in all probability hang nevertheless early in December.

OUR neighbor, the Chronicle, prints a number of letters from leading democrats and republicans in the State on the causes that "brought about the republican gains and democratic losses in the State." One of the most significant of these is the contribution of Cyrus B. Watson, Esq., of Winston. Elsewhere we reproduce a part of it which refers to the State press. It may be well for our brethren of the quill to consider it, and if they find themselves derelict in the respect mentioned by Mr. Watson, to seek in future to avoid the shortcomings which have aided in bringing about a bad result. We of the press all realize certainly that we are far from being perfectly wise or omniscient, but we believe, too, that we are all anxious to be other than blind guides and are therefore thankful always for such generous criticism as shall lead to the correction of errors.

BOB INGERSOLL, blasphemous as he is, sometimes says things which are not only smart but of positive value in an economical way. One of the best of his latest is the following strong argument in few words: "Here is a shoe shop. One man in the shop is always busy at work during the day—always industrious. In the evening he goes courting some good, nice girl. There are five other men in the shop who don't do any such thing. They spend their working hours in loafing and their evenings in dissipation. The first young man by-and-by cuts out these others, and gets a boot and shoe store of his own. Then he marries the girl. Soon he is able to take his wife out to ride of an evening. The five loafers, his former companions, who see him indulging in this luxury, retire to a neighboring saloon and pass a resolution that there is an eternal struggle between capital and labor."

THE protectionists pretend that they won a triumph last week, but the fact remains that there will be more tariff reformers in the fiftyth Congress than there are in the present one. One of the great tariff reform leaders, Mr. Morrison, was defeated, it is true, and another, Mr. Carlisle, was elected by a reduced majority, but it is true also that the tariff reform principle made great gains, particularly in New England and the Northwest, and that in consequence it will be stronger henceforth in Congress than it ever has been. It was among the democrats who follow the high tariff theories of Mr. Randall that whatever losses were sustained were placed, in the main. The truth is that no feat was made more prominent by the election than that the tariff reform element is working actively. It is founded in reason and common sense and in the necessity of the people. It is therefore bound to triumph in the end, whatever absurd claims the protectionists may make from time to time as against it. The cause of tariff reform will be stronger in the next congress than it is in the present one and the democrats will have a fair working majority whereas it was at the present time.

Yolande is the name of a new post-office in Cabarrus county.

Three Asheville Items.

Cor. of the NEWS AND OBSERVER. Hon. Robert L. Taylor, the governor-elect of Tennessee, is here visiting his wife and her relatives, the Bairds. He will spend a few days in the city and will probably be the recipient of public attention and hospitalities. The persons injured in the W. N. C. R. R. accident of Saturday are doing well, and no serious results are feared to any of them. W. W. Jones, formerly of Raleigh, and G. A. Shuford have formed a law and partnership.

For Doorkeeper of the House.

Cor. of the NEWS AND OBSERVER. We wish to suggest the name of Mr. M. H. Lindsay, of Mecklenburg, for doorkeeper to the House. Mr. Lindsay is a wounded Confederate, a working democrat, always doing his full share in every campaign—a courteous gentleman, who will discharge the duties of the position acceptably in every particular. As this section has not had an asked for any of these legislative positions, we hope Mr. Lindsay's claims will be considered favorably. MECKLENBURG.

A Chicago Martin Irons.

Chicago Tribune. The present senseless, unreasoned strike at the stock yards, which is in direct contravention of the agreement made between the packers and the credited agent of the Richmond convention due to the conduct of Master Workman Butler, who has ordered out the men after it was demonstrated to the satisfaction of the executive board of the Knights of Labor that the packing firms could not run their business on the eight hour basis. In defence of this authority, and in contempt of Mr. Powderly's publicly expressed opinion that the time is not yet ripe for eight hours' work, this man Butler, upon his personal authority, not even representing assembly No. 57, but heading a clique of his henchmen, has precipitated the beef and pork butchers into another strike which cannot but entail loss of money and of work upon them.

