and admunity. They were the en- gaged undergarment on all ac- counts and see that the ghost of the war, ended twenty years ago, is made to stalk abroad whenever it is deemed necessary to terrify the unintelligent.

Mr. Ingalls spoke for these ir- reconcilables when he said in reply to Senator Morgan's remark that "the Democratic party liked General Hancock very well, and voted for him."

"They did, as they are going to vote again for Grover Cleveland, under compulsion. They thought they could fool the Northern people by voting for Union soldiers, but they did not. We understand very well what the voting for General Hancock meant. It was just the same as voting for Horace Greeley. You have been engaged in illicit intercourse with all the degraded elements of the North for the last twenty-five years."

"Horace Greeley! The Democratic party attempting to delude the North by nominating and voting for Horace Greeley to show that they were re- conciled, that they would fill their bellies with the husks that the swine did eat, and they could not; and then the Senator from Alabama rises and assures us with a suffusion of patriotic loyalty that they voted for Hancock. Why, Mr. President, we understand why they voted for Hancock. We know why Hancock was nominated. We know why that other ally of the Confederacy, George B. McClellan, was nominated, who had just declared that the war was a failure after he had been trying for two years to make it so."

What rancorous hatred have we here, that for the sake of venting its spleen, does not even hesitate to charge the great Union Generals Hancock and McClellan with treachery to the cause for which they fought so well? The northern people must be made to understand that they do not see the disgrace of a partisanship that goes to the length of traducing one's own and they lying in the grave.

But let us go on to another refer- ence. Speaking of the proportion of pensions for the Union soldiers the South has paid, Mr. Ingalls, said: "Even if they have paid $200,000,000, I have one single remark to make about that. They are very fortunate that they did not have to pay the whole of it, and instead of grumbling and complaining that they have paid $200,000,000, they ought to be thankful they did not have to foot the entire bill, as Germany made France foot the expenses of the Franco Prussian war, and as every other vanquished and rebellious province has been compelled to submit to exaction and ransom. Yet after the war has long since closed we have the jailors and murderers of Andersonville, Belle Isle and Libby Prison sitting here beneath the flag that they endeavored to dishonor, legislating for the country that they attempted to destroy, and trying to pinch, belittle and minimize the amount that we shall pay to the mutilated and disabled survivors of the hell of that in- carnation."

Can anything more rancorous and bitterly hateful of the South than this be imagined? And we must re- member that this Senator, who has disgraced the position he holds by his vituperation of the people of a large part of this country and the in- sult he has offered the chief magis- trate is the mouthpiece of a large class at the North, whose hatred of this section is undying and who there- fore viciously scold the Republican party in the hope that we may yet be reduced practically to the con- dition of the conquered provinces of which we read in ancient history.

We have had their sentiments again and again forcibly presented to us. "We know what we have to face in the coming election as in all contests with Republicans."

As the Cincinnati Enquirer observes, Ingalls "richly deserved the scoring that he received from Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky; and all the evidence goes to show that it was about as severe a scoring as any man ever received under the restraining influences of parliamentary law."

Referring to the castigation, the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Herald says amid the uproar of applause that greeted the admi- rable speech applied by the Ken- tucky Senator the votes of Vance were heard in glit encouragement cry- ing out, "Hit him again!" Moreover the Herald correspondent noted the fact that as Blackburn mercilessly laid bare the outrageous nature of Ingalls' attack on the President, the Radical hater and sum of all that is rancorous wined under the merited infliction and looked as if he wished thoroughly that "He hadn't said any thing at all about Mr. Cleveland."

on the days prescribed by the act of assembly and otherwise are void, unless made by consent of the judgment debtor.

Where the legislature prescribed that sales shall be made on the "first" Monday except in those months when the Superior Court shall be held, and then during the first three days of court, a sale made on the second Monday of a month, on the second Mon- day of which a court was so held, is void. Under the Statute creating Vance county, and the general Stat- utes of the State, the Superior Court of Vance county was required to be held on the second Monday in June, 1888, and a sale made on the first Monday of that month was unlawful and void.

FOR GOVERNOR. JUDGE DANIEL G. FOWLE. Cor. of the News and Observer.

KENLY, N. C., March 5. Kindly allow us space in your able journal to express our choice of those mentioned as possible candidates for gubernatorial honors: Judge Daniel G. Fowle is the man that the citi- zens of this, the good old county of Johnston, would delight to honor by their votes. A true, steadfast Demo- crat, an honest man, a brilliant ora- tor, none would fear to follow his leadership in the coming contest with the radical and rascally. Even now the enemy are preparing their hosts for the fray. "Their cohorts are gleaming in purple and gold" from the coal Barons and monopolists of the North. To meet this we must put forth our very best efforts, and place in the van our best and strongest leaders. To suc- ceed we must make a strong, active and aggressive canvass. That Judge Fowle is such a leader, and that he would make such a canvass is known of all men.

With no odor of rings, corpora- tions or combinations about him, a good lawyer, a good farmer, a just and honest man, Judge Fowle stands forth "the noblest Roman of them all." Give us Fowle, and Democratic success is assured. AGRICOLA.

Winston, N. C., March 5th. The NEWS AND OBSERVER gets here on the day of publication now, and is read with considerable interest by our people. I hope the present ar- rangement of bringing the mail on the freight to Greensboro, will con- tinue, as it is a matter of great con- venience to our town.

There was a runaway here Wednes- day afternoon, that came near result- ing fatally to the occupants of the wagon. Mr. Bowles and Mr. William Pitzer were driving out of town, af- ter selling their tobacco, when the horses became frightened, ran away, turning the wagon over and nearly killing the two men. Mr. Bowles was badly bruised, and Mr. Pitzer was carried to the hospital in an un- conscious condition. He is better to- day and there is some chance of his recovery.

Mrs. M. N. Williamson gave a High Tea at her handsome residence on Fifth street, Thursday afternoon. It was a charming social event, and the ladies are full of praise for the at- tractive hostess.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will make an effort to get Miss Rumpel, of Salisbury here, to assist in our church building.

Mr. W. T. Pfbli, of this city, has been commissioned general organizer and instructor of the Knights of La- bor for North Carolina. A large audience greeted the Boston Stars here Tuesday evening. General verdict—best entertainment of the season. Tobacco breaks large this week, and tobacco selling well.
