THE Alabama senate has passed a general local option law and the assembly as a whole is freely passing prohibition bills for the counties.

MINISTER MANNING, it is reported, has taken the preliminary steps toward suing for libel the authors of the recent reports prejudicial to his character.

Wm understand that Hon. Jas. W. Reid obtained a ten days leave of absence from Congress, but we see it stated that he has not returned home.

SENATOR VANCE lectured in Boston, Wednesday, and we see that the Jewish citizens of Washington are very anxious to hear from his lips his beautiful tribute to "The Scattered Nation."

M. FLCQUET gave up the task of forming a cabinet for the French, and M Goblet has consented to try his hand. This centleman's name, though, Anglicised, is too suggestive of a glass vessel to inspire one with hope that he will form a non-breakable ministry.

Wm note with pleasure the prompt action of the House in the matter of fixing a satisfactory method of counting the electoral vote. Such action was urgently demanded and a final conclusion of the matter reached in a spirit of patriotism should not be delayed a day longer than is necessary.

Mexico does not like what the President said about the alleged 1 ight of that country to try Americans committing offenses against Mexican law while on American soil, and diplomatic relations of grave importance will arise, it is said, in consequence. Let 'em 'rise.

THE bottom has dropped out of the oil market at Pittsburg, it is reported. Everybody was taken by surprise and

THE second trial of New York's boodle alderman McQuade has now fairly begun. The jury has been completed, the opening address made, and Duffy, have given in their testimony against the oulprit. Justice seems likely to be done after all, though nearly a fall of the heavens has been necessary thereto.

WE note with pleasure that Mr. Albert H. Dowell has become editorially connected with the Albemarle Enquirer, which paper, by the way, is to be improved in many respects next year, it is announced. Mr. Dowell has been for the past thirteen years on the New York and Cincinnati press in an editorial capacity and for some years published a newspaper in Asheville.

Tun opponents in the House of the bill sreating a department of agriculture and labor have doubtless good ground for their opposition. An erection of such a department in violation of constitutional principles would work not good but harm to the agricultural interest. The News and Observer will heartily endorse any measure, federal or state, having for its object the welfare of agriculture, but as an honest poper, it must, of course, reserve the right to exercise its judgment in all are by no means always what they

THE people of several sections of South Carolina are said to be in a deplorable condition. The wheat and oat crops in the up-country were entirely destroyed by the frost of last January; the corn crop was ruined by the spring floods and the cotton crop will not exceed 40 per cent of the last year's crop. There is sourcely a farmer who made expenses. This is a sad report and unfortunately there are sections of North Carolina which are not in much better The farmers, however, should apply themselves all the more industriously for the misfortunes they have suffered, do their utmost to raise the bread and mest they need and endeavor to improve their lands by hard work judiciously done. Let the areas cultivated be brought more and more within the limit of the ability to farm of the individual agriculturist and let elbow grease and home-made fertilizers work out independence of the searons as far as possible.

A WORD FOR HARMONY.

The News and Observer regrets that any Eastern paper has found it desirable t) make such flings at the people of the West as the Wilson Advance has lately indulged in. We are well aware that others talk sometimes is the Advance has expressed itself, but we are confi dent that such is by no means the general sentiment of the East. The people of the East are behind those of no o'her section of the State in comprehensive ideas and devotion to patriotic duty. SATURDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1886 They do not confine their view to their immediate surroundings, but look out all over the broad expanse of our commonwealth and hold it to be their dut 7. as it is their pleasure, to aid in the development of the entire State. To do otherwise would be no less harmful to themselves than unpatriotic. For as the west flourishes, the east is bencfited. The completion of the Western N. C. railroad has already added ten millions to the value of property across the mountains, though the settlement of the mountain region is still in its infancy. The development of the western country has aided largely in producing that condition which now justifies a reduction of taxation, and that is a substantial benefit which the people of the east will certainly appreciate. But apart from that, the onslaught of Bro. Daniels is by no means justified.

The west has never made any demands upon the east that we recall. The patriotic representatives of the west have ever exhibited a purpose to stand cheerfully by all measures which the eastern white men recommended as necessary to secure them in the control of their local affairs. It is but proper for eastern men to award the western people full credit for their action in this matter. While it was wise, while it was neighborly, while it was only what the east would have done by the west under similar circumstances, yet it is a course of conduct which the east should ever appreciate and value at its true worth. Under these circumstances, we fail to some heavy dealers were driven to the if we may be permitted to say so with- the claim to be collected as any other wall. Mr. Morrison doubtless desires to pave the way for the introduction of a republican bill for revision and thus secure to his party the prestige of a measure for relief from the oppression of the present unnecessary taxation. Coffey, elected to the legislature, failed to meet on Monday, and another call has been made for the first Monday in January. Some of the offipers filed their bonds on Monday, while others failed ewing to the absence of their securities. They have been given until next Monday to file their bonds at the meeting called for that purpose. Our mail facilities are simply abomin-

Spirit of the State Press. The West has shown no disposition to abuse the generosity of the East; no intimation to suggest the sense of obligation, not the most distant idea of regarding the county government question as one of bargain and sale. The West, with many inducements to a contrary course, took its position on the county governnent question on the broad principles of State comity, on the generous principle of what was due to the oppressed people of the East, on the high ground of the paramount rights of the white race. No taunts, no suspicion of motives, no imputations of selfishness will move the West from the stand it has taken: - Asheville Citis n.

There is but one way possible practically to reduce the rate of interestthat is by increasing the sum of money, seeking investment in the locality. As this can only be done by saving, it is a slow process. We have heretofore suggested the encouragement of savings banks as a means of insreasing the amount of money for loan, and think it will prove useful to the end.

In discussing a statement made by the Asheville Citizen to the off of that Western North Carolina will ask the next Legislature for aid for railroads, some things have been said by our exchanges that ought not to have been said. The Wilson Advance, edited by a young, enthusiastic man, who really means well, we believe, has used language that is offensive to us as a representative of the West. He says, 'in the name of all that it is just, when will we get thro' paying these Western people less of the interests of the people as a for our county government?" That whole and of the great farming class pragraph is full of stings. Is it not our especially. It is too well known that county government as well as theirs?