In taking this step Butler is playing the role of the hot-headed fool Martin Irons. Delegate Barry, when he was here, did not hesitate to express his want of confidence in him as the leader of the local assembly. He seems to have sided him up in that time as dangerous and incompetent. It now remains to be seen what course Mr. Powderly will pursue in preventing this malicious, hot-headed, reckless Butler from accomplishing any further mischief. Most certain it is that he must do something if he does not want public sentiment in the West to set in strongly against his organization. Meanwhile Master Workman Butler, who is following so closely in the step of Master Workman Martin Irons, will before long find himself overthrown by the same fate which has settled the Southwestern demagogue. When the thousands of butchers in Paekinatown find that they have lost not only their money and time but their places also, and that Butler alone is responsible for it, they will turn upon him as the railroad employes turned upon Irons. He is laying up wrath against the day of wrath for himself, for it is now certain that the packing firms of Chicago will conduct their business as they please, that they will not endure any more violations of agreements, that those who go out will stay out, and that those who take their places will stay and be protected. If the butchers of the Stock Yards were wise they would send Butler about his business. But whether he or not, the Martin Irons of Paekinatown will meet the fate of the Martin Irons of Missouri.

Shot to Death.

The Times-Democrat publishes an account of an eye-witness of the execution on October 18 of Gen. E. Delgado, Lieut. Col. Indalecio Garein, Commander Miguel Cortes and Lieut. Gabriel Loyano, who were shot at Comayagua for leading an expedition against Honduras. The four officers above named were lodged in a small prison at Comayagua when the news of their sentence reached them. Gen. Delgado's wife was there to plead for her husband's life. It was the desire of President Bogran to spare Gen. Delgado's life if possible, and any pretext would have been seized upon to give him an opportunity of saving himself and at the same time vindicate the tribunal which condemned him. The President sent a message to him to say that if he would promise to never again take up arms against Honduras he should receive a pardon. The soldier was too brave to accept even his life on these terms, and he sent back word that he would see Honduras in an even more tropical climate than she now enjoys before he would accept his pardon on such a pledge. When his answer was received there was nothing left but to prepare for the execution. In the countries south of this there are few preliminaries to such not uncommon events. A priest, a firing signal and an coffin are soon obtained. On the morning of their execution the men were taken to a point near the Church of Comayagua, four coffins were placed near the wall and the four condemned men were led to them. They accepted their positions as easily and gracefully as if they were in boxes at the opera, and not a face was blanched, not a nerve quivered. General Delgado asked and received permission to order the guard to fire, which he did, first requesting them not to shoot him in the face, but in the breast. There was no rattle, no scattering reports, but one sharp, stinging report. The four men for half a second remained in an upright position, as if still unhurt, and then rolled over limp and bloody dead. The soldiers had complied with Gen. Delgado's request, for three balls had penetrated his breast.

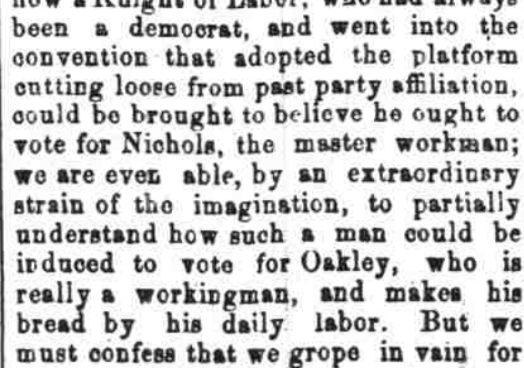

Condon's Surprise Mm.

Detroit Free Press. It is hard to surprise some country landlords. A Boston man had scarcely registered the name of Christopher Columbus at a village tavern in Wisconsin, when the landlord reached out his paw and exclaimed: "How are ye Chris! Bin expectin' you since the year 1492!"

Spirit of the State Press.

One of the good effects of the recent election in Cleveland county has been to draw the lines distinctly between the democratic and the republican party and to silence the independent movement. The victory for the party has given democrats a better reason for the hope that is in them and has shaken the confidence of independents in the position they have assumed. It has cemented the party more firmly together and placed it on a more solid footing in Cleveland county than it has been in many years. The importance of organization has been emphasized and hereafter the party will march in a more solid phalanx under the proud banner which waves over our well-worn and well-remembered success—SHELBY AURORA.
