A LOCKOUT OF JOURNEMEN BREWERS

LIVELY SCENES IN NEW YORK—THE TEST APPLIED—OTHER NEWS.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer.
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The headquarters of the ale and porter bosses at No. 2 Irving Place presented a lively scene this morning when hundreds of men formed in line to be registered to take the place of journeymen brewers to be locked out. The men employed in various breweries were interrogated today as to whether they were ready to give up the Union. Those replying in the affirmative were retained in their work, while those expressing their loyalty to the Union were informed that there was no more work for them. The number of men to be locked out cannot be ascertained yet, but it is thought that a large majority will stick by the Union.

A SMALL CRAFT

MAKING A LONG VOYAGE.

Special to the News and Observer.
BEAUFORT, N. C., Nov. 28.—The boat Liberland arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning. Two and a half tons. Captain Joshua Slocum, wife and two children, from Rio de Janeiro, July 24th, for Washington, D. C. All in good health.

Marine Disaster on the Massachusetts Coast.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer.
CORHANT, Mass., Nov. 28.—All doubt concerning the supposed loss of the steamer Allentown is dispelled this morning. A visit to North Scituate beach shows the shore at that point to be covered with wreckage, consisting of fire buckets, tables, chairs and other furniture, all marked "Allentown." Capt. Brown, of the North Scituate Life Saving Station, has made diligent inspection of the coast in search of bodies from the steamer but has discovered none as yet. He advances the opinion that the ship has foundered either on Davis or South East Ledge, each of which lies about a mile southeast of Minot's Ledge. An attempt will be made to reach Minot's tomorrow morning for information concerning the wreck.

The Storm in Nova Scotia.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer.
HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 28.—Reports from different parts of this province show that the gale of Sunday and Monday was felt all over Nova Scotia but so far no reports have been received of serious disasters in this region. The steamer Worcester, which sailed from Boston for this port on Saturday, has not since been heard from. The steamer Vancouver, due on Sunday with the Canadian mails from England has not yet arrived. The weather continues thick and heavy sea is running outside the harbor. Rumors are current that the Worcester and Vancouver have gone ashore, but so far as can be learned they are without foundation. The schooner Helios, coal laker from Sydney, C. B., for Charlottetown, P. E. I., is ashore at Wood's Island in the straits of Northumberland, but she will probably come off after being lightened.

A Revolt Among Transports.

By Cable to the News and Observer.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 28.—A revolt has occurred on board the transports in this harbor. Two thousand men whose time in the army had expired and who were about to be sent home on transports without their pay raked the boilers first and declared that the vessels should not sail until they had received the money due them. The minister of war, with much difficulty, raised sufficient money and the vessels then left the port. The Sultan has ordered an inquiry into the affair.

THE WHITE CAPS.

EXTENDING THE FIELD OF THEIR OPERATIONS.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer.
CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—A dispatch from Toledo, Ohio, says: A sensation has been caused in this part of the State by a discovery that the White Caps, who have heretofore confined their ravages to southern and central Ohio and Indiana have extended their operations into northwestern Ohio and over trees near the home of ex-Gov. Foster, at Pistoria, was discovered yesterday a notice warning all who are in the habit of getting drunk an abusing their families and failing to properly provide for them that they would have a visit from the White Caps. Similar notices were found in other towns in the vicinity.

The following correspondence explains itself:

Raleigh Street Railway.

The Raleigh Street Railway is nothing if it is not progressive. It is thoroughly in the spirit of advancement and is always to be found doing its part in whatever work of improvement or progress falls to its lot. The company is now at a great expense to itself lowering its track along Fayetteville street in order to put it on a level with the new pavement about to be laid. The lowering of the track is a tremendous task, and, as Dr. Turner informs us, costs the company one-third more than it would cost to lay new track for the same distance. Yes, the company is determined to throw no obstacle in the way of improvement, and is moving along in accordance with it. Dr. Turner informs us that after this task is completed the Street Railway will have everything in shape and will be in good running order. It has had many things to contend against since its establishment, but has kept straight ahead with a determination to make a success of the enterprise which it has begun and it will do it. Raleigh appreciates the efforts of the Raleigh Street Railway and its benefits to the city, and the liberality, public spiritedness and progressiveness of the men who run it.

Federal Services.

The last sad funeral rites over the remains of the late Mr. Halbert L. Thomas took place from his father's residence, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Thomas E. The remains were interred in Oakwood Cemetery, the following named young gentlemen acting as pallbearers: Messrs. Edgar Haywood, G. E. Leah, George McGehee, Jas. P. ## SHERMAN

THE LATE GENERAL OF THE ARMY A WIDOWER.

MRS. SHERMAN DIES OF SOME HEART TROUBLE, FROM WHICH SHE HAD BEEN SUFFERING A NUMBER OF YEARS—OTHER NEWS.

