

NEWS OBSERVATIONS.

The Czar, it is reported, has become a most devoted fisherman.

James Reynolds was taken from jail at Leon, Iowa, by masked men and hanged to a neighboring bridge.

Prince Ferdinand has taken the oath of office and assumed the throne of Bulgaria. The ministry has resigned.

St. Louis is making an earnest effort to capture the next national democratic convention, and the present outlook indicates her success.

A connection between the East and West Railroad of Alabama and the Georgia Pacific Railroad, at Pell City, Ala., was completed Saturday and trains run through.

The California State Democratic Club has appointed a committee of seven to consult with the State and city authorities with a view to extending a formal invitation to President Cleveland to visit California.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers met on Saturday at Atlanta, Ga., with three hundred members present. Mr. Arthur, chief of the Brotherhood, made an address on the object and nature of the order.

A young married man from Birmingham, Ala., is crazy at a hotel in Spartanburg, S. C. He is said to be a raving maniac, and the doctors attribute the cause solely to his excessive indulgence in the cigarette.

Thursday night the west-bound "cannon-ball" train on the Transcontinental railroad ran over a cow three miles west of Dodd City, Texas. The engine broke loose from the train and turned a complete somersault, instantly killing fireman Hugh McLane. No one else was injured.

As a passenger train on the Burlington and Missouri River road, ten miles west of Nebraska City, was crossing a trestle bridge across a deep ravine, the wood-work was discovered to be on fire. An investigation disclosed the fact that the stringers and braces were entirely consumed. The train was unusually light, and this alone prevented a fearful catastrophe.

The tournure is neither greater nor less; it remains stationary. Skirts will remain short for the street, demurely trained for fetes and five o'clock teas, and full-trained for evening dress. Corsages are wonderfully varied, as well for day as for evening. There are plastrons, Vandyke pieces, back insertions, vests, half-vests, gimpes, blouse fronts with jersey sides, and jersey fronts with loose side forms.

Leather on, there will be small simulated capes, the upper part of the corsage made of plush or velvet, with Suvarov sleeves, giving the top of the corsage, back and front, the appearance of a short cape. Corsets, continually altered and modified in aspect, are still much worn. One style of evening corsage is open to the middle of the chest, with a very deep turn-down collar of velvet of a contrasting color. Inside the opening is a pleated fob, crossed; made either of lace or of tulle. The velvet of the collar is repeated in a deep belt and in the tufts of the puffed sleeves. Other corsages are low on the shoulder, pointed, and open from top to bottom upon a plastron of lace or crape crossed and made to simulate an inner-lace corsage. This is a very old fashion revived.

That by giving swine a variety of wholesome food, an abundance of pure water, comfortable clean shelters and quarters, and keeping as near to nature's treatment as the conditions of domestication will permit, we may nearly or altogether prevent the appearance of swine cholera, is supported by some evidence that it cannot be denied with reason. My father indulged in the expensive luxury of frequent outbreaks of cholera among his swine for years; then, becoming convinced that rational, careful treatment of the animals would prevent this disease, he stopped his search for a remedy and gave all his attention to sanitation and hygiene in the swine lot.

That was almost twenty years ago, and there has been but one outbreak of disease among his swine since, and that only carried off five or six pigs. He has always been known as an extensive grower of the best hogs. He has raised nothing but pure bred swine for a quarter of a century at least; hence he has further demonstrated that pure-bred swine may be protected from the disease. There is no reason why disease should prevail among swine more than other animals, except that swine are kept under conditions which are very unfavorable to health. Swine plague is produced by a bacterium, it is true, but other diseases produced by bacteria are quite common, and it is well known that general vigorance favors these diseases, while a vigorous body is more than a match for bacteria. No remedy for the genuine swine plague has been discovered, but that it may be almost, if not quite, prevented has been demonstrated by many swine raisers, and the measures of prevention are those which make swine raising all the more profitable, aside from the prevention of disease.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 16.—Senator Riddleberger is still in jail and the grand jury has been summoned to receive testimony against the mob that released him. It is thought that sufficient testimony will be forthcoming to convict the rescuers. Everything is very quiet.

ANOTHER RACE.

THIS TIME FOR THE CITIZENS' CUP.

THE VOLUNTEER FORCES AHEAD AS USUAL.—THE MAYFLOWER AWAY BEHIND.—THE FLEET ALMOST DECALMED.—OTHER NEWS BY WIRE.

