M. S. LITTLEFIELD ARRESTED.

Re is Charged with Porgery, but Pays the Damages and is Discharged.

A New York dispatch of the 18th says: Milton S. Littlefield, who says he is president af the Jackson & Tallahassee Railroad Company, was arranigued in the Tombs Police Court yesterday by Detectives Doyle and Willard of police headquarters. Philip Kegler, a real estate broker, whose office is in Temple Court, Beekman aud Nassau streets, was also a prisoner. Detective Doyle told Justice Kilbreth that Kegler bad passed a worthless check upon Ernest brener, proprietor of the Cosmopolitan restaurant, at No. 28 New street. Kegler claimed that he had received the check from Littlefield in payment of a debt of $25. The check was drawn on the Bunk of Deposit, Liberty and Nassau streets, to the order of M. S. Littlefield, and was signed "H. S. Beardsley." When the check was presented at the bank it was pronounced a forgery by the bank of-Kegler indignantly denied any in-tention of frand, and stated that he had received the check in good faith from Littlefield. The latter was arrested at the office of the railroad company, No. 45 Broadway. Littlefield was loud in his protestations that an outrage had been committed, and proclaimed that such men as Stewart L. Woodford and other prominent men were his friends and could vouch for him. When asked as to how he received the check he said that Beardsley, who is a resident of New Jersey, gave it to him in settle-ment of a debt. He could give no definite information as to what town in New Jersey Beardsley lived in, nor where he could be found.

"I am president of a Florida rail road and owner of a large interest in coal and iron mines in Pennsylvanis.' Littlefield said to Justice Kilbreth, "and if you will give me twenty minutes I will obtain sufficient money to redeem the check."

This seemed to please Dreher, who offered to withdraw the complant if Littlefield made good the money. Justice Kilbreth, however, demurred at this style of doing basiness. "Of what railroad did you say you were President?" he asked.

"I am president of the Talahassee & Jacksonville Road in Florida, and I own a residence in Morristown, N. J.," answered Littlefield.

"Several years ago," Justice Kilbreth said, "I remember that a presirules, assigning the 31st of July for dent of a defunct railroad down in that locality forged a large number of bonds. Your name strikes me as being very similar to the name of that railroad president. Are you the same "Oh, no," Littlefield replied, waving his hands excitedly; "that was in Alabama, not Florida.

"Oh!" said the Judge; "I think it was in Florida." He, however, paroled Littlefield in the custody of Detective Willard for half an hour to procure the money. When Littlefield left the court Kegler told Justice Kilbreth that Littlefield was an ex-Confederate general, having commanded battery at Hilton Head, near Charleston, during the war.

At the conclusion of the half hour Littlefield returned with $25, which he paid Dreher, who withdrew his complaint. The case was dismissed.