By Telegraph to the News and Observer.
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Ellen Ewing Sherman, wife of Gen. W. T. Sherman, died at 10 o'clock this morning at her residence, No. 75 West twenty first street. Mrs. Sherman had been suffering from heart trouble for a number of years, and about three weeks ago she was taken suddenly ill, so that in a number of her family requested Dr. C. L. Smith and several other physicians to attend her. Mrs. Sherman continued to grow worse, and on Sunday it was thought that she could not live. Dr. Pepper, of Philadelphia, was in attendance, and Sunday night she rallied so that it was thought she might recover. Last evening a relapse took place and her symptoms became so alarming that General Sherman was advised to telegraph for his children. Dr. Smith remained at her bedside all night together with professional nurses. During the night Mrs. Sherman slept quietly during short periods, but at 8 o'clock this morning it became apparent that she could live but a few hours. Gen. Sherman was notified and he and his children, Rachel, Lizzie and Tecumseh, who live at home were at the bedside when Mrs. Sherman breathed her last.

The sad news was sent to Rev. Thomas F. Sherman, the dead woman's son, who is a Jesuit priest at Woodstock, Ind., and her daughters, Mrs. Ella M. Thacker at Rosewood, Pa., Mrs. Minnie S. Fitch at Edgemont, Pa., and her brothers P. B. Ewing of Lancaster, and Gen. Hugh Ewing.

Mrs. Sherman was 54 years of age and was born at Lancaster, O. She was married to General Sherman 38 years ago and they were acquainted from the time that they were children.

Mrs. Sherman's father was Senator Thomas Ewing who represented his State in the Senate for a number of years and was also a cabinet officer. Mrs. Sherman's remains will be taken to St. Louis for interment. St. Louis is the old home of the Sherman family, several members of which are buried there. The interment will take place Saturday afternoon.

United States Circuit Court.

Court met yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, His Honor Aug. S. Seymour, Judge, presiding, and the following business was transacted:

CRIMINAL DOCKET.
United States vs. Abe Chamber; indicted; dealing in liquors without paying special tax; verdict not guilty.

R. F. Barham et al. vs. Tyrone Spiers.

Motion to submit the question of fraud alleged in the pleadings to a jury; motion argued and taken under consideration by the court.

The grand jury were discharged for the term having found ten new bills.

When the grand jury was being discharged, there having been no bill returned against Capt. E. R. Stamps and W. S. Primrose, Esq., Mr. Busbee, the U. S. District Attorney, rose and said that he had not submitted to the grand jury a bill to be passed on by them against Messrs. Stamps and Primrose. That he had fully examined into the charges made against them and that in his judgment he could not make out a case of criminal intent against them, nor could he present a case on which they would probably be found guilty. He had submitted all the facts and circumstances and papers bearing on the case to Maj. Dowd, the receiver in charge of the bank, and to Mr. Samuel McD. Tate, the bank examiner, and upon their advice and with the approval of the Department at Washington he had concluded not to send a bill of indictment to the grand jury. He wished it to be known that the grand jury had not had such a bill before it, as he had taken the responsibility not to send the bill.

William H. Robbins, of Nashville, in the county of Nash, and B. M. Collins, of Ridgeway, in the county of Warren, were appointed United States Commissioners for the eastern district of North Carolina.

William Pearson, member-elect to the next General Assembly from Harnett, was an active member of the grand jury for the present term of the United States Circuit Court.

Cross and White.

The Washington Post, of the 27th inst., has a full account of the Cross and White case, and the points relied upon by Mr. W. R. Henry, of counsel for defendants, in the petition for a writ of error, presented by him to Hon. J. M. Harlan, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, are set out in detail. The Post says that the case presented is one of great interest, and that the action of Justice Harlan in granting the writ of error is of great importance.

The Cantata "Joseph" Last Night.

For some days past the social element of Raleigh has been on the qui vive in expectancy of the presentation of the grand cantata "Joseph" by local talent, and last night a tremendous audience at Metropolitan Hall showed how great the interest had been and a corresponding eagerness to see the first performance. The past has conclusively shown that the greatest amount of praise and commendation is not too great for Raleigh's musical and histrionic talent when it essays to accomplish anything of pleasing interest, but last night that talent seemed to surpass even itself. It was beautifully and forcibly shown in scenic arrangement, music and acting. The subject of the performance was the beautiful and romantic story of Joseph who was sold into Egypt by his jealous brethren, and who afterwards became ruler of that land and the protector of both his father and brethren. The first scene was a pasture in which flocks were grazing by limpid streams and guarded by Joseph, admirably personated by Mr. C. W. Newcomb, whose rich tenor voice is ever welcome and pleasing to lovers of tender and rich vocal music. While singing a splendid shepherd song, his sister, personated by Miss Matel Upchurch, appeared on the scene and rendered a rich and thrilling song of commendation and encouragement. Here is surely one of the sweetest, tenderest voices ever bestowed among humanity, and her power of vocal expression, with gestures and movement of force and grace, combined to make her one of the most eagerly looked for and welcome characters of the evening.

