CONGRESS. PROCEEDINGS YESTERDAY IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

THE MATTER OF THE YELLOW FEVER IN BOTH HOUSES—THE CURSE, PREVENTION AND SUPPRESSION OF THE DISEASE—OTHER NEWS.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer. WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—SENATE.—The House bill requiring judges of the United States Circuit and District courts to reduce their charges and decisions to writing in all States where the State judges of courts of record are required to do so, was reported back with a substitute and placed on the calendar.

By Mr. Stewart, to prohibit the immigration of Chinese laborers. Mr. Plumb, offering a reward of $100,000 to any person or persons who shall discover the cause, remedy and treatment of yellow fever.

By Mr. Call, for a commission of medical men in Jacksonville, Fla., to observe and report upon the facts relative to yellow fever, and the best method of its cure, prevention and suppression.

On motion of Mr. Brown the House bill to include Sapelo sound, Sapelo river and Sapelo island in the Brunswick (Ga.) collection district was passed.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the general deficiency appropriation bill. Among the amendments reported from the committee on appropriations and agreed to were the following: Appropriating $77,250 to pay to the State of South Carolina for the rent of Citadel Academy, at Charleston, S. C., from 1867 to 1882; appropriating $8,744 to pay to the widow of the late Chief Justice Waite—the balance of his year's salary.

Mr. Plumb moved to insert as an additional section a provision extending all criminal laws of the United States to the unorganized territory bounded on the north by the States of Kansas and Colorado, on the west by New Mexico, on the south by Texas, and on the east by the one hundredth degree of longitude (No Man's Land), and placing that territory within the judicial district of Kansas and within the land district of Southern Kansas.

Mr. Call offered an amendment appropriating for the widow of the internal revenue officer who died at Jacksonville of yellow fever the amount of his year's salary. Agreed to. He also offered an amendment appropriating $20,000 for the purchase of a steam launch for the use of the collector at Key West, Fla., to enforce the quarantine laws and to prevent smuggling. Agreed to.

Mr. Teller offered an amendment appropriating $276,000 for indemnity for outrages on Chinese in the territories. Agreed to. The bill was then passed and the Senate at 5:45 adjourned.

The Tariff Bill Finished. By Telegraph to the News and Observer. WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The finance committee of the Senate today finished by the sub-committee, and will be reported to the full committee tomorrow morning. It will be withheld for a brief time from publicity to give the minority an opportunity to frame its adverse report, which work Senator Beck is superintending at Fortress Monroe. It is estimated that the bill will reduce the revenue about $65,000,000. It is the present purpose of the majority to oppose any movement for an adjournment until the bill is passed, and if this shall not have happened long enough before the election, a recess will be proposed, beginning between the 20th and 26th of October.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 24.—A dispatch from Cuba, Mr. Lewis Davis, who for six months has been confined in the St. Louis jail on the charge of murdering David Miller, and who was brought here last Tuesday for trial, was taken from jail by a mob early Sunday morning and hanged.

Close of the Daily Discussion. CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 24.—The debate at Mooreville yesterday closed the joint canvass of Messrs. Daniel G. Fowle and Oliver H. Dockery.

From the report in another column of today's Chronicle, it is evident that Judge Fowle had the better of the debate yesterday. Col. Dockery committed the indiscretion of repeating the Warren county slander about white paupers being leased to negroes, and had to bear the humiliation, indeed the man felt shame at all, of Judge Fowle's producing evidence to the audience positively contradicting the Colonel's statement.

The Republican party can scarcely gain even temporary advantage by such misrepresentations. It is not justifiable, and all honorable men worthy methods. His misstatements in regard to the tariff are allowable in politics, and although he may create a poor impression of his intelligence and good faith, nevertheless, little blame will be attached to his conduct in this regard.

Judge Fowle certainly is entitled to credit for being straightforward. He speaks ill of none, and if his arguments are faulty, they are never answered. He is eloquent and patriotic, and his competitor, or rival, cannot complain of unfair or ungalant treatment at the Judge's hands.

