The committee resumed the consideration of the "omnibus" bill, which provides for the payment of thirty odd claims for supplies used for the army during the war, reported by the Court of Claims under the provisions of the Bowman act.

Mr. Lee, of Virginia, offered an amendment appropriating $20,000 for trian consul. Before they were sent the relief of the Protestant Episcopal | an officer of the court was dispatched Theological Seminary and High School of Virginia.

Mr. Brewer, of Michigan, thought that the amendment which provided same to be a burden on Cook county for the payment of rent would prove a very dangerous precedent if it were enacted into a law. Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, placed his opposition to the amendment on the ment never had touched such a claim as this and never ought to. The property was within a seceded State. If it was an organization for public purposes, it could not be exempted from the action of Virginia when she went out of the Union. If it was a private corporation, it was affected by the political sentiments of its owners. It was a strong suggestion against the justice of the claim that instead of being pressed upon its merits it was sought to be incorporated in a bill to which there was no objection. Mr. Cutcheon, of Michigan, re garded the amendment as a far-reachng measure, and one which if enacted into a law, would be followed by a flood of similar claims involving hundreds of millions of dollars. If this claim was paid claims would come in asking for compensation for the occupation of every camp ground which the Union soldiers prevent the owner of the battlefield during the battle. Mr. Spooner, of Rhode Island, supported the amendment. There was to his mind a vast distinction between this claim and the claims for paymentfor the occupation of property within the Confederate lines. This seminary was situated in that part of Virginia which was within the Union lines from the beginning to the end of the war-the territory within which it was situated had during the entire that the common farmers required that the Government should pay for the use and occupation of this property from the close of the war up to 160 men yesterday, and expect to put was only kept there by the Federal
