Can it be that Cleveland is wrong when he says that unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation?

Can it be that Cleveland is wrong in saying that the first taxes to be repealed are those paid by the masses?

Dockery has begun his canvass. He has spoken at Louisburg, and yesterday was to have spoken at Franklinton.

Can it be that Cleveland is wrong when he says the best thing to do with the ten millions monthly surplus is to stop it?

Per it at Dockery that while his party got along by taking from the people only $278,000,000 in 1878, here ten years later they insist on taking from them $379,000,000.

Per it at Dockery that while Arthur left $8,764,000 "available money" in the treasury vaults, Cleveland on July 1, 1887 had but $1,200,000 "available" in his vaults.

Can it be that Cleveland is wrong when he says that taking the tax off raw material will help the manufacturer to sell the finished goods at a lower price to the people without depriving the manufacturers of their lawful profit?

Last Thursday was North Carolina's day in the House. Speeches were made by several of our members. The pressure on our columns this week has prevented our reprinting them, but next week we hope to do so.

Per it at Dockery that since Cleveland came in, notwithstanding the collection of an immense unnecessary surplus, and notwithstanding the retirement of national bank notes, the currency in the hands of the people has been increased $120,000,000.

MESSAGERS OF HOPE.

Contributions and Enrollments for the Week Ending July 19, 1888. Miss Annie J. Speed, Centreville, $1.00; Margaret C. Jorner, Wilson, N. C., $1.00; Maggie E. Ferber, South Mills, N. C., third offering, $1.00; Little Lillian, eight years in Paradise, $1.50.

Total, $3.241. Amount required for enrollment, $1,300. Amount paid in, $150. Amount on hand, $419.

MEMBERSHIP, 219. DRAM CHILDREN: The first letter this week came from Centreville, N. C., the historic, world-famous Virginia town, but a quiet North Carolina village, or may be only a postoffice. I am not sufficiently learned in local geography to say which it is.

Dear Miss Cameron: I send you another small contribution for the Cot. Please find enclosed a postal note for 50 cents. I have a school at this place and hope to send more some day. Please send me the address of Col. Osborne. I want to know something about the Orphanage, and help out some if I can.

I thank you very much. Margaret sells for your continued interest in the "Cot." It is creeping so slowly these three last months that it seems to need a helping hand to give it a lift.

I wrote to you today giving Col. Osborne's address, but in case the letter does not reach you I here repeat: Rev. E. A. Osborne, Thompson's Orphanage, N. C.

I am always glad to help forward the Orphanage. The thought of those thirty-five helpless, little children who are dependent solely on the kindness of the State at large comes to me very often, and I am distressed to think how heavily they must press upon the heart of the gallant and beloved soldier-priest, whose maimed and shattered hand holds the burden of them all, and I wish many things that are diverse from the providence and wisdom of Almighty God, who has vouchsafed this world's goods as He saw best.

I hope you can see your way not only to helping a little, but also to instructing others. It is the "many muckles that make the muckle," you know.

The little Margaretta from Wilson comes next: "Dear Aunt Beckie: I send 35 cents for the Cot. I ought to have sent you some money sooner and hope it will not be long before I send again. Much love."

The money comes in very well just now, Madge, and I shall not scold you for delaying though it is one of the very worst habits people ever learn. Come again soon and that will make amends and begin a reform at the same time. Thanks for the "much love." This is always my share, and by far better than pennies, I think.

Another Maid Margary came in this letter. "Dear Aunt Beckie: I sent you 15c during the month of June, 10c in silver, and 5 in nickel, but not having heard from you I am sure you did not receive my little coinage. I hope this will reach you. 10c of the amount was given me by a kind friend."

I can afford to send you something every month for the Cot, for mamma has promised to pay me a little more during the warm weather for practicing my music well if I do not complain or fret over it, but I find it very hard to do.

I want to help you in your work very much, Aunt Beckie, for you have told me the work continues unabated, and that you are faithful in your practicing for its sake. It has a double blessing—indeed, a triple one. You earn money to help and comfort one of God's little ones. You have two beautiful virtues—fidelity and patience, and you acquire a delightful accomplishment, and best of all, you obey and please your good mother.

You never thought before, did you, how many things besides practicing were you doing in that hour? It is worth all the effort, all the weariness and all the discomfort, little lady, and some day I will be very proud of you, I expect. I am a passionate lover of good music. I shall be very glad to hear from you regularly. So far only Maude Waddell and the little Braggans are regular contributors. One other was pledged, but so far has not come to time. I expect he will, however.

The last contribution touched me inexpressibly. A letter and a little box came together. Of course I opened the box first. Of course I knew the letter was for me, but I did not as it proved. In the box was a little purse, and in the purse was three silver half dollars. I said to my sister who sat by me: "Oh, Anna, it is some dear little dead child's purse, I expect." And so it proved, for the letter said: "I send you for the Memorial" $1.50 left by my little Lillian, eight years ago. Excuse me for sending it as it is. I could not bear to do so otherwise. Often, as worthy objects have appeared to me, my heart has failed me when I thought of opening her little purse and turning into common use the coins sacred to me, because handled by her little fingers and prized by her."

I wish you success and hope to help you when I have leisure. Yours truly.

Oh, my dear madam, how sorry I am for you! I understand so well how hard it is to part with anything touched by dear dead hands. The only use we can bear to make of them is to give them to the Lord, then it does not seem so hard. To send the things that our beloved's to a hospital, an orphanage or other charity, and feel that we have given them to Christ for the use and comfort of His poor or sick does not bring with it the cruel wrench that it would be to see them put to every-day uses by others. That would be their choice if they could speak to us; that will be our choice for their sakes.

The money shall go to Mr. Bryan in its present shape; the very coins shall go on their ministry for us. Some how or other things have improved mightily since the Democrats came in power. If the Democratic party has not done it, pray what has? Fowie hasn't drank a drop in thirty years. Fowie and Holt are both Presbyterians, and if Presbyterianism can't make a man stop drinking the third party will never do it. If Christianity can't keep a man sober, how are politics going to do it?

is caused by a torpid liver—not enough bile being excreted from the blood to produce nature's own cathartic. The treatment of constipation is not to be done by using the bowels. The medicine must not only act as a purgative, but be tonic as well, and produce the most beneficial results. To secure a regular habit of body without changing the diet or disorganizing the system.

My attention, after suffering with Constipation for two or three years, was called to Simmons' Liver Regulator, and having tried almost everything else, concluded to try it. I first took a single dose, and afterwards reduced the dose to a teaspoonful, as directed, after each meal. I found that it had done me so much good that I continued to use it for some time.