The Chronicle regrets that the joint canvass will not continue until the election, for it feels certain that in every bout Judge Fowle has been more than a match for the bushwhacking methods of his antagonist, who tried to sugar-coat his Republicanism and his nigger partyism yesterday by proclaiming himself a Henry Clay Whig Protectionist.

John Nichols' Way. (Durham Tobacco Plant, 22d.) The following letter, read by Mr. Strudwick in his speech here today, was written just thirty-four days before Mr. Nichols gave his own son the appointment, without competitive examination and without notice to Mr. VanNoppen, or to any one else.

THE YELLOW FEVER. THE OPINION OF A CHICAGO PHYSICIAN.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer. CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Dr. J. H. Rauch, secretary of the State Board of Health, arrived from Washington yesterday after having attended a conference of state boards of health held at Nashville. He says the prevalent system of quarantine prevails most extensively in Tennessee, and its cruelty and barbarity is illustrated in the killing of a man who left the train at Durant, Ky. Dr. Rauch approves the course of the authorities at Louisville in inviting refugees from the South. Relative to the aspect of affairs in the Southern States he said: "From personal observation during the conference at Nashville and from official reports received I see no reason to change the opinion expressed by me a week ago that there is practically no danger of yellow fever in Tennessee, although the developments at Decatur, Alabama, and Jackson, Mississippi, increase the possibilities of it. So far only one death has occurred in Tennessee, at Wildcat, and that was of a refugee from Decatur. This was a week ago and so far no other cases have occurred in that locality. The death of the Decatur refugee at Louisville is the only one that has occurred in Kentucky. If it had not been for the Decatur outbreak, the true nature of which was for some time doubted, the conference at Nashville would have agreed upon the southern boundary of Tennessee as the limit north of which there was no danger. But owing to the panic existing in Louisiana and Memphis the northern boundary line of the State was adopted.

The only real danger of the spread of yellow fever now is in the southern portions of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. The danger line is daily moving south and the most powerful ally in preventing the spread of the disease is the constantly lowering temperature. The situation is not nearly so alarming as it was in the months of July and August, 1878 and 1879. The chief source of concern is the fact that the shot-gun quarantines prevail and in many instances the regular authorities are overridden by mobs. Unfortunately the condition of things may obtain for some days, even if no new outbreak of fever occurs."

A QUARANTINE REMOVED. MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 24.—The quarantine established on Friday by this city against Greenville, Ala., was removed this morning, it being absolutely certain that there was no real cause for quarantine. The suspected case was not yellow fever and the person sick had not been in any infected district.

LOUISVILLE OPENS HER GATES. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 24.—At a meeting of physicians and others, called by Mayor Jacob, it has been decided to open the gates of Louisville to the yellow fever refugees. A train brought in 135 from Decatur this morning. There is no excitement here.

At a meeting of doctors it was the sentiment that Louisville was in no danger. When the physicians had given their views almost unanimously in favor of the city should not be quarantined, but that it should repeat its humane act of 1878 in welcoming refugees with open doors, President Hewitt called for the report of the committee, which was read as follows: "The experience of years warrants the physicians of Louisville in stating confidently to her citizens, and those visiting the city, that on account of our geographical and climatic conditions there is no danger of the spread of yellow fever by contact with those from the infected districts of the South who may seek refuge here. The lateness of the season and the measures of safety adopted by the State Board of Health, justify us in assuring our citizens that there is no danger whatever of the disease gaining a foothold in the city."

