A QUESTION ABOUT Brown's Iron Bitters ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousand of times. "How-can Brown's Iron Bittees core everything?" Well, it doesn't, But it does cuse any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe IIDB Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative agent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of iron their of any there substance used in medicine. This shows continuity that iron is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medical practice. It is, bovever, a remarkable fact, that prior their discovery of BROWN'S IRON BETTER's no perfectly satisfactory iron combination had ever been found. BROWN'S IRON BITTERSties to the local nesdaths, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures indigestion, Billoumean, Weakness, Dyspopola, Malaria, Chills and Feyers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Dyspication, Malarin, Chills and Feyers, Tired Feeling, General Debility Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Headache and Neuraligin—for all these allments Iron is prescribed daily, BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, however, does a minute. Like all other thorough medicines: it acts is why. When taken by uses the first symptom of bonefit is renewed energy. The musclesthen become firmer, the digestion improves, the bowels are active. In some the offect is susually more residiand marked. The eyes begin at once to brighten; the stin clear is up; healthy color comes to the checks; newcommiss disappears; functional detangement become residiang and if a nursing mother, abundant systemance is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY from medicine that is not invited. on wrapper. TAKE NO OTHER.

I have practiced spreading all the manure could scrape up in the fall, and am satis find that I get double the profit that I do when applied in the spring, which is usually after dry weather has begun with us. Some fears are entertained that some of the fertilizing value of manure is lost when spread in autumn. Even if it is, how much better to have it all fined down by freezing, and also mingled with the soil than to lose say one-half by being lumpy and not evenly distributed through the soil, or not in a soluble condition ! The Legislature which will soon meet in Raleigh will as usual have to elect a State printer. We believe that those who do the most valiant service in the political campaigns should, everything being canal, be rewarded for their faithful service when it is in the power of the party to do so. The fact has long since been patent to the minds of the democratic party in North Carolina that in order to secure success we must have an ably conducted daily paper at the capital. It must be strongly supported, for in that it becomes the more efficient. The result of the last election has given the democratic party a lesson that proves to them that good, solid work will have to be done two years from now. The history of the daily papers started in the city of Raleigh hows that more than $100,000 has been spent in such enterprises. The News and Observer has withstood the storms of the financial crisis and has been a power in the land for the cause Amalgamate under the name of the of democracy. A MAN AND A WOMAN MAKE THE TRIP IN BARREL.

NIAGARA FALLS, Nov. 28 -- George Haslett and Miss Sadie Allen, of Buffalo went through the rapids and the whirlpool this afternoon in the torpedoshaped barrel used by Hazlett and Potts last summer. They were in the rapids and whirlpool five minutes and were taken out of the eddy on the Canadian side, just below the whirlpool, three quarters of an hour later, in good condition. Miss Allen is a respectable girl, eighteen years old, a petite brunette and rather pretty.

Miss Allen when she appeared at the ferry ready to enter upon the parilous journey were a nest walking dress. Taking off her hat and jacket and throwing a shawl over her head she stepped lightly into the barrel through the manhole, tucking her garments closely about her and laughingly remarking, "Come, George, jump in; I'm all fixed." Soon after Hazlest stepped into the craft, fastening himself in the end opposite to that occupied by Miss Allen. Just thirty minutes from the time the barrel was towed out into the river it reached the whirlpool.

The start was made from the Maid of the Mist landing, on the Canadian side When the barrel resched the maelstrom it shot right into the centre of the pool, making two or three turns. Leaving the pool the barrel followed the current out toward the Canadian shore, and down to the outlet of the pool, where it got into a large eddy and bobbed around for half an hour. Friends near by shouted to the occupants of the barrel, when Hazlett opened a small door on the top and Frank Lawson threw a rope from the shore, which Hazlett secured and the barrel was towed ashore.

Hazlett was severely bruised and the girl was so weak and sick that she could not move, and Haslett had to lift her out. She was carried to the bluff, covered up warmly and driven as quickly as possible to Hearn's hotel. Stimulants were given her and she was placed behind the stove to get warm. She seemed to be suffering intensely from the shock and was as pale as a ghost.

When she had sufficiently recovered Miss Allen feebly whispered to her "Yes, you did, my girl," he refor any more of it, do you?" "No, indeed," she replied. ing would ever tempt me to go through again." Then, turning to the World correspondent, she continued: "I am all right, I guess, but my limbs and body feel terribly bruised and sore. I guess! can't go home tonight, for I feel as if I couldn't stir. You see I was not used to the thing and in the terrible ordeal lost my grip on the handles and was thrown about considerably. I was, oh. so frightfully sick. When I came out of the barrel I did not know where I was at all. When I was being taken up in the elevator I guessed every man kissed me a dosen times. I never saw such a lot of crazy and silly fellows. Several gave me gold pieces, and this (holding out a nickel) was the smallest, but I value is as a token of good-will just the same.] should never have made the trip if I had known it was such an awful place, but after I once said I would go, why I would." Haslett was bruised considerably, but kept on his feet, trying to minis-ter to the comfort of the girl. She stayed tonight with her people, but will go to Buffalo if she feels able.

It is an unheard of thing for any objest to go through the whirlpool and stop short of the mouth of the river. At Thompson's point, however, several bodies have been found, and it will now go down on the local charts as a place equal to the devil's hole.

The barrel used today was the one in which Haslett and William Potts went through the rapids. Its extreme length is ten feet and the diameter tapers from twenty-four inches to six inches The pointed end, which is round like s bullet, is covered with sheet iron. A bulkhead, about four feet back from the smaller end, forms an air chamber The upper side of the craft is slightly flattened and in the centre is placed a sort of turret or cupola, with glass covered peep-holes. This covers the opening through which access is obtained to the interior, and is made secure by means of a strong iron clamp, which can be securely fastened from the inside. An oak keel is attached to the bottom. A sheet iron rudder and screw wheel are attached to the large end and are operated from the interior The wheel it was decided to remove this that it could not be operated in the terrible mæ'strom through which it was to be navigated. The staves are of locust one and one-half inches thick and bound together by means of two-inch bands of hoop iron. The heads are of oak. The bottom of the barrel is thickly padded and two sets of handles are attached to the sides. The weight of the bare vessel is 500 pounds. This time 500 pounds were taken for ballast. "But oh! what damned minutes tells he o'er" who suffers, but waits; who writhes, yet moans, before he makes up his mind to send out for just twenty-five cents worth of Salvation Uil, the pain cure.

The Experiment Farm. The fame of our State experiment farm has gone abroad. The Farm and Home of Springfield, Mass., in a late issue says of it:

"The North Carolina experiment station has done such good work that last winter the farmers of the State united in asking that the station be provided with a farm for experimental purposes, so as to still further increase its usefulness. The request has been complied with, the farm secured, and the new but simple and inexpensive buildings were appropriately dedicated with largely attended public exercises in July. Dr. C. W. Dabney, Jr, the chemist and director, has reason to be proud of this recognition of his labors, the State is to be congratulated on having such ser-vices at its command, and North Careline farmers have shown their practical good sense in appreciating what science has already done for them, and in providing the means whereby it may do still more. Let them apply to their own operations the knowledge imparted by the station, and ever liberally support its work, and the productiveness and value of their farms will increase and agriculture become more profitable and more honored."