Newport, August 16.—The race for the Citizens' Cup was started this morning with a very light breeze blowing and with the sea smooth. The signal gun was not fired until 10.47. The Volunteer and Puritan crossed the line nearly at the same time, with the Mayflower a little behind. The wind is increasing and is from the southeast. The race is over the Sow-and-Pigs course. The Atlantic was not entered.

The start was good and the Volunteer has forged ahead of the Puritan and is leading her about half a mile. The Sachem is ahead of everything, leading all. The Mayflower is far in the rear. At 11.40 a. m. the sails of the yachts are flapping in the wind, which is almost a calm. At 12 noon the Gracie has caught the land breeze and is leading the fleet. The Sachem has fallen behind both the Volunteer and the Puritan. The Mayflower is behind.

THE THISTLE.

A Pretty Craft With a Fine Commander and Crew.

New York, Aug. 16.—The Scotch yacht Thistle arrived early this morning. Capt. Barr reports a pleasant passage except 3 days rough weather and three without a puff of wind. The rest of the time they had a light breeze. The Thistle is certainly a pretty model and her appearance does not belie her claims to speed. It will take about two weeks to clean her up and set her topmast and bend on her racing sails. She came over under small mainsail, topsail, skysail and jib. For two days of the trip, she carried two reefs in her mainsail. The rest of the trip she shook out everything. The trip took just twenty-one days.

The officers and crew, twenty-one men in all, are a fine looking lot of men. Capt. Barr is a heavy set Scotchman, heavily bearded and bronzed by exposure to the weather. His crew share with him a just pride in their cutter. The best day's run was made August 2nd, when, with all sails set, including her spinnaker, she reeled off 247 miles in a heavy breeze with a cross sea, which is considered remarkable for so small a craft under short sail.

MURDER OF AN AMERICAN BY MEXICANS.

Galveston, Tex., August 16.—A special to the News from Eagle Pass says: U. S. vice-consul Mitchell returned yesterday from Santa Rosa, Mexico, where he went to investigate the recent murder at this place of Jas. B. Duval, an American citizen. He brings intelligence that the murderers, six in number, have already been convicted and sentenced to ten years imprisonment and are now on their way to the penitentiary at Saltillo. Another man, who made the remark that they ought not to bring the "Gringo's" body in a cart but tie a rope around his neck and drag him in, was arrested by order of the judge and given the same sentence as the others. [The property of the deceased is now in possession of the consul, who holds it at the disposition of the heirs.]

Further From the Indian Uprising.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—A dispatch from Grand Junction, Col., says the manager of the Philadelphia Cattle Company came in yesterday from Colorado's camp to the United reservation below Rangely. The Indians forced his party back and drove it before them at full speed. Dreeker, Roth and other cattle men are riding night and day, gathering up their cattle and hurrying them from the White River range. All the settlers in that locality have been warned by white couriers to look out and they are abandoning everything to get away before the Indians can arrive from the reservation.

Indians on the War-path.

Chicago, August 16.—A special from Rawlins, Wyoming, says: A messenger has just arrived from White River, Colorado, who reports that about 150 Utes are fighting at Beaver Creek, fifteen miles from Meeker. Families are rushing into Meeker and more Indians are coming. The country is all on fire below Meeker between White and Bear Rivers. Mr. Golden, the messenger, is trustworthy. One hundred mounted men are ready and will march on the Utes. Women are making bandages and the town is thoroughly excited.

A Check Raiser Absconds.

Chicago, August 16.—A News-Montreal special says: J. K. Page, book-keeper of the large wholesale stationery house of C. O. Beauchemin & Co., raised a $25 check to $25,000 on the Jacques-Cartier bank today, cashed it and absconded. He is well connected, and has been in the employ of the house for five years. He has been speculating in bucket shops lately, and it is said lost $10,000 in one of the establishments.

Judge Hall Better.

Special to the News and Observer.

ASHEVILLE, August 16.

Judge Hall is better today. Hopes of his recovery are entertained.

The Bonanza Excursion.

Special to the News and Observer.

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Aug. 16, 1887.

All having friends on the Bonanza excursion will be highly pleased to learn that this new order of excursion has proved a grand success and that the managers are highly gratified and feel richly remunerated by their profits.

A delightful time is being had by all. The elegant Georgia of the Bay Line takes about one hundred and fifty to Baltimore and Old Point, and nearly two hundred for Washington, D. C., are safely anchored on the Excelsior of the Potomac line.

