FRIDAY, FEB. 3, 1888. WE are glad to note the entry of the Graham Gleaner on its fourteenth volume. It is a sterling Democratic paper. May it live long and prosper.

THE Schoolteacher for January contains articles by Prof. E. Alexander, Supt. E. C. Branson, Maj. Robt. Bingham and others. Wm. A. Blair, editor and proprietor, Winston.

Ex Gov. CURTIN, of Pennsylvania, tional convention will be a unit for says further "The Republicans, of pacity of the institution." course, will try to make the President out a free trader. But he is simply a tariff reformer. If any one could see the difference that has been made in the price of steel because the duty has been reduced it would certainly convert him to the principles of tariff reduction. Steel was once very high, and now it is down to a price per ton that makes it reasonable." And this from a l'emsylvanian! The reasonableness, the necessity, the urgency of tariff reform must be apparent to every honest and unbiassed mind.

HOG LARD VS. COTTON SEED. Whenever a set of men have an axe to grind now they run to Congress. The powers of Congress are limited to securing certain national objects of a strictly governmental character. but the fashion is growing for the interference of Congress to be invoked wherever one's business falls into a decline and protection is needed. In this the World is right. Indeed the people may be let alone to accept or reject at new article of food, for traditional prejudices about food are strong and new products will not be ant Physician of the institution, who introduced into consumption unless they fill a weed.

There is strong prejudice against oleomargarine, and yet, for those who to "whose faithful services in the inlike it, it serves an admirable purpose; being cheap, good and valuable to those who cannot afford dairy but-

But cotton seed oil stands altogether on a different footing from oleomargarine. We rather think it is, in the alchemy of nature, far superior has filled so long, so faithfully and so to hog fat for culinary purposes. It is stated in the "Medical Classics," of New York for December last, that some time ago the Baltimore Grocers' Exchange prointed a committee to investigate the cotton seed oil and they reported its "great superiority in every respect over lard for cooking purposes. The oil is cleaner, does not become rancid in any season, is more healthy and nutritious, is entirely free from any unpleasant taste or odor, goes over one-half further in cooking and costs less in the pro-portion of seven to twelve."

There are millions of people to whom a pure, cheap, good substitute for hog larg would be a blessing. We do not countenance any adulteration, but neither do we countenance any war on this Southern product which is now making its way into the market as a healthy food, supplying a need which every humanita-rian should wish to see supplied. Nor do we look with favor on any effort to check the demand for this Southern product.

The manufactured products of the cotton seed are now a source of profit to the country at large and especially to the South. It is estimated that, from a crop of 6,000,000 bales, after reserving all the seed necessary for planting, the gross value of the products of the cotton seed oil mill is 1968,243 and the excess of value products over the cost of seed 7,796,963. As the demand for seed make oil and eases the market price of seed largely, our Southern farmers are interested that no unfavorable legislation shall be adopted. We want to see the manufacture of this oil largely increased, and mills spring up near the plantations all over the South making the oil and producing the cotton seed meal. which is so valuable as food for stock and as a fertilizer, being far superior to the unground cotton seed in both respects. Taking this view of the subject. while in nowise advocating any food adulteration, we submit to our Southern Representatives in Congress whether they had not better go slow in advancing legislation whose effect will be harmful to their section. As between the hog fat of the Northwest and the clean, savory oil of the South, we would stand by the latter all the for the nomination is as nothing. time. Many will join him in the hope he expresses that "time and rest efficiently."

Dr. Grissom also refers in eloquent terms to the services in behalf of human charity of Miss Dorothea L. Dix, whose death has recently been announced, to whom North Carolina owes in great measure the first movement in behalf of the insane of the State and in whose honor the eminence on which the asylum here stands is named.

He says well that "for more than half a century she stood in the vanguard of humanity, working valiantly and unceasingly for stricken in sane. Difficulty never stopped her, opposition never daunted her, refusal never subdued her, pleasure never tempted her, ease never lured her, fame never attracted her. Her objects were the wretched insane-her field was the world-her thought the relief of the suffering-her success was their redemption, and her crown shall be the gift of Him like whom she "went about doing good."

Dr. Grissom makes no suggestion as to the public necessity in regard to further provision for the insane by an increase of accommodations to meet the unfortunate increase of this disease in the State. He says very appropriately that "these questions may well be relegated to the Legislature of the State, when it shall assem-With that body lies all the reble. sponsibility, involved in their high delegated powers, and upon it we are dependent for the means of accomplishing the great good which the public necessity requires."

We trust the confidence thus implied will never prove to have been misplaced.

That the report as a whole shows the continued excellence of Dr. Grissom, in his own administration and in his choice of subordinates, it is hardly necessary to say. His eminent fitness for the position he holds is so wellknown in North Carolina and so generally conceded that it has become a household word. In the country at large he stands among the first alienists of the day.