THE SITUATION AT DECATUR. MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 24.—Dr. Jerome Cochran, State Health Officer, now at Decatur, telegraphs to the Montgomery Board of Health that the Decatur cases of yellow fever and that the place is nearly depopulated and but little material left for the fever to work on. People go north and into the country; none are coming south. Decatur is the nearest point to this city where there is any fever and it is 200 miles north of here. This city keeps a most rigid quarantine, and no trouble is apprehended here.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., September 24.—Eight long weeks have passed since the first case of yellow fever, that of McCormick, was developed at the Grand Union hotel. Tonight the official records show a total of 1,745 cases and 202 deaths. The daily list of cases and deaths during the past ten days has been fearful in a city of the size of Jacksonville, with two-thirds of its people absent. Today the record of new cases was again broken, the footing up reaching the figures 193. Of these 103 were colored people, and 90 were whites. It is now almost certain that many hundred colored people have had the fever and recovered without treatment or physical aid. The old theory that negroes are not liable to contract yellow fever has been exploded. It has been demonstrated that they are almost as susceptible to attack as the whites, but the issue is rarely fatal with them—probably never unless the disease is complicated with organic diseases. An old and eminent local physician said today: "Negroes never die of yellow fever unless they call in a doctor." The deaths reported today are six in number, namely: Julie Thompson, George Braddock, Louis Bremer, Col. Chas. G. Elliott, Geo. B. Brooks and Wm. Christopher.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 24.—A meeting of the joint committee of the Cotton and Merchants' Exchanges and the city authorities was held today. The stringent quarantine regulations, which have been enforced since Saturday, were amended by the adoption of the following: Resolved, That passes be issued upon the certificate of the president of the Taxing District or the president of the Board of Health to persons to come in and out of the city who live in the city or its vicinity and who will not go to any infected district. That the authority will also cover all the cases of people desiring to bring produce or carry out supplies in wagons or other vehicles.

Resolved, That any person or persons who are at present at the quarantine station shall be permitted to come to the city upon permits issued by the taxing district authorities, when satisfactory evidence is shown that they have not been in any infected districts. The local military companies reported for duty today and later will be assigned to duty as pickets on the dirt roads.

The following has been furnished the Associated Press and is official: The Advisory Committee from the Cotton and Merchants' Exchanges in connection with the city and Board of Health authorities desire to state positively and emphatically that the city of Memphis is remarkably healthy and that we have had no yellow fever in our vicinity since 1879.

KILLED BY A WOMAN. THE LONE HIGHWAYMAN OF TEXAS PUT OUT OF THE WAY.

THE STORY OF THE ROMANTIC ACHIEVEMENT—TOLD BY THE PLUCKY PERFORMER THEREOF—OTHER NEWS.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer. CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—A dispatch from San Antonio, Texas, says: "The notorious 'Lone Highwayman,' who has for the past two years been a terror to travelers in the vicinity of Kerrville, has, without the assistance of a single confederate, robbed stage coaches, rifled mail bags and gone through as many as six commercial travelers in broad daylight without the slightest inconvenience or resistance, has been killed. He was shot by Mrs. Lizzie Hay, formerly Miss Gibbons, at her home on the head spring of the Rio Sabine, Bando county, last Monday. The scene of the occurrence is so remote from railroad or telegraph service that the news did not reach town until today, when Mrs. Hay visited the city with a company of friends. To your correspondent she told the story of the killing as follows: "Last Monday morning I was sitting in my room when suddenly a masked man appeared on the front gallery. I told him to leave or I'd kill him. He laughed and said: 'You're a plucky woman but I'll have what I want out of this house or burn it down over your head.' By this time I had a needle gun and he had entered. I drew it down on him within 18 inches of his heart but it snapped and he said: 'I'll kill you, at the same time producing a low-keen-bladed knife and aiming it at my throat. I warded off the blow but the next time he struck the end of the knife stuck in my forehead, making an ugly gash. At the same time I reversed the ends of the gun and struck him over the head, felling him to the floor. Before he could rise I had reversed the gun and pulled trigger. This time it fired, making offset in his left side. He gave a yell and rolled out on the porch. I looked for another cartridge but blood was streaming down my face so I could not find them. I wiped it off with my apron and reloaded my gun as soon as I found the cartridges. He had by this time almost reached his horse. I took good aim but I don't think I hit him. My husband was up in the canon, but when he came home a few hours after dark he immediately organized a party of rangers. They traced him for a distance of 30 miles by his blood and found him dead. His name is unknown but he is recognized to be the same man whose bold depredations have for two years past terrorized the whole of Bando County.