Data Simulacrum of a Party.

LONDON Aug. 16.—The Daily News referring to the Norwich election says: Seldom has any government, a year after its formation, met with such an emphatic rebuff. A remnant or simulacrum of the dissident party still fits about the lobbies and benches of the House of Commons, but in constituencies it is not to be seen.

The Morning Post is depressed over the result and urges the Conservatives to effect a better organization. It refuses to believe that the country is changing its mind in regard to Home Rule.

The Daily Telegraph says: The Unionist converts have become returned to their Gladstonian allegiance.

The paper attributes the result in Norwich to the weakness of the Unionist candidate and campaign, and begs the Unionist leaders to abandon the belief that it is sufficient to send a candidate to a district with their blessing to secure a victory.

The Standard thinks there is evidence that the Irish question is no longer so powerful a lever, providing that the minds of Unionist electors are becoming lulled into a condition of false security.

The Norwich election, the Standard adds, shows unmistakably that the battle for the union has yet to be fought. The Times says the government make a fatal mistake if they see in the recent elections any reasons for slackening their efforts to cope effectually with the forces of disorder in Ireland.

Engineers on a Strike.

El Paso, Tex., August 16.—The Engineers of the first and second divisions of the Mexican Central railroad, struck yesterday. The cause of the strike is supposed to be the discharge of one of their number. These divisions extend from the city of Mexico to Galero—a long stretch from the city of Mexico via Galveston. The mail and passenger trains on the Mexican Central Railroad are running on time despite the strike of the locomotive engineers, but as it is feared that the freight cannot be handled, orders have been sent out to the station agents not to receive perishable freight. The morning mail train arrived here on time today. The road is over 1,200 miles long and is the most important artery of the interior trade; and the strike is likely to be serious in its effects upon business for a short time. Great efforts will be made to get freight engineers so that the traffic may not be long interrupted. The officials of the road maintain that the strike was prompted by professional agitators from the United States, and that no real grievances exist; but the striking engineers maintain that they left work because engineer Keller was discharged without proper enquiry.

A Fatal Fight.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16.—Last night a party of ward politicians were drinking in the St. Charles saloon when a quarrel ensued between Jno. Neill, clerk in the civil district court, Owen Roper, an ex-deputy sheriff, James Doran, special officer, and some others. Neill struck Roper with his fist, and pistols were immediately drawn and discharged. When the smoke cleared away Neill was found with a bullet-hole through his breast and another in his side. Doran handed his pistol to the bar-keeper and was arrested, as were also three others of the party. Neill was taken to a hospital, where he is dying.

Cotton Futures in New York.

NEW YORK, August 15.—Greene & Co's report on cotton futures says: It was a decidedly dull market for cotton contracts and without a feature of importance. Liverpool strengthened action and there was a slight response here. There was a demand from local shorts, but no new orders came in and the close proved tame throughout August, and was quite stupid and weak and not pressed severely for sale in the absence of demand, though as a rule the holders were very willing to realize. The crop accounts generally continue in good form except in sections of Texas.

Shot and Robbed.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 16.—Thos. J. Croghan was shot dead at a house near his city last night and robbed, and his body dragged to a piazza where it was found today. Sam Hunter, colored, is held on suspicion.

The Cholera at Malta.

LONDON, August 16.—At Malta during the past twenty-four hours there were three new cases of cholera and two deaths.

THE COST

OF THE CHATSWORTH DISTASTER IN DOLLARS AND CENTS.

WHAT IS IT TO BE?—AND WILL THE ROAD BE ABLE TO STAND IT?—AN INTERESTING QUESTION—OTHER TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

CHICAGO, August 16.—A Times special from Peoria, Ill., says: Many of the friends and relatives of the Chatsworth dead were at the railroad company's general office today and considerable speculation is heard as to the possible action of the company relating to the settlement of claims. The road is by no means in good financial condition. Its stock, or at least the greater part of it, is owned by parties in New York city or represented there. The officers of the company are reporting to the stockholders the extent of the calamity and all the facts connected therewith. As soon as these reports have been received and digested, a line of policy will be marked out and communicated to the officials here. Then a public announcement of the action of the company will be made. The aggregate loss measured by precedents will amount to some hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The Hostile Utes.

