Winston News. Cor. of the News and Observer.

Winston, Aug. 15 Everything is quiet in this portion of our good country, in fact painfully quiet. The present tobacco crop is nearly out of the hands of farmers. consequently breaks are comparatively light. This of course affects all departments of trade more or less. This section has been more fortunate than most tobacco countries in the matter of good rains, and the growing crop is going to be a large one, and good in quality if nothing occurs to prevent. The business cut-look for Winston Salem is very flattering, and considerable prepara ion is being pinsist on going on with the confermade for the prosecution of several. new business enterprises the coming year. Our tobacco menufactories are doing remarkably well this, year, and all of them are working to their full capacities. This is quite encouraging when one considers the many disadvantages tobacco men in all departments have labored under this year. For instance take plug men and they were working under somewhat of an uncertainty from the fact that if the revenue had been abolished or was to be soon, it would make a county

PORTER IN RALEIGH

BROUGHT BACK YESTERDAY BY MR HER

BERT ARGO Robert Leeson Porter is again in Raleigh. He arrived yesterday in charge of Mr. Herbert Argo who went for him and brought him back at the instance of a telegrem from Col. Argo, who is now in Harnett

On receiving information of Porter's connections in Ireland and that a letter was on the way here to Col. Argo from the Consul of Ireland giving full information concerning him, Mr. Herbert Argo immediately telegraphed the facts to his father He received a reply instructing him to follow Porter and if possible persuade him to come back to Raleigh vice to Chattanooga Dr. Urquhart has and remain till he should arrive. Mr. been authorized to send a fumigating Argo accordingly set out in search of his man, proceeding first to Eagle Rock where he learned that Porter had been seen. He was told then that Porter had left there and gone to Rolesville. Proceeding to Rolesville he was informed that Porter had passed there Saturday evening, going toward Youngsville. A: Youngsville, he found that l'orter had gotten a ticket for Macon, a station this side of Weldon, and had taken the train. Proceeding to Macon, he learned that he had gone on to Weldon At Weldon he was told that Porter had gone in the direction of Seaboard. Mr. Argo then telegraphed to Seaboard and was informed that Porter had left there for Portsmouth. He took the train for Portsmouth and as the train was passing through Margarettsville, happened to see Porter about the station. He immediately go: off the train and approached Porter, wlo knew him at once.

After conversing with him he proposed to him to come back to Raleigh and Porter agreed. They accordingly took the train and arrived here yesterday morning.

PORTER INTERVIEWED. Porter spent the day yesterday about the shop of his countryman John Lee, on Wilmington street. He was visted by scores of curious friends during the day but was not very communicative, answering questions in mono sylables. Yesterday evening he said he would remain here till the letter came from the Consul of Ireland and till he could get money enough to go to Ireland and claim his property. He said he would convert it into money and come back to

He says he was on his way to British America when he was overtaken

Porter seems to be very weak and physically depleted. His mind does not seem to be altogether clear. Col. Argo will probably return from Harnett tomorrow.