The events of the story followed each other in just the proportion of time that made the performance intensely interesting and those sustaining the various characters actually seemed to be experiencing the emotions that one would naturally think prevalent in those who were the reactors. Mr. James Anderson personated the patriarch Jacob. His tenderness, when he bestowed the coat of many colors on Joseph, and his grief and despair when the bloody garment was brought to him by Joseph's brethren were so realistic as to be contagious, and every spectator of the large audience must have been affected by the same emotions he portrayed. He is always good in portraying character but in this he could not have been surpassed. His fine baritone voice filled and seemed to make the hall quiver with strong emotion. The character of Reuben, who interceded when the other brethren would have slain Joseph, and caused him to be cast into a pit instead, was taken by Miss Maude Marshall. Her appeal to the brethren for mercy for Joseph was sweetly and thrillingly pathetic. Her voice was like the soft tones of a flute, and as she sang intense silence, interest and delight prevailed in every part of the hall.

Her longing, passionate wish that she were able to deliver Joseph to his father, was expressed with force and in a manner which precludes justice in an attempt to describe it. Judah, at whose suggestion, Joseph was sold to the Ishmaelites, was personated by Mr. St. Clair Hester with an ability and interest that added largely to the best features of the evening. Miss Helen McVea presented the lovable character of Benjamin with an unconscious abandon and naivete that was captivating in the highest degree; and if Benjamin were anything like she made him appear, there is no longer any reason he should not have been loved by everybody as he was. Miss Eliza Skinner was Simeon who was retained as a hostage by Joseph, and gave the character a force, interest and importance not generally realized by readers of the story.

The Majestic Pharaoh was personated by Mr. J. N. Holding, and his bearing, kindly courtesy to his Queen and royal impatience at the inability of his magicians to interpret his dreams, stamped him as being worthy of the real Pharaoh's shoes. His expressive singing was one of the marked enjoyable features. Miss Emma McVea portrayed the Queen of Egypt. She is unquestionably gifted in the art histrionic, and it would seem, favorably improves the appearance and interest of any character she undertakes. Certainly those who wished last night to witness a queenly bearing had nothing to wish for. As Princess of the Egyptian Court Miss Mary Snow was so captivatingly sweet and pleasant as to reign Princess of the admiration and hearts of the audience during the evening. Her voice is a voice of that roundness, softness and tenderness that could never weary. The only defect the part of the Princess with her as personator, was that there was not enough of it. Among the very interesting scenes was the sleep of Joseph, and the butler and the baker in prison and their dreams. While sleeping, an angel hovered over them singing the sweetest possible song of rest and peace. Then came the awaking and the relating of dreams to Joseph, who interpreted them to the despair of the baker and the joy of the butler. Mr. J. C. Norris personated the butler and Mr. W. Cooper the baker, ably and forcibly. Miss Nannette Stone was the hovering angel of peace, and her grace and elegance of motion and power of sweet song were beyond description. Among those sustaining the Ishmaelish characters were Messrs. J. C. Norris, Will Bain,

Robert Strong and W. Cooper.

They added largely to the features of the evening by a splendid vocal quartette. The various characters of guards, etc., were well presented. All the events in the story were embellished and brought out vividly by scenic effects of a nature more strong, gorgeous and appropriate than ever before attempted by Raleigh amateurs, and the attempt was eminently successful. A repetition of everything is eminently desirable.

The chorus sustaining the individual efforts was unusually strong. Among the young ladies composing it were Misses Grace Strong, Eliza Marshall, Pattie Montgomery, Carrie Murray, Annie Rosenthal, Carrie Rosenthal, Gussie Carroll, Mary Flora, Nellie Young, Katie Poe, Flora Creech, Addie Bain, Blanche Syme, Josephine Smith, Margie Busbee, Truella Kreth, Marion Haywood, Ellie Haywood. The portion of the chorus sustained by male voices was exceptionally strong.

The costumes were appropriate and in the court scenes gorgeous and dazzling and were procured from the largest costuming establishment in the United States for this particular presentation. The court and feast scenes of the performance were particularly grand and striking. The music of the cantata was grand and, with the talent managing it, was splendid and thrilling.

The cantata was gotten up mainly by Mrs. J. B. Shipp, to whom the public is indebted for its presentation; but the aid rendered by Dr. A. Kursteiner of St. Mary's school, who had charge of the orchestra, and by Miss Nannette Stone who led the choruses is well-nigh incalculable. It cannot be otherwise than a matter of gratification and pride to any Raleighite to witness such a performance as was given by his own people last night.

And it should be remembered that the cantata will be presented tonight. We cordially and earnestly recommend any one who can enjoy a good thing and wishes to do so to attend.

A Rumor Promptly Denied.

An idle rumor put afloat in New York that Mrs. John Armstrong Chanler (Amelie Rives) had departed from her husband has been promptly and emphatically denied by both Mr. and Mrs. Chanler.