CHICAGO, August 16.—No confirmation of the rumored conflict with Colorow's band of savages has been received at Gen. Terry's headquarters in this city, where any official news would be first learned. Gen. Terry's jurisdiction includes the troubled district, and Gen. Crook, who is in immediate command of the troops nearest the scene of hostilities, is under express instructions to wire all obtainable information here at the earliest possible moment.

Blind Tom Under New Management.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Aug. 16.—"Blind Tom," under an order of Judge Bond, of the U. S. Circuit Court, was today turned over to A. J. Lerche, for his new committee Mrs. Eliza Bethune, of New York, by J. A. Bethune, in the U. S. Court room. Tom, at first, declined to go but finally reluctantly consented and left for New York this afternoon, declaring, however, that he would not play again until he came back to Virginia.

Ferdinand in Hot Water Already.

BELIN, August 16.—The North German Gazette says: The manifesto of Prince Ferdinand announcing his acceptance of the Bulgarian throne appears to be intended as a declaration of Bulgarian independence, and aggravates the breach of the treaty of Berlin, of which he has been guilty. Germany, says the paper, cannot approve of Ferdinand's course.

More Dynamite.

DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—Two dynamite cartridges were exploded on the West Clare Railway bridge at Ennis today. No serious damage was done. Two other cartridges were found on the bridge which failed to explode. The town hall at Crusheen, county Clare, was fired into today but no damage was done.

Against Suppressing the National League.

LONDON, August 16.—The government is still undecided as to the advisability of suppressing the National League. Two-thirds of the conservative members of parliament are against immediate action being taken.

Receives an Ovation.

LONDON, August 16.—Mr. Brunner, the new Gladstonian member for Northwich division of Cheshire, took his seat in the House of Commons today. He received an ovation from the Gladstonites.

Yellow Fever.

KEY WEST, Fla., August 15.—Four new cases of fever and one death are reported since yesterday.

One of the newest of the german figures at summer resorts is known known as the "Railroad." This requires six railroad tickets for the ladies, six placards for the gentlemen, and a whistle for the leader. The gentlemen fasten the placards around their necks, while the tickets are distributed among the ladies. Upon the signal from the leader the orchestra plays a railroad gallop and the gentlemen march in the room imitating a train. At the sound of a whistle the train stops and the leader calls the name of one of the stations upon the placards, when the lady with the corresponding ticket takes her partner, the rest following according to their destination.

The great bell of the famous Cathedral at Cologne, which was recently completed and placed in position, is to be known as "the Emperor's bell," in honor of Emperor William of Germany, who ordered its construction from cannons captured in the Franco-Prussian war: Twenty-two cannon were used. The bell weighs over twenty-six tons, and is perpendicular height is fourteen and one-half feet. It bears this inscription: "I am called the Emperor's bell; I proclaim the Emperor's honor; on the holy watch-tower I am placed. I pray for the German Empire, that peace and protection God may ever grant to it." The bell was solemnly blessed by the Archbishop of Cologne.

WILSON NEWS.

Matters and Things in General.

Wilson, N. C., August 14, 1887.

Charles Simms (not Simmons), the negro who burglarized Rountree & Co's store some time ago, is still at large, although special efforts have been made by the police to apprehend him. Last Friday night a large addition was made to the police force, and Saturday morning about 3 o'clock, a negro man, supposed to have been the culprit, who declined to be halted, was fired at two or three times on Nash street near the corner of Goldsboro, but made his escape. It is currently reported and generally believed that he has been in the town or in its vicinity since the burglary, protected and hidden away by the negroes.

Cesar Wooten, the murderer of Mittie Strickland, notwithstanding the vigilance of town and county officials, here and elsewhere, has so far escaped detection and arrest.

The spirit of improvement here, so long overshadowed by disastrous crops and the scarcity of money, has been considerably revived during the Summer, and there is a strong tendency towards another boom during the Fall and Winter. More enquiries are made after real estate, and should there be no set-back by some unforeseen disaster to the beautiful growing crops, the prophetic croaker will have but a scanty stock of "hard times," to peddle on the streets of Wilson, during the next season.

Branch & Co., the largest firm in town, will have a branch house at Springhope in Nash County, on the Williamston and Raleigh road, in order to retain their Nash and Franklin trade which was threatened to be intercepted by the merchants of Nashville and other points.

Graham & Vick have enlarged their business and now occupy two stores on Tarboro street. J. G. Rawls, the jeweler, has sold his stores and premises on the corner of Nash and Goldsboro streets to Mr. Joseph Cobb and removed to York, Pa. Mr. Cobb designs opening a first-class restaurant and boarding house for local and transient customers.

