NEWS OBSERVATIONS.

The excitement in Paris has subsided and the city is now quiet.

Mr. Locke of the National Opera Company says that the ballet is a failure and will be abandoned.

Frank Roe, the son of Mrs. Hattie Penney, on trial at Buffalo for the murder of her husband, testified for the prosecution.

Vicar Warren, of Trinity church, Lambeth, England, has sent a conditional acceptance of the call extended to him by Trinity church, New York.

Ex-Congressman George L. Converse, of Ohio, comes out strongly for Allen G. Thurman as the proper nominee of the democrats of that state in the next gubernatorial campaign.

A new county in Florida is very appropriately named Lake, as one-half of the territory is occupied by lakes. Leesburg is the leading town, and will probably be made the county seat.

The whole Cumberland Valley, the garden spot of southeastern Pennsylvania, is threatened with financial blight. The "Bohemian oats" swindlers and their insidious methods have done the work.

A marriage has been arranged between Duke Albrecht of Wurtemberg and the daughter of Crown Prince Frederick William. This project is connected with the Wurtemberg succession question.

A Russian doctor named Babow says that nine times out of ten headache can be almost instantly cured by swallowing a spoonful of salt dissolved in a quantity of water sufficient to allow the sufferer to swallow it.

The chain of evidence appears to be tightening around Barkeley Peak, the young New Jersey man who is suspected of having murdered his sweetheart Miss Mary Anderson.

His supposed victim's deathbed statements, which are testified to with great distinctness and emphasis, press hard against him. His counsel will endeavor to prove an alibi for him.

Jay Gould testified before the Pacific Railroad commissioners in New York that the Central Branch directors "fooled" him by holding back freight and rushing it over the road when he was inspecting it.

At Boston Gov. Ames testified that Mr. Gould never rode over the road until after the transaction he referred to, so witness could not have "fooled" him in that respect.

One hundred thousand dollars of the Lick trust was set apart to pay for a group of bronze statuary in San Francisco to represent the history of California in three periods.

First, from the early settlement of the missions to the acquisition of California by the United States; second, from the acquisition by the United States to the time when agriculture became the leading interest of the state; and third, from the last named period to the first day of January, 1874.

Fine French cashmere and various light woolen fabrics, that resemble canvass and mohair, are used by Paris modistes in combination with soft silks that have velvet or satin stripes.

Ecuri surah forms a pretty French model, this sprinkled with dark golden-brown figures. This material composes the basque, and forms the long draperies over a plain slightly full skirt of ecuri and golden-brown lace, which shows on each side from belt to foot.

Upon the bodice is a shirred vest of pink China crape, showing revers of golden-brown velvet beyond, with collar and cuffs to match.

As it seems to be the fashion for all to give their mode of making king cotton, I will give mine. In the first place, I always break or back up my land as deep as two good mules can pull a ten-inch plow.

I always run a center furrow with a bull-tongue or shovel, then bed on that; then I take a heavy log and drag over the land so as to pulverize the soil as much as possible, and also to tear the bed down to a level, as I do not advocate planting on a high bed, either corn or cotton. I then take a small bull-tongue and open in the center of the bed, and be sure and go deep enough to reach the hard ground, for it is a well-known fact that cotton does not grow above ground until the tap root reaches hard ground.

I then take the Harris-Dow-Low cotton planter with small plow to cover with instead of spring-board and plant, covering the seed from three to five inches deep. Then in about a week or less, I take a log or brush and go over the land again to get it level, then after the cotton is all up I run around it with a small sweep, throwing the soil to the cotton. I then chop to a stand as soon as it can be done.

I intend to experiment with a small piece of cotton this year; I like some of "Gossip's" ideas, the one of dwarfing cotton for instance, but not in his way by letting it get matted in cargrass, as that would take too much elbow grease in getting it clean again, but by not chopping it out as soon as I otherwise would do. I know it pays to thin corn out as soon as it is above the ground, but as to cotton I am not so sure, so I intend to try it both ways for my own satisfaction.

I am going to put some to stand as soon as up above ground, then I am going to leave the same number of rows unchopped for two or three weeks longer, but keep it clean with plow, and then give it the same cultivation and see for myself which is the best.

The Trial of Jake Sharp.

NEW YORK, June 3.—When the court of oyer and terminer opened this morning for the trial of Jake Sharp, there were only eleven jurors in the box.

District Attorney Martine today corroborated the statements that attempts had been made by somebody to fix the jurors in this case, and that that was the reason for excusing Messrs. McLewee and Caldwell.

Mr. Peter McMichael, of counsel for the defense, said: "When I make this statement you may depend that I have proof of what I say, and you can bet money upon it. Emisaries of the district attorney have been at work in these cases so as to give the impression that the defendant has been attempting to fix the jury men that they might lock them up. They succeeded in the case of Alderman O'Neill, but we don't propose that they shall in Mr. Sharp's case."

It is absurd to suppose that Mr. Sharp or any one in his employ has approached Mr. Rufpel, of the district attorney claims they did, or as was claimed in the O'Neill case. It is only an attempt to prejudice Mr. Sharp's case.

The clerk of the court, after the proceedings were opened, announced that the witnesses present, on the part of the people, were excused until Monday morning, which definitely determines that the actual trial of the case will not begin before that time, even though a jury be obtained before.

K. OF L.

THE STRIKE IN THE COKE REGION.

THE UMPIRE TO BE SUSTAINED—THE K. OF L. MEN TO RETURN TO WORK—OTHER NEWS BY WIRE.

PITTSBURGH, June 3.—Members of the Knights of Labor executive board who have been investigating the strike in the coke regions have forwarded their report to the general board. They claim that the strike is illegal and recommend that the members of the Knights of Labor return to work, and also sustain the umpire in his award.

They say representatives of the workmen themselves presented the case in such a way as to warrant the umpire in arriving at the decision. They make no peremptory order to return to work but say that the Knights of Labor must abide by the decision and wait until some future conference to secure the advances in wages to which they are justly entitled.

The trouble is attributed to the fact that there are two distinct organizations in the region and that concert of action is almost impossible. It is believed that the K. of L. men will go to work again.

The Full Penalty of the Law. NEW YORK, June 3.—At the King's County court of sessions, Brooklyn, Townsend and Augustus Johnson, the men who set fire to Palmer's Coopers in Williamsburg, on April 2nd, and again on last Saturday, were sentenced by Judge Moore this morning to the full penalty of the law, 14 years each. The men pleaded guilty to arson in the third degree on two indictments.