The three brick stores on Nash street and the two on Goldsboro street are rapidly going up and will doubtless be completed and occupied in time for the fall trade.

The buying and selling of stock has grown to be a large industry here. There are four establishments of this kind in town with ample buildings, but the increase of trade of W. W. Edwards & Bro., one of the largest dealers, demands more room, and they are making a large addition to their sale and livery stable, corner of Barnes and Goldsboro streets.

The Wilmington & Weldon R. R. is laying a new track west of the water station, near the site of the Albion hotel, its recent purchase, and we feel confident a new and commodious station-house will soon be built near this track, to meet the demands of the traveling public and the growth of our prosperous town.

Our new city officials have started out well and have the confidence of the citizens generally.

Joe Simms, a colored boy, shot and killed John Moody, another colored boy, yesterday. The shooting is alleged to have been accidental, but Simms has disappeared. The pistol with its fatality, accidental or otherwise, increases the death rate considerably in our country.

The Disciples Church, at Antioch, Pitt county, had a delightful Sunday school basket picnic at Farmville on last Friday. A large crowd was present.

Owing to the settling of the walls, or some other cause, Rountree & Co's store on the corner of Tarboro and Barnes streets was considered unsafe from the widening of the fissures of the front wall. This wall has, therefore, been taken down for repairs. When replaced the foundation will be solid and the danger obviated. A pavement of granite flag stones will be laid in front of the building when completed.

Another excursion of the Cumberland Presbyterians picnicked here last Saturday and, judging from appearances, the occasion was a joyous one to them as it was a very pleasant one to us.

While the heavy rains of the first week in August have materially damaged the crops on the flat lands of the water-courses the promise of a good crop is still above the average. Credible information from Pitt and Greene counties show a belt of land from five to ten miles wide, running nearly east and west, where the rainfall has not been excessive and consequently there has been no injury to the crops. The rise of the Tar river has almost destroyed the corn on the rich river bottoms from Tarboro to Washington. The damage approximates the disastrous freshet of 1887, when almost the entire crop was lost.

A syndicate of northern capitalists is buying up all the timber for sale between the Roanoke and Tar rivers from Williamston to Greenville, with a guaranteed right of way for a railroad within fifteen years, the limit of the timber contract. This is one of the finest timber sections within our knowledge, and will be largely remunerative to those engaged in the enterprise. It will moreover materially aid in building up and developing the resources of this hitherto unfavored section of Pitt and Martin counties.

His Affection Put to the Test.

From the New Orleans Picayune.

It was midnight, and an impassioned lover in an up town drawing-room kneeled at the feet of his heart's choice and exclaimed:

"Gerty, I will do anything in this world to make you happy."
"Do you mean it, George?"
"I do, I do, darling."
"Then for Heaven's sake go home and let me go to bed."

She Had no Fear.

"Terrible thing, this ice cream sickness," remarked Charley, as he was out walking with his girl. "It's caused by something or other called tyrotoxinum. I'm told the ice cream dealers have suffered a good deal of loss since its appearance. The girls are all afraid of it, you know." And Charley grinned to himself. They walked on in silence. After awhile she hung on to his arm with both hands and murmured: "Charley, dear, I do not know what fear is when I am with you."

The habit of the average American in forming his conclusions from a superficial view of the questions that are of the most interest to him, is one of the chief causes of the continued existence of the protection idea. We feel confident that were the average man disposed to probe that idea to the bottom, unless he is directly interested, protection would measure its existence by days. The great mass of the American people are not only not benefited, but are positively injured by the application of the tariff laws. We believe that the sooner these laws are repealed the sooner will this nation be able, in all commercial enterprises, to compete with all other nations of the globe. While we do not think, at present, absolute free trade is possible or practicable, owing to the fact that the people have grown accustomed to that mode of taxation, and also owing to the present needs of the government for a revenue, yet by gradual process the government should repeal all protection laws and might in a few years establish absolute free trade and let all revenues necessary be obtained by other modes of taxation. It is far cheaper. The cost to the people could scarcely be felt while the poor man would bear his just proportion of the public burden.—Monroe Enquirer & Express.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the lungs but the trachea and the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with mucus which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do the work. And what they do they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Strychnin and Digitalin. It will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reestablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Casgrain, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."
